Mr. Morgan Knew. Dark Russia? How Dark? Mr. Legge Buys Wheat. How to Sell Apples.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

T. W. LAMONT, of Morgan & Co., revives a story about Junius Morgan, father of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, grandfather of today's head of the firm.

When the late J. P. Morgan was very young, crossing the ocean with his father, the latter gave him this advice:

"Remember, my son, that any man who is a bear on the future of this country will go broke."

THAT IS AS TRUE now as it was half a century ago, and citizens will do well to remember it.

You may see some stocks lower, and real estate in the doldrums. But, no man living can guess the values that will be reached by some stocks now selling at low prices, and nobody can imagine future values of real estate, well selected.

The best corner in New York, for instance, sells now at the rate of $34,000,000 an acre. Within 20 years, with New York's population increased by a few more millions, that price will seem a marvelous bargain.

CYRUS H. K. CURTIS, like the editor of the Skibbereen Eagle, "has his eye on Russia," and discovers terrible conditions in that distressful country.

Meat costs $2 a pound and often you can't get it. Russians standing in line waiting for a chance to buy food waste 60 million hours every day. Everything is scarce except bread, and "brain workers" haven't enough to eat.

IT'S A SAD picture, but, strangely, photographs taken in Russia, by outsiders from other countries show smiling, cheerful faces, and most remarkable, Russia, supposed to be starving, is able to undersell us in prices for wheat, sugar and other necessities. China has real famine, and China dumps no food here.

It is a queer Russian people, with a determined government. Perhaps we don't thoroughly understand it, deceived by our desire to prove it a failure.

MR. LEGGE, head of the Farm Board, an able business man, sacrificing his own affairs for the public service, admits that the government now holds 70,000,000 bushels of wheat.

The government is supposed to have bought the millions of bushels to avert a crash in prices.

The question is, would such buying avert or precipitate a crash?

The government, buying to prevent a crash might, to make wheat owners believe that the crash is coming, cause them to sell while the government is still willing to buy

NEW YORK CITY buys thousands of boxes of apples daily by way of helping the unemployed, a good thing for some unemployed, good for apple growers and commission merchants. It has not helped New York farmers except by helping to educate them.

ALL APPLES SOLD through the unemployed come from the Far West, chiefly from the state of Washington. Commission merchants say they cannot use New York apples because they are not properly graded. The West supplies apples of uniform size, absolutely sound, accurately graded. New York farmers have not learned to take that trouble.

WHEN MUSSOLINI encounters a problem, HE DOES SOMETHING.

Italy faces a deficit of $36,450,000.

Mussolini cuts all official salaries 12 per cent.

He cuts cabinet ministers at the top and all the way down, army and navy officers, school teachers, police clerks.

That wouldn't be popular here, and it isn't necessary.

But, our national government and big cities might well try cutting off employes that accumulate as barnacles accumulate on a ship.

AUSTRIA, it is said, longs for a return of the empire.

Christian-Socialists, whatever they may be, are singing the old songs including, Oh, Du Mein Oesterreich, "O, Thou My Austria."

If an Austrian monarch does come back, it will serve the Austrians right for not letting well enough alone.

And second the monarch will wonder what has happened to "Du Mein Oesterreich."

It will be like leaving a whale and coming back to find a minnow.

THE OXFORD DICTIONARY is finished, with more than 414,825 words in it. You can get a copy of it for $1,500, but if you don't hurry you won't get any. Only a few copies are left and no more of the present expensive kind will be printed.

Thirteen hundred men and women have worked on that dictionary more than 70 years. And the average man gets along comfortably with 2,000 words, including, "gee," "swell" and "listen." Millions of peasants use fewer than 500 words.

Forced Back

MRS. KEITH MILLER

The celebrated British aviatrix forced back to Pittsburgh today by fog after she had taken off for her flight to Havana.

WOMAN FLIER FORCED BACK

Balked by an impenetrable wall of fog that baffled her even at an altitude of 8,000 feet, Mrs. J. M. Keith Miller, famous Australian aviatrix, after taking off from the Pittsburgh-Butler Airport this morning for a projected one-stop flight to Havana, was forced to turn back at Latrobe.

Mrs. Miller described the fog blanket as one of the worst she ever encountered.

Mrs. Miller returned to the Pittsburgh-Butler Airport and announced she would take off again tomorrow, weather permitting.

Mrs. Miller, before taking off, received favorable weather reports from Uniontown, Pa. She then entered her plane, which had been warming up on the field, and left immediately. She circled the field once, then headed southeast.

Capt. W. N. Langcaster, who flew with Mrs. Miller from England to Australia, was at the field this morning.

Mrs. John Liggett, Jr., mother of John Liggett III, a sponsor of the flight, also witnessed the takeoff.

Marquis, Bankrupt; Assets, Wine, Cigars

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The bankrupt Marquis of Winchester, a prominent figure among Britain's peers, has total liabilities of $2,400,000 and negotiable assets of not more than $1,500, according to a statement submitted on his behalf today at a creditors' meeting.

The assets include a cellar full of wine, a quantity of good cigars, an automobile and $500 worth of stock certificates. His bankruptcy was blamed on the collapse of the Hatry companies.

Syd Chaplin Faces Bankruptcy Action

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The London Gazette today printed a receiving order on a creditors' petition against Sydney Chaplin, actor brother of Charles Chaplin, the comedian. The action corresponds to an involuntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States.

Austria's War-Time Finance Chief Dies

MELLONS GO ON BELATED HONEYMOON

Second Wedding Canceled, Society Pair Quits City; Believed on Way to Europe

The Rowley-Mellon wedding "for the benefit of friends and the families" will not be held today.

Instead William Larimer Mellon, Jr., heir to Mellon millions, and his bride, the former Grace Rowley, who eloped to Wellsburg a year ago and kept the fact secret almost to the hour of the society wedding planned for them, have slipped away on a quiet honeymoon.

EUROPEAN TRIP LIKELY

Abandonment of plans for the second ceremony, with palms and music and a social gallery to supplement the severely plain but romantic joining of man and wife in a Presbyterian manse in Wellsburg a year ago, was announced simultaneously with that of the beginning of the belated honeymoon.

So while wedding attendants, relatives and friends carefully hang away the gowns which were to be an important feature of the ceremony planned at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. Rowley, Glen Arden drive this afternoon the young honeymooners are believed bound eastward on a European tour.

CANCELLATION ANNOUNCED

The honeymoon remained the only part of the second wedding that the young Mellons had not abandoned since their carefully planned intentions of being married a second time to please friends and their families blew up.

The announcement of the cancellation of today's wedding, was

COTS ASSURED JOBLESS HERE

The hundreds of homeless men who have been sleeping in the building in Water street, provided for them by the Helping Hand, are to be given beds and blankets by the state.

Requests for 2,000 cots and blankets for the Helping Hand, and for 1,000 for unemployment relief in Philadelphia, have been approved by Gov. John S. Fisher, according to an Associated Press dispatch today.

Harry I. Miller, of the Helping Hand, said that arrangements to secure the cots and blankets would be made immediately. The equipment, according to Gov. Fisher's action, will come from the 3rd Corps area of the Army, with headquarters at Baltimore.

Adjutant General Frank D. Beary said that he has been assured by Army officials that the cots and blankets are available. The state also has several thousand cots of its own which are used by the National Guard, and these also will be distributed, if they are needed, it was said.

Owner Responsible In Parked Car Death

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Is the owner of a parked automobile which rolls down a hill responsible for whatever damage it does before it comes to a stop?

A jury in Judge Walter P. Steffen's Court, presented with this unusual question, yesterday decided that the owner is responsible, and awarded judgment of $3,600 against Chris Kupchis in favor of Frank Velius, whose son, Frank, Jr., 11, was killed in such an accident.

Utilities Lack Street Rights, City Contends

Declaring that public utilities have no vested rights in the city streets as to any change made therein, City Attorney Charles P. Lang created a mild furore today at the hearing of complainants to the plan of the Pennsylvania Railroad for a new terminal here.

Samuel Walker and Charles S. Young, Public Service commissioners, were told by Lang that the commission has no authority to inquire into the question of necessity, convenience or accommodation of the public with respect to action by City Council in opening, widening or relocating streets.

OPPOSES CLAIMS

Lang's statements came as an objection to testimony offered by the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the Bell Telephone Company and other utilities, that the Pennsylvania's plans will work them huge damage, for which they demand pay. Under the contract entered into by the city and the railroad this year, no payment for damages to the utility companies is provided for.

M. W. Cook, general superintendent and master of transportation of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, testified that the railroad's plans would eliminate the Seventeenth street incline, and that persons who have used the incline would be compelled to walk or ride two miles to get as far as a 1,000-foot incline ride now takes them.

Cook said also that the Pennsylvania's plans, if carried out, would compel the re-routing of a dozen or more trolley lines, principally those serving the South Hills and South Side, and instead of looping at Eleventh or Twelfth streets, they would have to loop at Twenty-third street. He declared the proposed changes would entail an expenditure of more than 200,000 car-miles per year on the trolley concern.

It was at this testimony that Lang fired his broadside. He said:

"The franchise rights of utility concerns are subservient to those of the public, and city council is the sole judge of the public's needs.

"The sole inquiry here is to whether the Pennsylvania Railroad is able, reasonably and economically, to carry out the obligations imposed in its contract with the city."

UP TO COMMISSION

Walker and Young made no comment on Lang's statement that the commission had no power in passing on the action of council. They indicated such questions must come before the entire commission.

The protesting utilities concerns want the railroad to pay them more than $1,000,000 damages for the relocation of tracks, wires, pipes, etc. The contract does not provide for the payment of damages to the utilities companies, and the railroad company has admitted that it will resist efforts to collect damages.

Pope Starts New Telephone System

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 19—(AP.)—Pope Pius today threw a switch which put the papal city's new telephone system into operation. He said:

"I want to be like the blessed Don Bosco, the noted educator, who was beatified last year. I want to be in the advance guard of progress."

Man Slain, Hurled From Automobile

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The body of an unidentified man about 35 years old, shot four times through the head and body, was found this morning on the Walled Lake road near here.

The body apparently had been thrown from an automobile about four hours before it was found, Coroner O. C. Farmer said.

31 ELECTION OFFICIALS ACCUSED

Warrants Out for Members Of 6 Boards; Grand Jury Will Be Given Cases

A broadside against alleged cheating at the May primaries, unearthed by the special recount board, was fired this afternoon as charges were filed against 31 members of six city election boards.

First Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt directed the making of informations by Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren before Alderman Thomas A. Flanagan. Detectives armed with warrants immediately began rounding up the 30 men and one woman named in the complaints which charge conspiracy to violate the election laws.

BOARDS NAMED

The boards named are the Ninth District, Second Ward; Twenty-first District, Fourth Ward, and First, Tenth, Twelfth and Fifteenth districts, of the Sixth Ward.

The recount of ballots in the First District, Sixth Ward, resulted in a court investigation when the voters' list was reported stolen. It was never found.

Langfitt said that in many instances ballots bore "phantom" marks, creases left by a pencil used presumably in marking a pile of ballots, one after another. When separate ballots are marked no such creases appear. The prosecution will be a test, he asserted, as to whether convictions can be obtained with "phantom" marks as evidence.

WILL GO TO JURY

The cases will be presented to the December grand jury, with expectation that the first cases will be called for trial by the middle of next month.

Election board members named defendants were:

Finland Proposes Five Per Cent Beer

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The Finnish government is understood to have decided to introduce a bill in the Diet raising the alcoholic strength of beer permitted to be sold from two to five per cent.

Opponents of the present regime by which the sale of beverages containing more than two per cent of alcohol is prohibited, today interpreted this as the first of successive measures to revise the prohibition law.

Bobby Foresakes Links, Has Been Wired for Sound

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Strongest news of week is that Bobby Jones has been wired for sound.

He has quit serious golf to go to Hollywood.

Where they play golf all year round.

Bobby grabs himself $250,000.

That will make him forget that $50,000 gift house.

Which was a divot he had to replace.

We'd like to be his caddy on pay day.

And carry his bag.

He will golf for the educationals.

It'll be easy.

His director will show him how to play.

We've heard Bobby talk in the newsreels.

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The liner Mauretania picked up the crew of the sinking Swedish freighter Ovidia in mid-ocean today.

The crew of the leaking vessel took off in their own lifeboats after both the Mauretania and the liner America, commanded by Capt. George Fried, veteran sea rescuer, had reached her side following a 10-hour run in response to an SOS.

A message from Capt. Fried to the U. S. lines here, owners of the America, timed 12:54 p. m., read as follows:

SEA ROUGH

A previous message from Capt. Fried, timed 12:13 p. m., read:

"Alongside Ovidia awaiting her decision to abandon ship. She desires try towing by S. S. Endicott who has not arrived as yet. Ovidia listing badly to starboard. Strong northwest wind. Rough heavy swell. S. S. Mauretania also standing by. Latitude 47.35 north; longitude 51 west."

Investors are alleged to have lost $6,000,000 in Bob's various stock companies.

Mrs. Bruce Annexes Ocean Flying Record

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—A new record for solo ocean flying by women has been set by Mrs. Victor Bruce, of England, incidental to the globe-circling flight upon which she is engaged at present, messages from Shanghai said today.

Lila Lee Recovering With Renee Adoree

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Lila Lee and Renee Adoree, film actresses, are rapidly regaining health in the mountain air of Arizona. A Hollywood friend of the two, who visited them, said both showed marked improvement.

Miss Lee, who had played in 16 talkies in 18 months without a rest, was ordered to the Prescott (Ariz.) Sanitarium several weeks ago. Miss Adoree, also a victim of over-activity, followed soon after.

SNOW COVERS ROCKY REGION

DENVER, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Denver and the entire Rocky Mountain region is today covered by a blanket of snow from two to 18 inches in depth.

Reports from the mountain regions of Colorado said passes were closed by the snow, bus service discontinued and many motorists marooned.

The deepest snow was reported in the mountain regions of Southwest Wyoming, where it was a foot and a half deep last night, with snow still falling steadily.

Snowdrifts three feet deep marooned 20 motorists near Vernal, Utah, last night.

Emmett McBride Sent to Asylum

CARROLTON, O., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Emmett McBride, brother of F. Scott McBride, head of the Anti-Saloon League of America, was ordered committed to the Massillon State Hospital for the Insane when arraigned here today on a charge of issuing fraudulent checks.

McBride was returned here from Washington several weeks ago.

State Intervenes In D. & H. Rail Plea

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today permitted William A. Schnamed, attorney general o fPennsylvania, to intervene in the application of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad to abandon a portion of its Honesdale branch in that state.

KELLY ASKS BIG BUILDING FUND

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Asserting the rental the government pays in 20 years for some of its postoffices would pay for the construction of its own buildings, Representative Clyde Kelly (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, told President Hoover today he would ask Congress next month to appropriate $10,000,000 as an initial fund in a gigantic federal building program.

His plan is to have the construction work cover a 20-year period, but be started early next year so work can be furnished the jobless.

He said Postmaster General Brown has approved his plans in general and that he expects little opposition from Congress. The government, he said, pays $17,500,000 yearly in rents for its minor postoffices and substations.

Spanish Prince May Wed Royal Beauty in 1931

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Another royal marriage in Europe, involving the Prince of Asturias, 23-year-old Spanish heir, and Princess Maria Della Esperanza, 16-year-old Andalusian beauty, is reported in circles close to the Spanish court as likely next year.

The Prince, who has been in poor health, has shown great improvement during the past year. Only recently he made a trip through Europe, the first time that he had left Spain.

'Three-Gun' Wilson Told He's Marked for Death

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Harold (Three-Gun) Wilson, deputy prohibition administrator for Delaware, where he was transferred from Pittsburgh, Pa., received a death threat in an anonymous letter today.

The missive read in part:

"There is going to be a killing and you will be the stiff.

"I want to give you a little bit of warning. You stay away from Lincoln street or you will need more than three guns. I think the best thing for you to do is to leave the town if you value your life.

"You think that you are doing something great, but you are making a fool of yourself. You are making the state worse than it was before."

Wilson refused to comment on the letter. He had staged numerous raids in the section referred to, he said.

2 SEATS LOST, FIGHT OVER CONGRESS ZONES FACES STATE

LEGISLATURE TO BE SCENE OF BATTLE

Each House Member Likely To Try to Hold District; Electoral College Vote Cut

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Loss of two Pennsylvania seats in the lower House of Congress, as certified by President Hoover in his promulgation of the new apportionment on a basis of the 1930 census, foreshadows a spirited fight in the next state Legislature when the problem of revamping the 34 present congressional districts is taken up.

CUTS COLLEGE VOICE

Because of the unfavorable population showing made by Pennsylvania during the past 10 years, the President certified the state will be entitled to only 34 representatives in the Congress to be elected in 1932, reducing the state's voice in the national electoral college to 72, equal to twice the number of its congressmen and senators.

As it will be necessary to work over district lines and carve 34 new districts out of the present 36, it seems reasonable to believe that all of the sitting congressmen will be on hand to see that their interests are protected. The natural aim of each will be to preserve the present lines of his district intact as far as possible, in order to eliminate the contingency of being thrown into a district with another congressman, whom he would have to defeat for re-election.

Out of a parliamentary battle that is foreshadowed, it is possible to visualize a situation whereby the Legislature may fail to act, making it necessary for all to seek re-election as congressmen-at-large.

ELECTION PROVISION MADE

Provision is made in the new census-reapportionment act for such a thing in the event a state legislature fails to pass a redistricting bill.

The 1930 population officially credited to Pennsylvania as a basi for the new apportionment was 9,631,299, which was exclusive of 51 Indians living in the state who do not pay taxes.

Congress in passing the existing reapportionment legislation made provision for the apportionment to be based on either major fractions of equal proportions, depending on whether the presidential certification is acted upon by Congress or put into effect automatically by the Secretary of Commerce.

SPAIN ARRESTS 40 IN PLOT

MADRID, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Forty political agitators were under arrest here today as a result of almost unprecedented police action following reports of a widespread civil and military plot against the Spanish monarchy.

The men were rounded up during the night as thousands of hastily mobilized national police patrolled the streets of the city, arresting suspected characters on sight.

It was reported that the alleged plot was fostered by Republican elements, who until now had been inactive in the succession of general strikes which took place throughout the country. They were to have been aided by artillery men, who were reported to have backed out at the last moment.

The plot was said to have had ramifications in the provinces.

Two Youths Admit Thefts From Autos

Asked to explain how they came in possession of automobile robes, cameras and articles police said they had when they were arrested in Wilkins avenue, Herman Falk, 17, of 189 Long way, and Daniel Shields, 16, of 4522 Modoc way, admitted stealing the articles and were held for investigation in Morals Court today.

The youths admitted, according to police, that they had taken the articles from automobiles parked in the 4700 block Fifth avenue.

Merger Bill Passed In New Kensington

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Nov. 19.—New Kensington Council last night approved an ordinance fixing January 5 for the consolidation of New Kensington and Parnassus, approved by the voters of the two boroughs at the primary election in May. Parnassus Council has taken similar action.

Kline Fete Ticket Fails, Man Tagged for Parking

Fred Woods, 40, of Dormont, thought that because he bought a ticket to the "welcome home" banquet tendered Mayor Charles H. Kline recently he was entitled to immunity from being tagged for parking violations—police testified today in Central Police Court.

Woods came from a Diamond street store in time to see a traffic officer tagging his machine, according to the testimony, which quoted him as saying:

"Here! you can't do that; I bought a ticket for Mayor Kline's banquet."

The officer walked away, but Woods continued to storm around, it was testified, and when the patrolman finally turned to him, Woods tore up the traffic summons.

Woods apologized in court and the charge of disorderly conduct, placed against him for tearing up the tag, was quashed.

ish emigrant, who lost his balance and fell into the sea, being seriously injured.

The Highland Hope, owned by the Nelson Steam Navigation Company, was en route from London to Buenos Aires. She was constructed last year, and was of 14,000 tons.

SHIP SINKING

After the crash which roused the ship's passengers from their berths in the darkness, the order was given to take to the lifeboats. This was accomplished despite the fog and darkness.

Although the passengers had little time to dress, there was no panic and perfect order prevailed.

The salvage boats Lisbon and Gibraltar rushed to the scene, and took the life boats under tow, landing them safely at Peniche. Here the passengers were taken by motor busses to Sao Mamede, and from there they came on to Lisbon by special train.

MANY ANSWER SOS

Other salvage boats tried to get the stranded liner off the rocks, but were unsuccessful, their efforts being hindered by dense fog.

The SOS sent out by the Highland Hope when she fouled on the rocks sent numbers of rescue craft scurrying toward her, and the water soon was dotted with boats bringing aid.

Late today the liner lay on the rocks, her stern pounded by seas, and with weather conditions making it impossible to go aboard her.

The captain and crew stuck, but presumably had come ashore this afternoon when nothing further could be done.

Noble Relief Vessel Missing In Baltic

STOCKHOLM, [illegible], 19.—(AP.)—Considerable fear is entertained here for the Swedish steamer Tanja, of 715 tons, which may have sunk in the South Baltic.

Nothing has been heard of the vessel since it left Danzig 10 days ago. The Tanja participated in the Nobile relief expedition in the summer of 1928.

Liner in Distress In New York Harbor

Weather Conditions.

Pressure continued to rise over the Eastern states during the last 24 hours, with the high central over Vermont, Northfd, 30.50 inches, this morning, while the Colorado low developed southeastward to Southern Texas, Del Rio, 29.52. An anticyclone over Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and Nevada, with the center, 30.56, at Yellowstone Park, is causing colder weather over the extreme Western plains, the Rockies and the plateau. Another disturbance appears over the Canadian Northwest. Light rain fell in the Middle Atlantic states and in the Western plains, while it is snowing in the Rockies and portions of the Dakotas and Manitoba. It is warmer over the Eastern plains and the Mississippi Valley and colder over the Middle Atlantic states and New England.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Franklin is 0.2 foot; Lock No. 7, 11.6; Pittsburgh, 9.7; Dam No. 4, 9.1; Dam No. 6, 7.5; Dam No. 9, 8.2, and Dam No. 12, 4.0. The dams are up.

Aviation Bulletin.

Weather will be clear over the central and western portions of the district, with clearing slowly proceeding eastward during the afternoon and night; visibilities will be good over western and central portions, but will decrease over the mountains again tonight, with light northeasterly winds over eastern portions and easterly or southeasterly over western and central portions; temperatures will be somewhat higher over the eastern and central portions.

ARKANSAS BANK AID PLEDGED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Little Rock and North Little Rock banks today were heartened by assurance from the Little Rock Clearing House Association that the combined banks of the city stood "ready to support in this crisis every member bank to the fullest extent."

A pledge to aid every member bank with "our combined facilities and resources" was signed by seven members of the association after a conference seeking relief from financial strain caused by the closing or suspension of payments by 55 banks in the state in two days.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Kentucky banks that have closed their doors this week numbered 10 today with suspension of the Owsley Deposit Bank at Booneville and the Peoples Bank of Sulphur.

In most instances the suspensions were believed to be only temporary, according to bankers, who described the closed institutions as being solvent.

NEW RAIL PLAN HELD SAVING FOR FOES

Newcombe in Closing I. C. C. Plea for Freight Line Hints of Rate Divisions

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Declaring that the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads would be able to save money by allowing the proposed New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago Railroad to haul cars to the Eastern seaboard for them, H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the suggested line, brought his case before the Interstate Commerce Commission to a close yesterday.

GRANT RATE DIVISIONS

In asking for permission to start construction of the $177,000,000 railroad, Newcomb said the lines which are protesting the case would be helped rather than harmed by the improvement which would cut directly across Pennsylvania from Etna to Easton with maximum grades of only three tenths of one per cent.

The new road would be able to operate at such a low cost, according to Newcomb, it would be in a position to grant divisions of rates to other carriers which would more than compensate for the lost profit in moving traffic on their own lines.

In answering the claim of existing shippers that they are providing an adequate service and that it would be harmful to burden them with increased competition, Newcomb said all improvements have been fought by those in control of antiquated equipment. He declared the courts have repeatedly ruled that granting of a charter to a railroad or public utility does not constitute a guarantee that protection will be given against the completion of improved facilities.

DENIES TRAFFIC VOLUME

Henry Wolf Bickle, counsel for he Pennsylvania Railroad who, in this case also represented the New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Lehigh Valley, Central of New Jersey and Reading Railroads, asserted the proposed line will not be able to develop the expected volume of traffic. He pointed to the fact the road would not directly serve shippers on its line and declared other carriers would not make the desired exchanges of traffic.

He stated the purpose of the commission's consolidation plan is to provide complete units of railroad operation. He said the proposed line would be a part of none of the proposed systems and would defeat this purpose.

Bickle also asserted the line with its terminus at Etna would make necessary the classification of freight in Pittsburgh which the Pennsylvania has been trying to avoid in an effort to relieve traffic congestion.

Wife of Confessed Slayer Released

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Louis Zambrang, 19, Pittsburgh, wife of the man who officers say has confessed slaying another Pittsburgh man, near Pine Grove, was freed from the Wetzel county jail, where she had been held as a material witness. Zambrano is alleged to have admitted killing a man whom he said knew too much about Zambrano's liquor activities.

Chesterton Predicts Dole For U. S.; Hits Politics, Sees Dry Law Wane

Doles to the unemployed, long since resorted to by England as a result of industrial depression, may become a necessity in America if better times do not soon appear.

That was the assertion of Gilbert K. Chesterton, English writer, satirist and journalist in an interview last night before his lecture at Soldiers' Memorial Hall, under auspices of Duquesne University.

The situation is becoming so acute, Chesterton believes, that such action by the American government is not a remote possibility.

POLITICS ASSAILED

Politics as played by the average politician these days does not take the average voter into consideration, according to the author. Leaders are made, he said, by the inner workings of "machines," both in Great Britain and America.

He also believes the enfranchisement of women did little to improve political conditions in either nation.

He said:

"You can vote yourself black and blue in the face, but it is extremely doubtful whether it is going to do much good. The financial groups, the great industrial leaders and the manufacturing combines are the ones who control government, and no one else."

PREDICTS DRY CHANGE

Turning to prohibition, he said:

"Prohibition is much more unpopular now than when I was in America 10 years ago. As an outsider I don't want to hazard too hasty an opinion, but I believe some modification will come soon."

Chesterton, stalwart defender of the church, is of the opinion that present-day churchgoers count for more than those of the past.

Church attendance in years gone by was a social custom, he said, but those who profess faith now do so out of respect for the Infinite Being and therefore are more valuable to religion.

DEEMS LEWIS IDEALIST

Chesterton lectured last night on "The Inhumanity of Humanism." He declared he believed Sinclair Lewis, critic of American life, an idealist rather than a critic. He cited Lewis as an outstanding realist, against which school of thought he had nothing to say other than "Whatever realism is, it is not realistic."

Four schools of thought dominate America today, Chesterton said, and he proceeded to attack them as not standing for the things they claim to represent. Chesterton's complaint against fundamentalism is "that it is not fundamental" and against modernism only that "it is not modern." He said the most distinguishing mark of humanism is that it is "not sufficiently humanistic."

DARROW DOUBTS CHURCH BELIEF

The intelligent no longer believe in churches, according to Clarence Darrow, world famous agnostic, in Pittsburgh today to speak at the Keystone Athletic Club.

He made the statement as part of a flat contradiction of Gilbert K. Chesterton's statement yesterday that those who go to church today are more sincere and more valuable to religion than those who attended in former years from a feeling of social compulsion. Darrow said:

"There was a time when all powerful and intelligent persons went to church and supported it. That is no longer true. The intelligent no longer believe in the churches. As far as churchgoing not being a social obligation today, Chesterton had better go into the hinterlands of America. It is almost entirely social. As for Chesterton claiming that those who attend church attend because of a respect for the Infinite Being, they don't know any more about it than those who don't attend church."

TAX APPEALS FLOOD CITY OFFICES

Nineteenth Ward Leads With 632 Protests; Assessors Deny Using Guesswork

Appeals from the 1931 city tax assessments in five of the South Hills wards and in the Twelfth Ward in the East End were filed in heavy volume yesterday at the city assessor's office. Another big turnout of taxpayers is expected today, as boards of trade and a number of civic organizations seek to add strength to the protest.

A total of approximately 1,000 tax appeals were filed yesterday. Previous to that time less than 800 had been placed before the board from all parts of the city.

19TH WARD PROTESTS

A big part of the appeals yesterday came out of the Nineteenth Ward with a total of 632. The Brookline and Beechview districts and sections of Mt. Washington were well represented in the protesting groups.

A special committee of the Mt. Washington Board of Trade will meet tomorrow night at the office of R. J. Macrory, president of the board, to plan further steps in the campaign against the new assessments. It was the petition of this group which brought an extension of the time of appeal from Wednesday to Saturday night.

CARRICK AROUSED

A protest meeting has been called by Carrick property owners tonight in the chapel of Edwin C. Koontz, undertaker, 1719 Brownsville road. In some instances, citizens assert, valuations have been boosted 100 per cent and the property is assessed at more than the market value.

The Twentieth Ward including the West End, Sheraden and Elliott, is included in the change. A number of appeals were made from this territory.

Crowds which have been coming into the assessor's office have represented citizens of every walk of life. Laboring men in their working clothes, mothers with babies in their arms, old men and young girls, all have formed the lines waiting to look into the tax books. In many cases an increase means hardship and a rearrangement of the family budget, they all claim.

DENY GUESSWORK

Many properties in the South Hills wards, however, have not been touched in any way by the assessors. For the most part, assessors aver the increases have been in the newer neighborhoods where streets have been improved and attractive communities developed.

Assessors deny the valuations reached have been the result of guesswork. They say each property has been personally inspected and that while there may be mistakes, the majority of the figures represent a fair normal market value.

Kidnapers Release Rich 'Bookmaker'

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 19—(AP.)—George H. Hurford, 53, wealthy bookmaker, was safe at his country estate today after spending 33 hours blindfolded in the hands of two kidnapers, but the mystery of his abduction remained. Hurford was abducted from his home Sunday night and released yesterday at Chetopa, Kan.

He asserted his kidnapers had not asked a ransom or made any demands in return for his freedom and he denied he had paid them anything. Hurford said he was unable to explain why he was kidnaped.

Coolidge Says Relief Aid Belies 'Material' Charge

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 19.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Sometimes our country is charged with giving too much thought to the material things of life. The charge may appear more justified because in ordinary times the rank and file of our people are in such comfortable circumstances, so independent and well able to take care of themselves, that they make no appeal to the humanitarian sentiments. But if any catastrophe arises that is likely to cause real human suffering at home or abroad our response to the need for relief is generous and instantaneous.

Calvin Coolidge

The economic effect of the unemployed can be overestimated. It is the number at work, not the number out of work, that measures our business prosperity. But the need for assisting those not able to find work cannot be overestimated. The real human sympathy of all our people in every station and locality now is being most effectively revealed in the relief that is being provided through private charities and local governments. It demonstrates not only our ample ability to take care of each other, but the existence and power of a deep and abiding community spirit. Our social system is not yet perfected, but it is already the best and safest reliance in time of need that any people ever enjoyed.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

MRS. ALLEN TO TAKE STAND

Blood Ties Prove Stronger Than Matrimonial Bonds In Murder Case Drama

Blood ties having proved stronger than the bonds of matrimony, Mrs. Edith Allen McConeghy, Curry Hollow bride, whose father, Lee Allen, is on trial in Criminal Court charged with the murder of her husband, Daniel McConeghy, indicated she will go on the witness stand late today or tomorrow and testify for the defense. The 21-year-old Mifflin Township school teacher had been wavering ever since the tragedy as to whether she would remain loyal to her dead mate or try to save her parent.

DEFENSE OPENS

The defense opened shortly before noon today, and Attorney Louis Little indicated Allen would claim self-defense. Little said he would show that when McConeghy drove up to the Allen home on the day of the killing, he and Allen had an argument about the health of Mrs. McConeghy. He said he would prove that McConeghy, while sitting in the machine, struck Allen, knocking him down, and that Allen fired while lying on the ground.

The prosecution objected to testimony regarding the wife's health and the jurors were removed while counsel engaged in a long argument over its admission.

NEIGHBOR TESTIFIES

Mike Brella, a neighbor, testified he had witnessed the shooting. He said he saw Allen, who is half Indian and a former game warden, and known as one of the best trap shots in the state, loiter about in front of his house until McConeghy drove up at 9:15 p. m. Then he said he saw the flash of revolver fire and heard three shots. He ran out and found McConeghy dead in the front seat of his car.

Robert T. Kegler, another neighbor, also told of seeing Allen fire at close range on the man in the auto.

Dr. J. W. McMeans testified that powder marks around the wounds in the dead man's head indicated the gun had been held not more than 10 inches from his head.

Round Table Warned That Violence Will Never Again Subdue Colonial Natives

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Sweeping charges of exploitation of India, at India's expense, for British profit, were leveled against the British government today by Dr. B. S. Moonje, leader of the Hindu Mahasabha, or protection society, in an address before the round table conference on India's future constitutional status.

Mr. Moonje declared that the British during a hundred years of administration in India have destroyed Indian shipping and industry, the Indian cotton industry, and have forced British goods on India without the payment of any duty.

WARNS OF FARCE

The Hindu leader compared Britain's devotion to India as that of a farmer to his cow:

"So that he may have an ample supply of milk for his tea."

Britain, he said, was like the landlord who looks after his land so that ample rent could be obtained, adding:

"The time will never come again when any show of physical force is going to cow the Indian people."

Moonje was one of five speakers at today's session. The discussion roused such great interest that it might have continued for weeks if Ramsay MacDonald had not taken steps to control it. Tomorrow a 10-minute rule for all speakers will be enforced.

The Maharajah of Patiala, one of the most powerful of the Indian rulers, added his plea for an all-Indian government today. He said:

"I speak for all my brother princes when I say that we all look forward to the birth of a greater India.

"Whether that will take the form of a United States of India or a federal dominion, we may know more clearly before this conference comes to an end."

FEARS DISORDER

Sardar Sahib Singh, regarded as a moderate in Indian politics, asserted that hesitation and half hearted measures are bound to lead to great disorder in India, saying:

"We dare not go back, without taking with us some solution which will satisfy the aspirations of our people."

Muhammed Ali, famous Moslem leader and until a few years ago Mahatma Gandhi's closest ally, announced to the conference that he was committed to complete independence for India.

PEGGY SINGLE FOR 4 YEARS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Peggy Joyce, in New York from abroad en route to Hollywood, today boasted of her record. She said:

"Why I have not married anyone for four or five years. In fact I may never marry again. If I do I'll wait until I'm around 40. It would be terrible to grow old alone."

BELASCO, ILL, MISSES PLAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—David Belasco, noted theatrical producer, continued gravely ill today, but he was given a chance for recovery. He is suffering from pneumonia.

For the first time in 400 opening nights, Belasco was unable to attend the opening of his new play last night. Despite his illness the producer tried to persuade physicians to let him go to the theater, even if he were "wrapped in a blanket." Belasco, however, was told he must remain in bed.

Since he became ill hundreds of telegrams from all parts of the country have been received by the producer, wishing him a speedy recovery.

MELLON, BRIDE ON HONEYMOON

made by A. E. Brice, secretary to the bridegroom's father.

He said:

"Mr. and Mrs. Mellon, Jr., left the city early last evening. Their destination has not been revealed. I do not know their plans."

Originally a European tour had been planned. Close friends of the couple were in the dark as to their real intentions.

SOCIETY AMUSED

Society took the second surprise in as many days more or less as a matter of course. It was generally believed yesterday the pretentious nuptials would be cancelled, although in some quarters it had been hinted as a possibility that young Mellon and his bride would go through with the second ceremony.

Any disappointment over the cancellation gave way to a sympathetic understanding when full realization of the situation revealed itself as the "kid trick" given as the explanation by one of the parents.

Members of both families were reported to have taken the elopement of more than a year ago as an idea of youthful romance and as the newlyweds sped away, they carried with them parental blessings.

City Workers Fete Lang on Birthday

CLEAR OFFICER IN DOG KILLING

Patrolman Edward H. Graney, accused of cruelty to a dog before killing it in Montour way, near Sixth avenue, November 10, was exonerated at a hearing before the Police Trial Board today.

A dozen witnesses testified the officer stunned the animal with the blow of a mace, then carried it into Montour way and killed it with a shot in the head.

Oliver J. Keller, the complainant, testified Graney kicked the dog and struck it many times with a mace before killing it.

W. H. Wentzel, executive secretary of the Humane Society, said his organization had investigated the case, but that the evidence was so conflicting he could not establish whether the patrolman was guilty or innocent.

3 LOST FLIERS FEARED DEAD

BURBANK, Cal., Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Fear grew hourly today that the below-freezing weather in the Tehachapi Mountains had already claimed the lives of two men and an 18-year-old girl, now missing for more than 33 hours since the Pacific Air Transport plane, in which they were flying from Burbank to Oakland, disappeared early Tuesday morning.

Forty airplanes, the greatest hunt of its kind in the history of aviation, according to local fliers, were flying in intermittent, blinding snow and pelting rain over the rugged slopes of the Tehachapis as faint hope burned that the girl, Miss Jean Markow, and her companions, Pilot Flavius Donaldson and Mechanic George Rogers, would yet be found alive.

These glimmering hopes, shared by some of the searchers, were revived by reports of what appeared to be signal fires burning in an almost inaccessible canyon, 10 miles northeast of Lebec, Kern County.

James M. Cox, Jr., To Wed on Friday

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—James M. Cox, Jr., whose father once ran for president, will be married Friday to Miss Helen Rumsey, daughter of Lee M. Rumsey, of New York and Miami Beach, Fla. The ceremony will be performed in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's Church by Dr. Robert Norwood, the rector, and will be followed by a reception at the Ritz Tower.

Enlist Notables To Wage War On Rackets

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Owen D. Young, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Charles M. Schwab, Henry W. Taft, Cass Gilbert and Thomas W. Lamont were among 50 men and women whom District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain invited to attend a conference Thursday on means of suppressing racketeers preying on industry here.

Crain recently announced he had opened warfare on racketeers whose activities he declared had become intolerable.

CHILD'S THIRD WIFE SUES

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Suit for divorce has been filed against Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy, by Mrs. Eva Sanderson Child, his third wife. Before their marriage she was his literary secretary. The case will come up in December.

Extreme cruelty is understood to be the grounds on which the divorce will be sought. It was said the suit will not be contested.

Child's first wife was Elizabeth Scott, of Virginia. They were divorced in 1916, after 12 years of married life. His second wife was Maude Parker, grand niece of Gen. Dangerfield Parker, of Washington. They were divorced in 1926. He married his present wife a year later.

U. S. HOP OF DO-X UNLIKELY

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Maurice Dornier announced today that it is almost certain the projected trans-Atlantic flight of the seaplane DO-X will be abandoned because of adverse weather all along the Portuguese coast and across the Atlantic.

BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Departure of the DO-X, giant German seaplane, for Corunna, Spain, and Lisbon, Portugal, was postponed again today because of adverse weather conditions.

It was raining hard and there was a low flying ceiling.

Dr. Claude Dornier, inventor and constructor of the big plane, seemed anxious to hurry the departure, but Capt. Christiansen took a firm stand, remarking:

"I am ready to leave, doctor, but I cannot assume responsibility for safety of the ship."

Plane With Chute Makes Safe Landing

DAYTON, O., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Using an 80-foot parachute, a Wright field officer allowed a training plane to be dropped 2,000 feet in a test of the chute. When at an altitude of 3,000 feet the pilot cut the ship loose from the parachute and flew to a safe landing. The chute is the result of experiments by Maj. E. L. Hoffman, chief of the parachute unit at Wright Field.

LEVINE PLANS PLEA FOR BAIL

VIENNA, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Application for release on bail will probably be made today by attorneys on behalf of Charles A. Levine, Atlantic ocean flier arrested by police on suspicion of planning to counterfeit French coins.

The American backer and participant in Clarence D. Chamberlin's dash to Germany in the monoplane Columbia insisted at a hearing yesterday it was "all a mistake" and a predicament due to an ill-advised advertising scheme, but authorities refused to accept his explanation.

Haggard after 48 hours in a cell, Levine pleaded in vain for immediate release. The police continued to contend he sought to obtain the dies for the manufacture of French coins of 50 centimes and one and two francs.

BAIL FURNISHED BY M'LAUGHLIN

Thomas J. McLaughlin, former captain of Troop A, State Police, stationed at Greensburg, today surrendered to United States Marshal James C. McGregor, and furnished $10,000 bond on a charge of evading income taxes.

McLaughlin was indicted last week, it being charged that he had failed to file returns on $133,689.19 income over a period of several years. Congressman Harry A. Estep, who accompanied McLaughlin to the marshal's office today, stated that the tax had been paid several months ago.

P. N. Guthrie Heads Reading Company

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—P. N. Gutherie, Jr., was named president of the Reading Iron Company at a meeting here yesterday. He was born in Pittsburgh, April 26, 1876. He became a vice president in charge of sales for the company December 1, 1929, and now succeeds Leon E. Thomas, who resigned last July.

Board Raises $100,000 To Feed Students

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A fund of $100,000 is being raised privately by the Board of Education to give breakfasts of oatmeal, milk and bread to at least 6,000 children of the unemployed who have been found to be suffering from lack of food. A number of prominent women are aiding in the campaign, which is being directed by Louis Nusbaum, associate superintendent of schools. The bankers' association will supply the schools with all the bread necessary free of charge.

Mother, 3 Children Lose Lives in Fire

VIENNA, Va., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Bernice Sullivan, 27, and her three children burned to death when their farm home near here was destroyed by fire.

The children were Elizabeth, 9; Elsie, 6, and Daniel J. Sullivan, Jr., 4. Neighbors, attracted by the flames, were unable to enter the burning house. The father was visiting neighbors.

North Side Store Robbed, $515 Taken

Thieves entered the McCrory five-and-ten-cent store, 105 East Ohio street, last night and obtained $515 cash and $100 in money orders, police were notified today. Entrance was gained through a side door by a key. The money, in bags, had been secreted in the office and basement, after the close of business yesterday.

Mourning Children Bury Pet Duck, Auto Victim

Young Warren Harding Van Kirk, Jr., 19 months old, was rambling about his home at 2916 Perrysville avenue today, still wondering why they put "Ducky-Walkie" in a hole in the back yard and covered him over with dirt. But friends and their fathers and mothers in the neighborhood understand all about it.

"Ducky-Walkie," a pet duck, came into the Van Kirk family circle last Easter, an awkward, yellow ball of fuzz, the gift from a friend. Warren, Jr., wasn't very big then, but he understood the newcomer was something to add to his amusements. They became great friends.

"Ducky-Walkie" matured pretty fast and soon was roaming about town, a privileged character He'd often follow the boys and girls to school.

But an automobile cut short his stay here on earth, and yesterday a sad-eyed group of youngsters, with here and there a sprinkling of adults, gathered in the Van Kirk back yard and saw "Ducky-Walkie" placed in his grave, at the head of which was placed a celluloid duck as a marker.

And the most fascinated and most puzzled of them all was young Warren Harding Van Kirk, Jr.

POLICE VET DIES IN NATIVE HOME

The one great hope that he might return to his native town and die among the scenes of his boyhood, was realized by Edward Mallon, veteran Pittsburgh policeman, according to word received here from Ballynackleduff-Derryfubble, County Tyrone, Ireland.

Retiring here October 1, 1926, Patrolman Mallon returned to his native land and lived among his boyhood friends and relatives for the last four years of his life. Chester Morley, secretary of the Police Pension Fund, was notified of Mallon's death yesterday.

Mallon was well known to Pittsburgh business men, having patrolled, for more than 18 years, the Wood street-Sixth avenue beat, known as the "trap" and considered a hoodoo by most officers. Mallon had never once been "on the books."

BOY, 6, MAN HIT BY MOTOR CARS

Edward Bercik, 6, of 122 Second street, East Pittsburgh, today was in a serious condition in Braddock General Hospital, where he was taken after having been struck by an automobile while playing near Dixon School, Oakhill, yesterday. The driver of the car, Frank S. Lachance, of 5456 Clarendon place, Pittsburgh, took the boy to the hospital, attaches said.

Samuel Tradkodich, 52, of 632 Jerome street, McKeesport, suffered severe lacerations when struck by an auto in Jenny Lind street, McKeesport, last night. He was removed to McKeesport Hospital. The driver of the automobile was Mike Franko, of 429 Pacific avenue, McKeesport, according to a police report.

Yellow Fever Hero Of 1898 Kills Self

SPARTANSBURG, S. C., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Dr. Baxter M. Haynes, 81, who was made an honorary member of the Cuban Board of Health for his work in combatting yellow fever after the Spanish-American war, shot and killed himself here. He had been in ill health for a year.

Fifty-Pound Turtle Routs Two Men, Escapes Pot

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Down in a swamp in Plaquemines Parish a 50-pound turtle is enjoying the fruits of victory.

In a battle to escape the soup pots it routed two men, one of whom went to a hospital with a broken leg. Nick Tedesco and Angelo Centineo were bringing the turtle to town in a truck. When the men weren't looking it slipped up and pinched Angelo. Angelo thought it was the rough seat and just moved over. Then the turtle leaned over and bit him.

With a yell Angelo jumped up and the turtle climbed up to take his place on the seat. On the way he made a pass at Nick, but Nick went over the side. So did the turtle. Nick fell and broke his leg.

DEDICATE NEW SCHOOL FRIDAY

Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of Pittsburgh schools, will be the principal speaker at the dedication of the $310,000 Dickson School, Swissvale, Friday night.

Supt. C. C. Kelso, of the Swissvale schools, will be in charge of the program, which will include a talk by Dr. L. N. Smith, president of the Swissvale Board of Education.

The structure contains 28 rooms, 16 of which are in use. An auditorium, gymnasium, medical inspection room, library and supply room are other features. Visitors may inspect the building from 3 to 7 p. m. Friday.

150 Men Given Jobs On Airport Runways

One hundred and fifty men were put to work yesterday constructing the runways at the city-county airport on the Lebanon Church road, the start of the program of the County Commissioners to give employment to local men. Six gangs of laborers, truck and tractor drivers and others began the work. It is expected that as many as 350 men will be employed eventually.

11 Firemen Hurt As Trucks Crash

DETROIT, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Eleven firemen were injured when the two trucks on which they were answering an alarm collided at Michigan and Vinewood avenues.

HEADLESS BODY HINTS SUICIDE

The headless body of a man found last night on Bouquet Hill, East Deer Township, by two hunters, was believed that of a suicide by morgue attaches today.

Deputy Coroner Stanley Guzenski, who removed the body to the morgue, said he was convinced the man had ended his life by hanging. He based his belief on the clothesline, one end of which was fastened around the neck of the victim. The skeleton form rested against a tree, apparently the one to which the man had fastened the rope. The tree had collapsed in a landslide, and the skull, believed to have become dislodged, rolled down the hillside.

Deputy coroners said it would be impossible to determine if a skull found by boys five miles from Bouquet Hill, in October, belonged to the body of the victim, believed to have been dead at least two years.

WIDOW ACCUSES MAN AS ROBBER

Identified, police say, by Mrs. Mary Draganjac, of 2510 Spring Garden avenue, as the man who robbed her and threw her out of his automobile, Cecil Woods, 34, of 509 East Lacock street, faced a hearing in Central Police Court today.

Mrs. Draganjac was on her way to a North Side cemetery to make a payment on the husband's tombstone when Woods volunteered to drive her to the graveyard, according to detectives. Before they got there Woods, it is charged, took $225 from the widow and threw her out of the machine. He was identified, it was reported, shortly after his arrest by Detectives Thomas Morgan, Walter Monaghan and Edward Schindel.

Chemicals Gone, Cider Douses Fire

ZELIENOPLE, Pa., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Thirsty citizens of this town cast envious eyes today on the smouldering embers of Calvin Frischcorn's barn. Yesterday firemen exhausted their chemicals in fighting the blaze. So they poured cider on it.

Course Opened

PAUL BLOCK

OLD RESIDENCE RAZED BY FIRE

Fire destroyed a landmark residence in the Lincoln Highway, 100 yards from the East McKeesport borough line, this morning. Two East McKeesport fire companies, answering an alarm, were hampered in their efforts to extinguish flames owing to poor water pressure. The structure, formerly used as a farmhouse, was erected nearly a century ago.

Firemen were compelled to stretch hose a distance of 2,500 feet when the pressure in the water plug closest the doomed structure proved too low for efficient use, they said. The house was tenanted until a few days ago by the family of Charles Graham.

Motorists discovered the blaze and notified firemen. Chief A. E. Goodman estimated the loss at $10,000.

CHICAGO EDITOR OPENS BLOCK'S YALE COURSE

Journalistic Ideals Theme Of M'Cormick, in First Lecture of Foundation

By DOROTHY ROE.
General Service.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 19.—Journalism was the theme of an address delivered by Col. Robert McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, before a large body of Yale students in Harkness Hall. The occasion was the first lecture under the foundation recently established by Paul Block, distinguished journalist and owner of a group of leading newspapers scattered throughout the country.

INAUGURATES SERIES

Col. McCormick's talk on the subject "The Newspapers as a Business Enterprise," inaugurated the series of lectures to be delivered, about one a month, by outstanding figures in the newspaper world, with the object of promoting among Yale students and college men generally a better understanding of the press as a political and social force. This in brief is the purpose of the foundation of Mr. Block, who is a personal friend of President Hoover and a power in American journalism.

BLOCK OUTLINES PLAN

Mr. Block, who was present at the launching of his philanthropic venture, outlined briefly his ambitions concerning it. He said:

"I have always wanted to do something like this. My whole life and interest has been concerned with journalism, and I am glad to be able to make this contribution to my profession and to Yale, especially since my eldest son is now a student here, and my youngest son will enter the university soon."

Col. McCormick did not confine himself strictly to the subject of his address. He said:

"There has been much hue and cry against the so-called yellow journalism, the pink sheet, the tabloid—derogatory titles all.

"People of a conservative turn of mind are horrified at the idea of a pink newspaper, because it has come to stand for a certain sportiveness of style. Yet it is an indisputable fact that type and pictures reproduce far better on pink paper than on white.

"There is also a long standing prejudice against big headlines. Why should you object to big headlines any more than to big college buildings.

STIMULATES EMANCIPATION

"Newspaper have brought nothing new in literature or in art. Every present trick of writing was known long before the invention of the printing press. The newspaper simply has increased the scope of distribution.

"How many people were able to read the news of the American Revolution? Very few.

"The so-called yellow journal has performed a vast public service in stimulating social, religious and educational emancipation among the masses, who could be reached by no other medium.

"The history of the newspaper has been a long series of emancipations. James Gordon Bennett was the first man who dared to print the proceedings of the New York Stock Exchange. He was assaulted on the street as a result of his daring. But that was just another emancipation.

JOURNALISM, A PROFESSION

"As to the prescribed subject of my address, I am probably the least qualified man in America to speak to you on such a thing, because I do not consider the newspaper as a business enterprise.

"Journalism is a profession—an organized profession. But it is not a business in the sense that the dry goods store, the bank or the factory is a business.

"I would say the newspaper plant is like the library of a lawyer or the instrument of a surgeon—a valuable thing when it is in the right place."

Among the succeeding lecturers who will address Yale students under the Block Foundation are Walter Lippman, of the New York World, and Stanley Resor, of the J. Walter Thompson advertising agency.

Fireworks Hearing Set for Wednesday

A hearing on the ordinance prohibiting the sale, possession and use of fireworks in Pittsburgh will be held next Wednesday afternoon by Council. The ordinance was introduced several months ago by Councilman Robert Garland who is seeking to get early action.

At present only the use of fireworks is prohibited, the sale being permitted.

Boy, 2, Breaks Leg Falling Down Stairs

William Van Fosson, 2, was the youngest accident victim in the McKeesport Hospital today. He fell downstairs last night at his parents' home in Elizabeth, suffering a fractured right leg, the hospital reported.

Tunney Honored By 'Pundits,' Yale Club

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion of the world, who once lectured before a Yale class on Shakespeare at the invitation of Prof. William Lyon Phelps, has become more closely identified with the university.

It is learned the former fighter has recently been made an honorary member of the "Pundits," exclusive Yale society of wits and scholars of which Prof. Phelps, as faculty member, is the leading figure.

Organized about 50 years ago, the Pundits meet whenever the spirit moves them—usually about twice a month—at Mory's, famous Yale eating house, to exchange talk on any and all subjects.

Chinese Reds Hold Irish Missionary

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—An Irish missionary father, the Very Rev. C. Tierney, superior of the St. Columban's Mission at Kienchang, 80 miles southwest of Nanchang, has been captured by Communists. There now are 24 foreign missionaries, male and female, in China held captive by the Chinese bandits or Communists.

3 MEN SOUGHT AFTER RAIDS

Three men who escaped when county detectives staged seven raids in Homestead were being sought by the detectives today.

Most prominent of the places raided, detectives said, was the Club Mirador, where Evan Burrows Fontaine, dancer, is performing. Joe Frank, of Second avenue, one of the three alleged proprietors, was arrested. The other alleged partners, Leo Swarte and Leo Markowitz, are being sought. Gambling paraphernalia was reported seized.

The proprietor of a place in Herod street was being sought, following the seizure of a slot machine and moonshine.

Six arrested in the raids and released on bonds will be given hearings Monday before Alderman George J. Anderson.

Warner Theaters Men Confer Here

Seventy-five executives of Warner Brothers theaters in the eastern and mid-western state circuits, attended the quarterly business conference for zone and district managers in the Keystone Club yesterday. Spyros Skouras, managing director of the Warner chain, which controls 600 theaters, presided. The executives were guests of John Harris at a noon luncheon.

DELAY BOROUGH MERGER ACTION

Definite action toward the proposed merger of Crafton, Ingram and Thornburg into one borough was delayed at a meeting of the joint committee representing the three communities, last night at the home of George Hardy, 211 Noble avenue, Crafton.

Further consideration of the plans and figures laid before the committee is desired before its members make their recommendations to the councils of their respective boroughs, members indicated.

NURSE GRANTED DIVORCE

Although she worked to pay the expenses of her husband at college, he deserted her afterwards, according to the testimony of Margaret J. McIntyre, 29, a public health nurse, of 5400 Kincaid street, granted a divorce from Victor F. McIntyre, 33, in Common Pleas Court.

She said they were married in August, 1925, and after a trip to Florida he returned to an Indiana university to study civil engineering and she worked as a county nurse nearby to help pay his expenses. She was unable to earn sufficient funds to continue and returned to her home in Lockwood, N. Y., where he visited her in the fall of 1927 before deserting her, she testified. She came to Pittsburgh in February, 1929.

Islam Grotto Party To Entertain 4,000

Islam Grotto's Thanksgiving dance and card party will be held next Monday evening in the William Penn Hotel. Arrangements have been made for 4,000 members and Masonic friends. Dancing will be to music of two orchestras, and the balcony has been reserved for card tables. The affair is the first of a series of winter functions of the organization. Arthur G. Collins is general chairman.

Divorce Granted Bride Deserted At Altar

Immediately after the wedding the bridegroom left her to go home for his clothes and never returned, Helen E. Brown, 24, 3600 Perrysville avenue, testified in her suit for divorce from Edward Carlton Brown, 29, 7210 Meade street. The decree was granted by Judge Harry H. Rowand in Common Pleas Court.

They were married May 29, 1928, she said, and afterwards went to their respective homes, Brown saying he was going for his clothes and would return. He failed to keep his promise and later told her he did not wish to settle down, she said.

Letters From Girls Please Sun-Telegraph Doll Lady

I can see where I am going to make this a happy Christmas for hundreds of little girls in Pittsburgh and vicinity. My desk is just loaded down with coupons and letters asking about my new wonder doll "Tickletoes."

"Tickletoes" is so beautiful and does no many cute things that mere words will not describe her. So I have decided to send a beautiful colored set of pictures of "Tickletoes" to every little girl who sends in a coupon asking for information.

These pictures show how "Tickletoes" goes to sleep, how she can clasp her hands, bend her legs and arms, suck her thumbs and also show you how prettily she is dressed in organdies. "Tickletoes" isn't a little dolly—she's a big dolly for little girls. She is 21 inches tall—just as tall as this sheet of newspaper is long. And you'll see by the pictures she's a darling—just the kind of a doll you'll want for a playmate.

I am delighted with the spirit of the letters I am getting. Little Dorothy May Jenkins, of the Saybrook Apartments, Craft avenue, Oakland district, writes:

I am real anxious to own one of your dollies and if you will send me the details of how to earn one I will be glad to try. Love.

Here are the names of some of the other little girls who have asked me to send them information about "Tickletoes:" Dorothy Kreger, Marian Breen, Dorothy Hulbert, Norma Jean Howe, Jane Cook, Anna Belle Welling, Roberta Jane Weimer, Barbara Jane Rainkemyer, Bessie Hunter, Grace Mason, Eunice Margaret Barrett, Betty M. Balin, Marie Harrod and Mary Alice Hall.

Now little girls, don't wait. Get your coupon in the mail today and you'll get a letter from me right away. With best wishes to all my little friends from the

WOMAN WINNER IN TITLE HUNT

When a woman starts a thing she usually finishes it. At least this is true of Miss Gladys Gale Connor, of 151 Dewey avenue, Washington, Pa. Miss Connor is just $50 ahead today because she finished what she started. She has been named winner of the fourth prize in the first Ripley Title Hunt, conducted by the Sun-Telegraph.

Miss Connor's returns were all neatly drawn in pen and ink. The form of her answers was neat and convincing. Miss Connor said:

"I started the contest when ill in bed. It was so fascinating that I just forgot I was sick. I continued the contest and I'm glad I did."

The second Ripley Title Hunt, conducted by the Sun-Telegraph, is now in progress. Begin the contest at once. There are $1,500 in prizes to be awarded and there is always an opportunity for the diligent and resourceful.

Further, the information gained in the columns where the answers are displayed is as valuable as the prizes offered. If you have missed some of the drawings, obtain those copies from your newsdealer or the Sun-Telegraph.

Names of additional winners will be announced tomorrow.

YOU'D NEVER KNOW YOU HAD A COLD WITH VAPEX

Distress vanishes with just a few deep breaths of this war-time discovery

One minute you can be all stuffed up with a running nose and feeling miserable from a cold.

But after a few deep breaths of the delightful Vapex vapor, you'll scarcely believe you had a cold.

For Vapex brings prompt relief. Deep into the nose and throat it goes—clearing your head, opening your nose, making you feel refreshed and relieved.

And all you have to do is put a drop of Vapex on your handkerchief during the day and a drop at each end of your pillow at night.

Be wary when some one offers you a product that is "just as good as Vapex and cheaper." Vapex is approved by Good Housekeeping. Millions of bottles are sold yearly.

And after all, a single application of Vapex costs only 2c. The $1 bottle contains fifty applications. Ask for V-A-P-E-X and insist on obtaining it.

For Your Daughter

Daughter of Mrs. Victor H. Call, Route #4, Box 76, San Antonio, Texas

"My daughter Kathleen is fifteen years old. For the past three years she suffered with pains as many young girls do. One day we saw an advertisement about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the San Antonio Evening News. She has been taking it regularly and is now completely relieved and able to attend school every day. You may use this letter because another woman's letter first told us about your medicine."—Mrs. Victor H. Call.

Daughter of Mrs. Floyd Butcher, R #2, Gridley, Kansas

"My thirteen-year-old daughter Maxine was troubled with backache and pain when she came into womanhood. I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would help her because I used to take it myself at her age. Now she does not have to stay home from school, and her color is good, she eats well and does not complain of being tired. We are recommending the Vegetable Compound to other school girls who need it."—Mrs. Floyd Butcher.

WHEN FOOD SOURS . . .
Sweeten the Stomach instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless liquid; pleasant, efficient and harmless. But it kills excess acids. It has remained the standard with physicians for more than 50 years.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for over fifty years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c bottles—any druggist. The genuine is always a liquid—never made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips' on wrapper and bottle.

No need to forego RCA Radiola quality!

Fine tone . . . new features . . . low prices . . . all due to the genius and resources of the world's greatest radio organization. . . . $112.50 UP LESS RADIOTRONS

Model 82—A marvelous 9-circuit Super-Heterodyne, offering tone color control. Exquisitely finished walnut veneer cabinet. Folding doors, fitted with worked brass handles. $179.50, less Radiotrons. Also available with remote control at nominal extra cost.

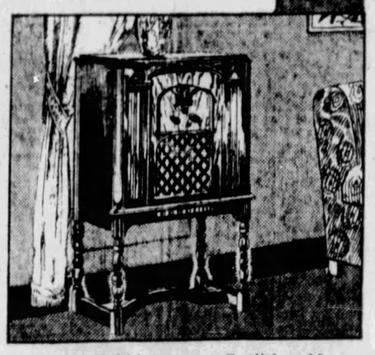
A radio is only as good as the brains which designed it. When you choose a set, it will pay you well to consider the organization which built it. If you do this, we are confident you will decide to own a Radiola.

RCA has long been the leader of the industry, the creator of practically every great advance in radio. You can always depend upon the world's greatest radio organization to offer you the finest radio entertainment...the newest features...the biggest values!

For example . . . in 1926 a Radiola Super-Heterodyne cost $570. Today, due to the skill and ingenuity of RCA engineers and production experts, an infinitely finer, far more beautiful set is yours for only $142.50!

You can't be sure you have found the purest tone, or the biggest value in a radio until you have seen the newest masterpieces of the world's greatest radio organization.

Model 48—The lowest priced high quality set in RCA Radiola history. A full-sized, full-powered, 7-tube, screen-grid radio in a trim, compact cabinet. $112.50 less Radiotrons.



Model 80—Which Senatore Guglielmo Marconi called "a great advance." A 9-tube, Super-Heterodyne, screen-grid, 9 tuned circuit radio. $142.50 less Radiotrons.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, INDIAN SINGER, SCREEN STAR ON RADIO BILL

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Authentic realism accounts for the major portion of the appeal of those sketches which count their auditioners in the millions.

Louis Reid

Legitimate local color is a persistent cry of the broadcasters. It is heeded but rarely. Considering those radio skits in which legitimate local color is predominant, "Amos 'n' Andy," "The Rise of the Goldbergs," "Hank Simmons Show Boat," "Sunday at Seth Parker's," it is strange the cry is not heeded more often.

Correll and Gosden did not blunder on to their characterizations of two bewildered Harlem cafe. They spent years visiting, chatting, fraternizing with happy-go-lucky Negro types, laboriously building up their knowledge of Amos 'an Andy until it had become almost instinctive.

Rise of Goldbergs" True to Life

Likewise, the success of "The Rise of the Goldbergs" can be largely attributed to the author's first-hand knowledge of the types and situations she is writing about. Mrs. Gertrude Berg draws her material from long observation of the teaming tenements of New York's lower East Side. She knows the speech, habits, traditions, sorrows and joys of the New York Jew. It is one of the few radio sketches which because of its authenticity was given a booking by the vaudeville poohbahs.

Phillips Lord, author of the Seth Parker, as well as the Uncle Abe and David skits, has but one rule as a radio writer—authenticity, first and last. In fact, he entered radio because he resented the hick characterizations of a rural burlesque which he happened to hear over the air one night.

George Frame Brown, who created the "Real Folks" scripts, also knows rural folk first hand. And he brings to his observations the trained insight of a veteran actor.

Authentic local color is becoming a dominent motive in radio drama. The notion that sketches could be presented haphazardly with little or no thought given to realism of scene or characterization began to disappear when the shadow of big business fell across broadcasting and commercial sponsors started their fierce competition to win the eardrums.

Those who listen week by week to the more successful sketches show an instinctive, sympathetic interest in the characters that march before the microphone. All types of the nation are now represented on the air, and the listener in Waterloo, Iowa, is able to have a true picture of the four corners of the country passing in review from his loudspeaker.

Failure of Radio Isolates Scientists

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The University of Michigan weather station on Mt. Evans, Greenland, is cut off from communication with the outside until next spring, according to Prof. William H. Hobbs, head of the geology department and leader of several expeditions to polar regions. Dr. Hobbs said the station can send out messages, but cannot receive, because of an accident to the receiving equipment. Radio station KDKA of Pittsburgh had been broadcasting special programs for the scientists at the station.

SUGAR TRUCKS FOUND, LOOTED

Two large trucks loaded with 12,000 pounds of sugar, which had been stolen last night from the supply house of W. S. Shomaker & Son, 839 Lockhart street, were recovered early today a few blocks from the scene of the theft.

T. Y. Shomaker, a member of the firm, discovered the robbery at 6 a. m. and notified police. A short time later a friend informed Shomaker that one of the trucks was at Preble and Columbus avenues. It was found there with most of the contents gone. Shomaker found the other truck, emptied, in Metropolitan street.

Police are hunting for a whisky plant in the vicinity, on the theory that the sugar was stolen by racketeers to make liquor. Shomaker placed the value of the cargo at more than $800.

Quarryman Struck By Blasted Rock Dies

AH! Pain Stops

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

Coxey Urges Loan Fund to Aid Idle

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(INS)—Jacob S. Coxey, 76-year-old "General" who twice has led armies of unemployed to Washington, said today what was needed in America was a $30,000,000,000 loan to jobless. He said the fund should be established by subscription and loaned without interest to unemployed.

New Vets' Hospital Site Decided Upon

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A site for a new 500-bed hospital to be recommended for the National Military Homes here, was selected by Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, and George H. Wood, former president of the board of managers of National Military homes, with local officials.

The new hospital would replace the present structure, erected more than 60 years ago and now inadequate to accommodate the needs of the home.

Statler
MEANS MORE THAN just "Hotel"

THERE'S such genuine thoughtfulness for your comfort — and so many conveniences in all our houses — that each stay in a Statler is an extremely agreeable experience.

Awaiting your requests for service are attentive employees, trained, courteous and helpful. In a wide variety of restaurants is food of the highest quality, skillfully prepared and graciously served.

Rooms are colorful — furnished in the modern mode. And every one boasts its private bathroom — circulating ice water — a luxuriously comfortable bed with an inner-spring hair mattress — bed-head reading lamp — and full-length mirror.

Then every Statler room assures you of comforts you don't usually associate with hotels: such as radio reception, a newspaper under your door every morning, and access to a fine library. These conveniences, backed by Statler Service and the Statler policy of your satisfaction guaranteed, all combine to make "Statler mean more than just 'hotel'."

CHENEY BROTHERS

...famous makers of exquisite silks, say

"We recommend Palmolive Beads for washing fine silks"

Laboratory tests of great silk manufacturers agree with findings of Committee of 17

CHENEY . . . for 92 years famous maker of famous silks. Silks so exquisitely lovely that the name "Cheney" has become synonymous with sheer artistry in silk weaving! Surely no one is in a better position to advise women on the care of fine silks.

"For years," says Cheney, "silk manufacturers have washed their pure silk skeins with soaps containing olive oil. Because, they find, such soaps dissolve and cleanse at lower temperatures and keep silk threads soft and elastic.

Cheney tests Palmolive Beads

"We have submitted Palmolive Beads to both chemical and actual washing tests and find that their olive and palm oils plus their bead form, result in a product which dissolves and cleanses and rinses away at low, safe temperatures.

"We are especially interested in the last because for years we have emphasized the need of a soap that will rinse out completely in cooler water. We recommend Palmolive Beads for the home laundering of even the most delicate washable fabrics."

Agree with Committee of 17

All the great silk manufacturers agree with Cheney in declaring Palmolive Beads ideal for washing silks. Thus another great voice of authority is added to that of the Committee of 17 . . . a group of distinguished women who met recently at the Ritz Hotel, New York, and watched Palmolive Beads tested in comparison with chip and flake soaps. So superior did these tests prove Palmolive Beads to be that the Committee of 17 enthusiastically voted it "the ideal soap for silks." You will agree with them when you use Palmolive Beads. Order today from your dealer.

The Committee of 17

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN
Radio Editor.

DO YOU KNOW—

THAT Marthin Provensen at WTAM, Cleveland, is a brother of Merluf Provensen, the NBC announcer at Washington? Marthin often chimes in with station announcements after his brother has concluded a network program.

THAT Kelvin Keech passes up all desserts and sweets?

THAT "Believe It or Not" Ripley has learned to make his movie shorts in six hours, a record time, because of his radio experience? It usually takes 15 hours to complete a movie short.

THAT parlor gymnasts who impress their friends by touching the floor without bending their knees lay themselves open to rheumatism or kidney trouble? So sez Arthur Bagley, director of radio health exercises.

THAT whistling in a broadcasting station is regarded ill luck?

THAT the "Radio Rascals Orchestra" on KQV is made up of 10 children under 12 years?

THAT Billy Hughes (Camel Hour tonight) stands 6 feet 2? Swims like a fish, plays golf, likes football, always ready to eat, has no time for white lights, strums banjo. Born in Red Bank, N. J., and graduated from Rutgers.

THAT when Lloyd C. Thomas made movies of the KDKA staff on the William Penn Hotel balcony recently, no one (not even the "sweet sixteen") expressed fright at the din and distance of traffic 20 stories below? The balcony has a ledge three feet high.

NEWS FROM HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM AND LOCAL AMUSEMENT EVENTS

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19

All of Chester Morris' family are connected with the stage.

Adrian, one of the Morris boys, recently played here in "The Last Mile" and since then has been signed by Columbia for a part in "Dirigible."

Chester Morris

Wilhelmina, a sister was seen here last season in the coast production of "The Criminal Code."

The mother, who was Etta Hawkins, stage comedienne, has retired.

All of the family now live in Hollywood save for Chester's brother, Gordon, who is a playwright and clings to Broadway.

Only a few years back, the entire clan, again with the exception of Gordon, toured the country in a vaudeville skit written by William Morris and called "All the Horrors of Home." The father's career dates back to the days when he followed Maurice Barrymore as leading man for Mme. Modjeska.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL

Today's note of optimism is sounded by Dick Weil, the writer, who says he's between salaries, but thinks that everything will be all right in the film business if it can hold out until after the Olympic games.

MUSSOLINI AS PRODUCER

The Italian government has taken up the business of making pictures and has reached an arm out to Hollywood to put Lonnie D'Orsa under contract. D'Orsa has been Edmund Goulding's assistant for many years. He'll sail on December 11 for Rome, where he'll help produce films in French, Italian and English.

WAYNE RETURNS

The next episode in John Wayne's career will be the leading male role in the Fox picture that was to have been called "Waiting at the Church."

Wayne was the hero of Raoul Walsh's "The Big Trail," and has been making personal appearances with this picture in the Middle West. He was recalled from Denver for his next film assignment.

Opposite the young actor will be Virginia Cherrill, who has grown up with Charlie Chaplin's comedy, "City Lights." Seymour Felix, former Broadway dance director, will make his megaphone debut in "Waiting at the Church," or whatever it now is called. Most of Fox's younger set of players are cast in the film. Frankie Albertson and David Rollins both have parts.

GILBERT GETS BREAK

When Jack Gilbert starts work on "A Gentleman's Fate," he is to be surrounded by no end of pretty femininity.

It is by the prolific Ursula Parrott, whose "Ex-Wife" and "Strangers May Kiss" already have been purchased by M. G. M.

Children's Matinees Of Passion Play

Two special children's matinees of the Freiburg Passion Play will be given in Syria Mosque at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and 9 o'clock Saturday morning. The Thursday performance is in charge of the Allegheny County Sabbath School Association and the Lutheran Inner Mission Society and that of Saturday is in charge of the Rev. Robert W. Woods. Reduced rates will be in effect.

But After a BLOOD Test What?

That's the question that should interest every sufferer. The microscope tells a truthful story—the Laboratory tests are a matter of science—but what of THE TREATMENT? How soon can HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE be lowered to normal? Can the terrible pain of stomach troubles be relieved? Will the treatment stop the rheumatic pains racking the muscles and will the nerve-breaking insomnia yield? Will unsightly skin ailments disappear under treatment? Can the workingman and his family afford these treatments? All these questions find happy answers in the health service offered by this Institute.

Symptoms of a faulty blood stream we are successfully correcting: Anemia, Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, High Blood Pressure, Neuritis, Nervous Disorders, Skin Disorders—Psoriasis, Eczema, Acne, Impure Blood—Stomach Troubles. Over 35,000 patients successfully treated at this Laboratory.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Celebrity

A buzz arose as you came in tonight,
The women turned and whispers filled the air;
The anxious waiters hovered into sight
To minister your wants with tender care;
The girl you had was quite a pretty trick—
And most enchanted with the part she played.
It isn't very hard to have your pick.

When you have wow'd the mob and made the grade,
Well, drink it in—it's nectar while it lasts—
And do your best to keep a level head;
For Broadway is a place with many casts—
You're big tonight. Tomorrow you are dead!

You ask me, kid, how I should chance to know?
Why, I was in your shoes—a year ago!

—Meteor.

The Retort Proper

Before Ina Claire ankled up an altar with John Gilbert she got the well-known Hollywood freeze from the think-they're greats. After the sealing, however, Grace Kingsley, an interviewer, gave her a tumble.

"How does it feel," purred Miss Kingsley, "to be married to a star?"

"A what?" snarled Ina icily.

"A Star," cooed Miss K.

"Why don't you ask Mr. Gilbert?" barked Ina.

Oop!

Lew Cody is terrible with his sassy answers, too, according to up-lifted eyebrow witnesses. One of Broadway's hard-to-get-along-with leading ladies approached Cody at a party in Hollywood and asked him:

"Why don't you like me?"

"My dear," my-dear'd Lew, "I like you better than anyone else does here."

The New Version

"Is his column good today?"

"I don't know. I only read the first 11 paragraphs."

Drama

At the Friday matinee of "Lysistrata," the proceeds of which went to the Actors' Fund of America, Daniel Frohman made a talk about Ernest Truex, the star.

"Ernest Truex," said the beloved Frohman, "is a grand person. We all love him for his fine character, his exceptional talent and his great love for his wife. Their marriage and devotion is one of the finer things in show business."

Two minutes later Truex received the news of his good wife's death.

A Form of Criticism

Take it from Judge Jean Nathan, the one big ambition of nine out of every ten American playwrights is to "get over the footlights." The one big ambition of nine out of every ten audiences is exactly the same.

Question

Dream castles are such fragile things,
Spun like a wispy gown.
I wonder why they rock the world
When they come tumbling down. . . .

—Frances Elliott Kane

Aw!

Boys Will Be Bores

At this tardy hour a complaint is made by a local contemporary that our gossip drivel is a copy of his ideas. We are living off his "brains," he avers. However, in reply to finger-pointers, the very odd McIntyre has from time to time also shrieked that he has been writing along the same lines for years. This is probably so.

Mr. Hannen Swaffer, the London columnist and critic, though, rates your attention before any of the others. Mr. Swaffer in 1927 columned in part:

"After all, I suppose I am the only survivor of the old school of journalism, this although I am only 47. I was the first to stress the personal note in my writings."

Therefore, all other complainants simply will have to take their turn in line.

Add Credos

Among others who waste a lotta time hating New Yorkers is H. Nortman, of Bayonne, N. J., who writes in part:

"Do you know I have a pet aversion—I hate New Yorkers? They all have an individual affect that implies: 'Get out of my way—I'm from New York!'"

I understand. Take these typical New Yorkers like Earl Carroll, of Pittsburgh; Harry Thaw, of Pittsburgh; Percy Hammond, of Cadiz, O.; O. O. McIntyre, of Gallipolis, O.; Peggy Joyce, of Norfolk, Va.; Texas Guinan, of Waco, Texas, and Harold Ross, the editor of The New Yorker, of Aspen, Colo.

Verwell, Sir

"Dear Walter," special deliveries G. H., "your comment about the Myrna Darby funeral not being paid for yet is not quite accurate. I cannot, however, tell you what prompted that undertaker to so tell you. I heard him give you that dope at the fights the other night, but I thought you knew better, considering that at the time Myrna died you yourself paid tribute to a fellow who came forward with the coin when all other 'pals' and Ziegfeld stage door callers had failed her.

"He never wanted any publicity, Walter, and he probably wouldn't want it now, so keep him out of it. When the real Broadway boys get generous they never seek the spotlight. At any rate, 10 will bring you 50 you're wrong on this, and some 4 o'clock in the morning when I [illegible] you I'm going to fill a column for you about this same guy who went broke taking care of men and women around here who gave him a headache and a [illegible]. You [illegible] what I mean—Just For the Records—as you always say."

FACULTY VETS JOIN TECH FETE

Seven members of the original faculty, which met first classes in 1900, will take part in the joint celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, and the birthday of Andrew Carnegie next Tuesday.

They are Prof. George H. Follows, of the department of commercial engineering; Prof. Henry Hornbostel, of the department of agriculture, and designer of the campus buildings; Dr. Joseph H. James, head of the department of chemistry; Prof. Charles C. Leeds, head of the department of works management; William Pfouts, head instructor in pattern making; Prof. Willibald Trinks, head of the department of mechanical engineering, and Prof. Alexander J. Wurts, former head of the department of electrical engineering, and now chairman of the student welfare committee.

The principal speaker will be Raymond B. Fosdick, lawyer and publicist, of New York. President Thomas S. Baker will preside.

The procession of students and faculty will form on the Schenley Park campus, and, led by the colors and the famed Kiltie Band, will march to Music Hall.

Following Fosdick's address the student symphony orchestra of 70 pieces, under the direction of J. Vick O'Brien, head of the department of music, will play "From Foreign Lands," a composition of Moszkowski.

WHOLE FAMILY KONJOLA "FANS"

Day by Day, Wherever It Is Tried, Konjola Is Piling Up Victory Upon Victory.

Is it any wonder that seven million bottles of Konjola were used in two years? Not at all, for Konjola wins, time after time, even when all else tried has failed.

MRS. H. LEWIN

Read what Mrs. H. Lewin, 505 Marie Avenue, Avalon, Pittsburgh, says of this modern medicine for the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and for rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Then visit the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, this city, and hear all about the medicine that has given relief to hundreds of thousands, many of whom had about given up hope. But right now read the grateful words of Mrs. Lewin:

"About a year ago I began to have trouble with my stomach. After eating suffering began, and gas pains and indigestion made me a nervous wreck. I was rundown; had no energy and had frequent headaches. My father-in-law had used Konjola, and recommended it to me. I used it for six weeks, and I can eat anything; sleep well and can do my work again. We have a large family, and practically everyone of them has taken Konjola since it did so much for my father-in-law and me."

Konjola is for the aged and the infant. That is why Konjola is a household word in tens of thousands of American homes.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting the public and telling the amazing story of Konjola. Konjola is sold in all Dow stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

GANGSTER GIRL

By JACK LAIT

Freeman Demands $100,000 For Alice's Freedom

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Polack Annie, notorious gangster girl, flees Chicago and seeks the protection of New York's biggest racketeer, "Silk" Freeman. Freeman is fascinated by her beauty and provides an expensive hotel suite for her. At a night club the admiration of the young and wealthy Tommy Gillespie for Annie arouses Freeman's jealousy. Tom learns of Freeman's plan to get in on his father's trucking business and vows to fight it. He enlists the aid of "Cyclone" Tim McCloskey, leader of a tough river gang. McCloskey's men man the Gillespie trucks and a free-for-all fight ensues when the longshoremen refuse to load the trucks. Freeman has Annie make an appointment with young Tom to "put him on the spot." Annie meets Tom and he suggests that she leave Freeman. Freeman kidnaps Tom's fiancee, Alice Schuyder.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XII.

The plug-ugly who was guarding Alice Schuyder in Silk Freeman's windowless apartment turned from the door and pushed it shut. He whipped a handkerchief from his pocket and walked toward Alice, a leer on his face. She wondered what was to happen to her now.

"You won't get sore, sister, if I put this around your eyes," he said, as he laid his dirty hand on her shrinking, trim shoulder. Then, with a quick movement, he twisted the grimy rag around her face, over her eyes, and deftly tied it. Next he caught her two wrists and carried them back of her and tied them tightly.

She heard him shuffle off and open the door. She heard a few words spoken in an understone, and then a voice at her side:

"Don't worry, Miss Schuyder—I want you to telephone your father."

A hand delicately touched her arm and assisted her from the bed. She stumbled over the bare floor, and then her feet felt the soft texture of a deep carpet, down a long corridor. She was led to a chair, and she sat down. She heard the slight click of a telephone being taken off the hook, and the cold receiver was placed to her ear.

"Give her the number of your home," said the voice at her side, a stern, mandatory voice.

Alice called the number. She heard the phone ring twice and then the voice of her father.

"Hello, father! Something terrible has happened to me. I was on my way to the hosptial to see Tom, and some men kidnaped me. I am being held somewhere—"

"Gimme that phone" demanded the voice. The receiver was taken from her ear. Then Alice heard:

Freeman's Demands

"Hello, Mr. Schuyder—what your daughter has just told you is true. She is being held. I'll make it short and snappy. This is why: Tall Tom Gillespie has been steppin' out of his territory. You're his banker, his backer, and you know what I mean. He has been playing politics and usin' rough tactics and grabbin' other people business."

There was a pause as the other spoke.

"What do I want you to do? Simply this. I'm holdin' your girl for one hundred grand—pardon me, one hundred thousand dollars. I don't need the money, but I want it as a bond. An' I want you to tell Gillespie that part of the bargain is that he gives up thirty-three-and-a-third of his trucking business—that he got from the people I represent through his political scheming and his blackjack methods—get me?

From the other end came a cacaphony of verbal staccato.

"Don't threaten me, Mr. Schuyder. I got the upper hand in this matter. You'll do as I say, or I'll do what you don't want me to do — with your daughter. She's safe enough now. I'll call you at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and I want you to have the cash—no marked money, and in little bills. I'll tell you what to do then, and no double-crossing—you'll be trailed every minute and when you come along with the dough okay and square the girl will be there."

He pressed the telephone into Alice's hands.

"Talk to him," he ordered. "Tell him he'll get his dough back in a year if he keeps faith. Tell him if he don't come through—it's you!"

Loses Composure

Alice lost her composure for the first time. As the receiver was pressed to her ear she said in a tremulous voice:

"Hello, father! I don't know what this is all about, but for God's sake do something. I can't stand this. Give them anything—"

She listened for a moment and then jerked her head away from the receiver.

"My father said that he would expect your call at 10 in the morning. Now what are you going to do with me?"

"Nothin'," came the same chilly, dispassionate voice. "Hang up . . . order what you want and don't worry about the expense. You're in a high class place, but you don't know it. And don't bother about anything—now."

The man helped her from the chair and back over the unseen passage. She was pushed gently onto the bed and she sat there in a daze. She heard the door close and then reopen to the heavy footsteps of that man, who removed the bandage from her eyes, and then untied her hands.

"Anything I can do for you, sister?" he asked.

"Get out of my sight!" screamed Alice and fell on the bed and pillowed her head and wept—for the first time in her life.

Annie was "in the hay," almost as asleep as she made out to be. He coughed as a hail to her. She opened part of one eye.

"Well, your boy friend hasn't come through to you yet, eh? Before we bump him off I'd like to have you get as much lowdown as you can on what their plans are—or would like to be. I have my own ways of shaping theirs, but any kinks we can straighten out is that much in the bag."

Annie Doubtful

"Well, Silk, you see—you told me to hook him so he'll go where I say and do what I say. I can't talk business to him right off the jump—he might get suspicious. Besides, he's too busy tellin' me how gorgeous I am to be takin' up such worldly matters as trucks an' stevedorin'."

"Wha'd you tell him about me?

"Oh, not much."

"Wasn't he int'rested? Didn' he wanta know what I was like, an'——"

"He was more int'rested in findin' out what I was like. I told him I was a stranger here, hadn' known you long, an' didn' know a damn thing about your business—that I was strictly on the loose and pepped up to be good-timed an' paid some important attention to."

"We put over a fast one t'night. Sit up an' take notice as I got that Schuyder twist over in my hut, right this minute."

Annie sat up with a jerk.

"Who? You've got what?"

"A couple o' my hustlers grabbed her off t'night an' brought her in. She don' know where she is. An' a few minutes ago I drove a spike way up into Mr. Tall Tom Gillespie an' his big brave boy an' his backer an' banker, Robert Schuyder. We'll show 'em what musclin' in means. An' a hundred grand for gravy, besides."

Polack Annie thought a moment.

"Silk," she said, then, "far be it from a dumb dame like me to teach you your rackets. But this time I think you took in too much territory."

Freeman pitched his cigaret out of the window.

Silk Is Confident

"Maybe, B. B., maybe. I heard Goldie Gorio say that once—so he paralyzed Chicago, hi-jacked Central Police Station and sprung me, made a sucker out of the Mayor an' a chump out o' the Chief—until.

"So they put his whole gang on the spot and then they knocked off Goldie——"

"They knocked off Goldie? You did!"

"I never would of if what he brought on himself hadn't o' come off. So lemme tell you—you're gonna bring the whole town o' New York down on your head."

"I'll bring the whole town o' New York down at my feet. I own politics. Anybody I can't jack up I can bang off. I'm sittin' on top o' the underworld! This here Schuyder job'll never get in the papers. An' all concerned'll come clean—an' quick. On'y the insiders'll be wise. An' this'll soften 'em up for future op'rations. Kidnapin' Alice Schuyder an' killin' Tommy Gillespie—"

"Now," interfered Annie, "to that part of it there's some sense. What could be more nach'ral? You're racketin' his ol' man, he bristles up an' shows fight—what else could he expec'? But that girl—I sure ain't her mouthpiece or nothin' like that—but that's ridin' raw. An' if it ever DOES get to the papers—wow!"

Freeman laughed.

"On second thought," he said, "I think I will tip off the papers. We need a little free advertisin'."

Woman He Chooses an Expression of Man's Character, Says Fay King

By FAY KING.

Single young men who are free to move about in various degrees of social activity know a number of girls.

They choose for their companions of the evening the girl who is best suited to what the evening promises.

The showy girl, who does him much credit among his men friends when the evening is to be a bit gay, is not the one he would choose when the engagement takes him into more critical circles.

When a young man thinks of marriage he usually takes into consideration the approval his choice will meet with among his business associates and their wives.

Next to a man's integrity in business, nothing expresses his character so much as the woman he chooses.

Madge Starts Her Shopping Tour With Mary

Mary's perceptions are too keen to hope to keep anything secret from her when she has even a slight hint to set her mental processes to working. The door of the Underwood suite had scarcely closed behind us when she grasped my arm, and I saw that her face had lost its happy enthusiasm brought there by the prospect of her shopping tour for evening attire, and was drawn with anxiety.

"Auntie Madge," she said tensely, "what did Mrs. Underwood mean by saying that about an old fumer. Is Mr. Veritzen—"

I released my arm with a forced little laugh, and, taking hers, swung her into a recess of the hall.

"Mary," I said, smiling at her, "you are too young to have heard this story, so I am going to inflict it upon you, hoary as it is. When we were campaigning for suffrage, a young and enthusiastic worker at the suffrage booth of a village carnival tried to present the cause to a drab-looking woman who, with five children tugging at her, was looking idly at the pictures which formed part of the exhibit. After the young worker finished with the appeal, 'But don't you want to have a voice in the laws which govern you?' the woman replied firmly: 'No'm, I do not want no vote. What my husband wants I should know, he reads to me at night out of the paper while I'm washing up the dishes.' I wish just for this once."

Mary laughed unexpectedly, and I saw that my ruse had succeeded.

"You wish I'd play the role of the Griselda wife while you appear as the omniscient husband. All right, I won't ask a single question, but I warn you if that old—viper—is going to be anywhere in my vicinity tonight, you'd better hide all nail files, pocket-knives and scissors."

I laughed genuinely this time with the comfortable little feeling of a danger skirted and we went on downstairs and took a taxi to a shop which I knew specialized in evening gowns and wraps at prices within the reach of people not possessing Park avenue purses. It was this knowledge which enabled me to give my husband's young niece the adjuration which I knew expresses the secret dream of almost every woman.

"You are not to look at the price tag on any of these things—or even think of it," I said when we had been given seats before the show cases filled with evening wraps and dresses of many hues. "I'll attend to that part of it. You're simply to decide which you like best, and I'll drop a word or two if you select anything too old for you. I want you to be a subdeb."

Mary's eyebrows contracted ever so slightly, and I hastily amended my speech. I knew what was in the back of her mind. The dresses and wraps for schoolgirls were not nearly so alluring as those for the girls a year or two older. "Please do not consider that last speech seriously," I said laughingly. "You may be any age you wish." The saleswoman who had moved to the showcase after a swift appraising glance at Mary came toward us with a flame-colored gown of tulle.

"This would suit her coloring," she said to me.

I nodded, with the secret hope that Mary would not agree with her. I knew that Mary would be a striking picture in the flame-colored dress, but I have an unspoken dislike for the color, due I suppose to the fact that brunettes select it for evening wear with disastrous sartorial effects for most of them.

Mary looked at me hesitatingly.

"I do not care for flame color," she said, "unless you, Auntie Madge—"

"It is the one color I hoped you wouldn't choose," I answered. "On everything else I have a perfectly unbiased mind—except black. I do hope you haven't what your Uncle Dicky would call a 'yen' for black. So many young girls have."

"But I'm not one of them," Mary declared promptly. "I ought to go in mourning for my sins, I suppose, but I don't intend to yet awhile. No, black's out. I'd like to look at that adorable green over there, though."

The saleswoman brought the "adorable green," followed it with an equally "adorable" silver and blue, a "marvelous" rose and "perfectly sweet" orchid, and a number of other gowns upon which Mary bestowed her repertoire of adjectives in turn, but without making a selection. I furtively consulted my wristwatch, and realized that we had but a half hour more, and that we had made no progress whatever. I would not spoil the child's naive joy with any word of protest, but I was patently relieved when upon the saleswoman's return from an inner room bearing over her arm what was patently a dress not shown to every buyer, Mary exclaimed in delight: "That's my dress! I feel it. And"—her voice dropped—"it's Noel's favorite color."

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

The Continental Method

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it more proper when eating to use both fork and knife, as is the custom in European countries, than using the fork only, as most people do in this city?

H. D.

Either is correct—just as we prefer. To me the non-fork-shifting method of eating is vastly preferable, for I think it is less fussy, less full of unnecessary motions, and more convenient, once you get used to it. And it takes no time to get used to it, even if you haven't been brought up to use it.

It's amazing, too, how this non-fork-shifting form of eating is gaining in popularity in this country. Have you noticed it?

Christmas Greetings

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like very much to send a Christmas card to an old man friend of mine, but I don't know how I should sign my name to it, as he does not know that I am married and has never met the man I married.

J. C. W.

On the front of the card sign your name as you were known to him—"With best wishes and Christmas greetings, Grace"—and then, on the back of the card, write a bit of a note telling him your name now.

Tell It to Sally

By SALLY MARTIN

Are All the Modern Maidens Who Dress in Chiffon Trifles Dangerous Temptresses?

Do Morals Depend on Clothes—And are ladies who wear sun back suits 'n' chiffon sox making it impossible for Johnny to be a good boy?

A Big He-Man, who signs himself "Kinkajou," says they do and they are. According to him, a Sabre-Tooth Tiger, stalking the gentle gazelle, has nothing on Miss 1930, out to ruin the shy, idealistic Modern Male—who wouldn't start a petting party on a bet . . . If she didn't demand one.

And what is a poor boy to do, he asks, with big gulps of self-pity, when one of these huzzies, sizzling with Wicked Allure, gives him the glad-eye as she passes?

It was Othello who began this brawl. He barged into this department to tell the world that men expected to play their women wild—but to marry 'em sweet and unsullied. We'd heard that broadcast before, and we handed him the heavy razz. Whereupon Kinkajou busted into a lot of mean language in his defense.

"My Dear Sally Martin:

"You do very wrong to ridicule 'Othello's' very sensible letter. He expresses the correct viewpoint of most men. And why not? So long as there seems to be two kinds of women, why shouldn't the men play 'em both?

"In fact, it's practically impossible not to. Men are only human, and in their modern thirst for popularity, the women go out of their way to tempt them. In desperation, perhaps, they have resorted to the last frontiers of savagery, and they proceed, with vim and vigor, to undress themselves to tempt us.

"We're not ogres, and we're willing to respect those women who wear decent clothes and demand respect. And even, in our chivalry, we sometimes respect those who have no claim to it. And to those beyond the pale, we give their own desires.

"If girls do not want 'damaged goods' why do they go out of their way to create it? In our dreams of the Ideal, we are not troubled by this bugaboo of 'petting.' In these dreams we want a beautiful companion to talk to, to comfort us when we're tired and forlorn, and to respect us. But we can and will give these girls the petting if they want it . . . and, believe me, they do!

"'Fashion' decrees that woman possess 'experience' these days, and she attempts to secure this veneer of knowledge by the easiest way . . . she tempts men to take liberties with her. Petting is synonymous with her character.

"If women persist in making it impossible for us men to live up to our highest ideals, they'll have to take what they have created themselves . . . shop-worn stuff.

"And if we men have to accept damaged goods, certainly we must not be expected to keep ourselves undefiled and pure for but empty dreams.

"Dare you print this, unexpurgated? I will write more later, if this should show women the error of their ways, and start them writing. But I want to say in closing, that if you want to clean up these modern morals, clean up indecent modern dress, and teach women modesty.

"KINKAJOU II."

Oh, yeah?

Well, how about you growing a backbone, and learning how to resist these Shebas who threaten your beautiful ideals? Why lay it all on the ladies? It takes two to make the world safe for decency, and that job is just as much up to you as it is up to Sally-in-Our-Alley.

I'll admit there are plenty of hot mamas running around these diggings . . . but there are also plenty of nice gals, despite your moans 'n' yaps . . . and it's perfectly plain that these nice gals are not panting to be petted, or they wouldn't be crashing into this department to start a two-fisted fight on the subject. Which kind you travel with is up to you, Big Boy, and nobody else!

As for clothes wrecking Modern Morals . . . tell me another! That one went out with the Dodo. As a matter of fact, Miss 1930 dresses more sensibly and healthfully than women have dressed for hundreds of years. What if we do know she has knees? A knee is nothing but just another joint, and if it has some fearful significance to you, that's just your bad luck, and you'd better get over it.

Clothes don't make morals, or break 'em. Naked savages of the jungles have just as strict moral laws as we do . . . and they live up to 'em just as well as we do . . . and sometimes a lot better!

Your morals are up to yourself, and nobody else!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, November 20

A progressive and inspiring day is the forecast based upon the auspicious angles of the luminaries, assisted by the benign and gracious Venus, orb of beauty, splendor, pleasure and harmony in powerful aspect with Luna. It is a time for forging ahead especially in employment, where favors preferment or advancement should be sought.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of advancement and favor from the hands of those in places of authority and influence, which should be sought with confidence. The personal equation largely enhances these prospects.

A child born on this day should be talented, efficient, popular, sociable and well fitted for a successful and happy life.

∴ The Marry-Go-Round ∴

BY HELEN ROWLAND

The Women He Plays Around With

Telling a man "how to choose a wife" is a waste of energy and good white paper. Telling him how to choose a dinner partner or a dance partner would be much more to the point.

A man doesn't CHOOSE a wife. He just snatches one, at random, when the whim or the mood happens to seize him, and the winds of Fate are blowing him toward the altar.

But choosing the kind of women he plays around with is the vital thing. And, it is right here, on the primrose path, that many a man makes his first step toward marital unhappiness.

If you keep on jay-walking through traffic, it is only a question of whether a taxicab, a street car, or a truck will get you. And, if you keep on playing around with the wrong sort of women, it is only a question of whether a gold-digger, a butterfly, a moron or a hard-boiled egg will marry you.

A man doesn't walk deliberately into marriage with his eyes wide open; he just stumbles into it, or skids into it, or is shoved into it, when he is off his guard, or in a softened mood, or feeling sorry for himself.

And the woman he marries is the one who happens to be his little playmate of the hour—the woman who happens to be the nearest at hand, at the psychological moment.

To some modern women, marriage is becoming just an "incident" in life; but to a man it has always been an accident. It is just something which happens to him, like catching a cold or slipping on the ice. It should be listed among the "casualties."

* * *

"Chance, caprice and propinquity are the little gods of love,—and the greatest of these is propinquity. A man marries the kind of woman he PLAYS AROUND with! Yet he is as careless in choosing these as he is in selecting an olive from the dish or a carnation for his coat-lapel.

A man is very discriminating and meticulous in choosing his MEN friends. He won't consort with a rotter or a grafter or a mucker or an inferior. His men friends must be thoroughbreds, clean, fine, decent, honorable and in his own class.

Yet he will spend all his youth playing around with any cheap half-witted, underbred doll, who amuses him—and then groan at "Fate," when he wakes up to find himself paying alimony to a lady racketeer, or eating breakfast opposite something that gives him a headache.

The day has passed when men divided women into two classes: good women and bad women—playmates and lifemates. Women, like pickles, come mixed these days—and a man must do his own assorting.

Knowing his own weakness, a man, even more than a woman, should be awfully careful in choosing his "playmates." Even more careful than he is in choosing his cravats or his golf-clubs. Because he can exchange a golf-club or get rid of a cravat by giving it to the janitor. But, once he marries the wrong woman, not even a kind-hearted janitor will take her off his hands.

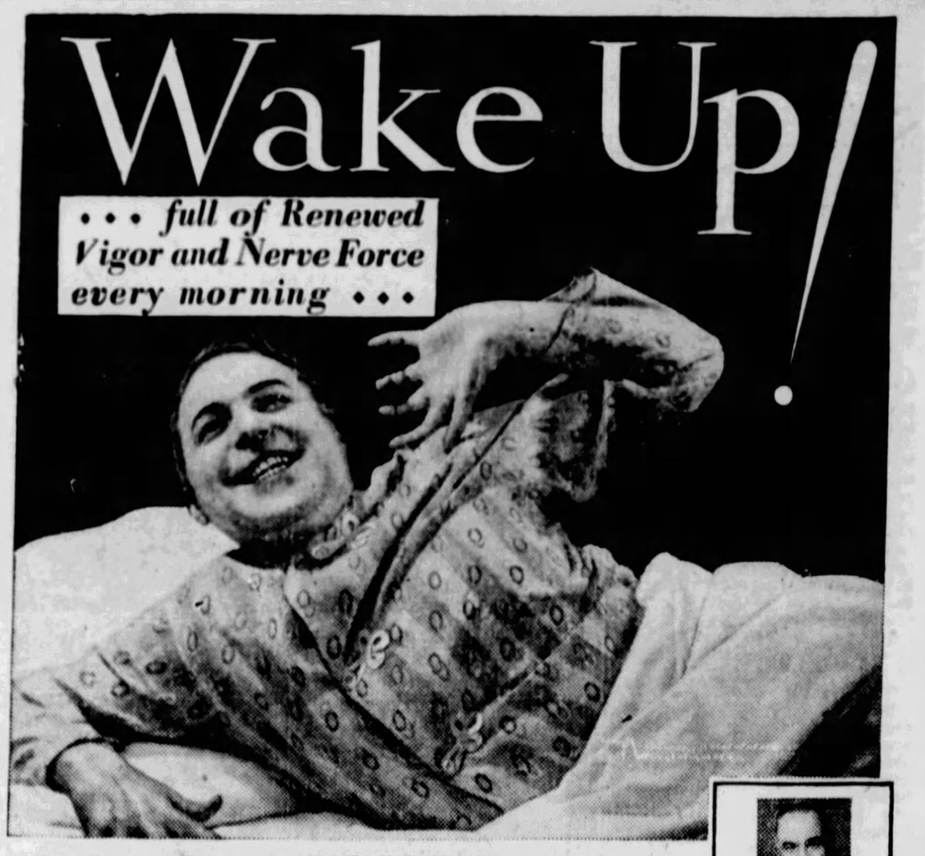
Wake Up!

• • • full of Renewed Vigor and Nerve Force every morning • • •



J. B. Smith of Michigan, says: "My wife has been nervous for years, and at night just could not rest or sleep. After taking Effervescent NERVINE Tablets she is able to sleep like a child. We want to thank you for the wonderful relief you brought to our house."

Relax Tense "NERVES" at Night

Enjoy Sound, Restful, Invigorating Sleep

Do you greet the morning with a smile? Do you open your eyes to the new day with that joyous feeling of renewed power and vigor that comes only when you have slept sound and rested well?

Surely you know how sleep benefits the body—but do you know how serious the loss of sleep is . . . what destructive effect it has on your health and happiness?

In most cases, sleeplessness is caused by nervousness. Tense, overworked "NERVES" mean a sleepless night ahead . . . turning, tossing, frenzied, wakeful hours of mental unrest when you need sleep. Are you one of the thousands of people whose overworked "NERVES" keep you awake at night? Then here's a new delightful and harmless way to quiet your "NERVES" and get refreshing relaxation and rest.

When "NERVES" keep you awake—just drop a Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablet into a glass of water before you go to bed. Watch it bubble up like sparkling spring water—then drink it. In a few minutes your irritated nervous system is soothed — tense "NERVES" relax and nature brings you sound, restful sleep so that you wake up in the morning completely refreshed.

You will marvel at the effective relief you get from this harmless, delightful Effervescent drink—just like thousands of people do who suffer with "NERVES" at night.

Dr. Miles' NERVINE is made in both Effervescent Tablets and Liquid form. For 50 years Dr. Miles' NERVINE (in liquid form) has brought grateful relief to thousands of nervous people. Now this same time-tested formula is also offered in handy Effervescent Tablets. In the tablets the NERVINE formula is combined with bicarbonate of soda and citric acid—which tend to correct hyper-acidity—a frequent cause of nervousness.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

DR. COPELAND

Last summer we entertained at our home two sisters, old friends of ours. There were other guests, so the table was delightfully crowded.

You know what a lot of chaffing and laughing takes place when congenial friends meet at dinner. Everything is made the subject of jest and merriment.

One of the sisters I mentioned was positively the most deliberate eater I ever met. She was always the last of the group to finish a course and, since some of the young people were eager always to get away for other pleasures, you can imagine the teasing this good lady received.

All this did not ruffle our friend one particle. "I honor my food," she said. Invariably, when urged to hurry, the reply was: "No; I honor my food."

Do you know that statement impressed me greatly.

If we would honor the food and honor the meal we would be better off by a great deal. We have been taught to ask God's blessing on the food. After giving thanks for it really we are inconsistent if we slight or bolt the meal. We should dignify the occasion, give respect to what we eat—in short, honor our food.

It isn't fair to the good housewife to rush through the dishes she has prepared in the hot kitchen. Many a mother must feel sad when a particularly choice combination is tossed into the stomach of the family.

Deliberation in eating is largely a matter of habit. Too often "gobbling" the food is the result of bad training. The children must be taught to eat as they should.

Let no one forget that digestion begins in the mouth. Much of what we eat is starchy in its nature. To care for starch properly there should be mixed with it a quantity of saliva. To guarantee this mixture there must be thorough chewing.

Really it is a grave mistake to bolt the food. The practice leads to indigestion.

Unconsciously, I used the correct words, "grave mistake." Carlyle, you will recall, said, "man digs his grave with his teeth." Bad eating habits have filled many graves.

We will do well to follow the example of my friend. When we learn to honor our food we shall have better health.

Answers to Health Queries

B. B. Q.—Is it dangerous to use a deodorant to check perspiration?

2—Is it possible to reduce by taking Epsom salts and hot baths daily?

A.—No.

2—While these measures may be reducing to some extent the treatment is apt to be very weakening. Cut down on sweets and starches and take some regular daily exercise. In this way you will reduce safely and surely.

* * *

A. McG. Q.—How can one purchase insulin?

A.—Insulin should only be taken under proper medical supervision. Your doctor will tell you just what is necessary if your condition warrants this treatment.

TRACTION MEN ASK BUS LINE

The Irwin-Herminie Traction Company's line will go out of business if the Public Service Commission grants a certificate to the Irwin-Herminie Bus Lines, it was indicated yesterday at a hearing before the commission. C. H. Bolton is president of both concerns.

At the hearing on the bus company's petition for a certificate before Examiner W. E. Best it was stated by officers of the traction company that the road had not been a financial success. The traction company has a capital of $102,400 with $75,000 bonds outstanding. It came into being 22 years ago. The bus line seeking a certificate has a capital of $11,300 and would parallel the car line. Abner T. Evans, of Herminie, who has made application for a similar bus service, is opposing the bus lines' application. Witnesses at a previous hearing testified to lack of repairs on the car line.

RISING TOTAL SPURS WELFARE DRIVE

SIDEWALKS —of— PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

William Pfarr

This is Correction Day, so far as we're concerned. Kind but critical readers have unerringly pointed out two mistakes we committed in the last week or two.

One concerns the shoeless young lady who was trimming a Grant street window. We wrote that the larger digit protruded through a hole in the upper right corner of her right stocking. Three readers were alert enough to catch us and remark that this is a physical impossibility, that the so-called larger digit is placed on the upper left corner. One writer goes so far as to suggest that this is genuine sleight of footwork. As penance for this mistake we promise to report no more stories of young lady window trimmers, regardless of the condition of their hosiery.

The second mistake has to do with the number of shelled peanuts in a 10-cent bag. In a brilliant report on the squirrels in Frick Woods we estimated that 10 cents would buy 250 peanuts. Admirers of the shelled peanut have heaped caustic criticism upon our wide shoulders, shouting that 10 cents these days won't buy over 100 peanuts. Thus we stand revealed as a person who knows little of hosiery and less of shelled peanuts.

Many, many years ago, before prohibition, Allegheny County had a judge who was a fanatical foe of the demon rum.

It so happened that during one court session he was assigned to issue or refuse liquor licenses. It so happened, too, that he himself was a hearty drinker.

One after another application to sell booze is refused. That very night he was walking—or rather staggering—along the North Side's Federal street when a quart bottle flopped out of his overcoat pocket and smashed into ruins on the street. A crowd collected.

A genius in a crisis, the judge looked up and around and declared in loud tones:

"Such treachery! Such savagery! If I could only lay my hands on the villian who threw that bottle of poison ——"

Recently Jim, who is himself as Irish as Patrick's certain pet, rigged up a home-made radio by which it was possible for him to broadcast his own voice from his cellar to his living room.

Then he invited in a half-dozen Irish gentlewomen of the neighborhood, assuring them that there was to be a special broadcast that very night from no place less than County Cork, Ireland.

When the ladies had duly assembled, Jim sneaked to the basement and proceeded to broadcast to the Tierney living room faked news direct from County Cork.

Fancy the joyful surprise of one of the ladies when she heard her own name coming over the radio from the birthplace of her ancestors. The Cork announcer paid high compliment to Mrs. Jones (that wasn't her name), and then added:

"But we hear over here in County Cork that Mrs. Jones' kids are the dirtiest in her neighborhood."

There was no more news from County Cork that night.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 19.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Modern football has got some queer customs. The heroes can have all the girls they want, but they are not allowed to marry one of 'em. They can play for their tuition, board and room, and a moderate salary, but they are not allowed to do it "for the wife and kiddies." Poor Knute Rockne, in his time he has lost games by bad umpiring, illness, failure to kick goal, and every ordinary known method, but if he loses this year it will be the first time that a justice of the peace ever beat him out of a championship. Well, one thing's sure, you can look at Harvard and Yale and Princeton play, and tell that they are all single. If any girls ever fall in love with them, it will be somebody that didn't have a ticket to any of the games. Yours, WILL.

Women's Screams Foil 2 Holdups

GIRL SAVES MAN FROM ATTACK

Same Pair, Police Believe Routed in Oakland and Hill District Attempts

Two Negro bandits whose attempts at two holdups, one in the Hill district and the other in Oakland last night, were frustrated by women's screams, are being sought by police today.

FOILED SECOND TIME

The same pair, police believe, fled without loot after confronting P. A. Katz, a realtor of 2018 Bedford avenue, in his office a short time before. As the bandit pair neared Katz, the victim's wife stepped into the office from a rear room. The Negroes fled without loot when Mrs. Katz screamed.

Trapped in the Atlantic and Pacific Company chain store at 5807 Penn avenue early today, James Hunt, 22, a Negro of 621 Vanilla way, was being held in the East End Police Station on a suspicious person charge. Neighbors saw a man break into the store and notified police, who surrounded the place. Police say Hunt looted an adjoining P. H. Butler store at 5805 Penn avenue before being arrested. The total loot was $3.85 from the Butler store and 22 pennies and five Canadian dimes from the Atlantic and Pacific store.

HOMES BURGLARIZED

Wearing apparel valued at $400 was stolen last night from the home of C. T. Walther, at 1435 Chislett street, according to a report to police. A front window was jimmied.

A purse containing $40 and a railroad pass and snatched from Mrs. S. O. Jlingler, of 2 Oakwood place, by two Negroes while she was walking in Blackadore avenue, near Frankstown avenue, last night.

Forcing a door of the second floor apartment of Cyrus Trompetter, at 5860 Forward avenue, thieves ransacked the place and stole clothing and jewelry valued at $800, a police report states.

Mrs. M. Palm, of 5613 Melvin street, reported that $10.50 in cash was stolen from her home last night by thieves who entered the house by way of a front window.

Two Negro highwaymen who confronted Mrs. Blanche Beck, of 6358 Penn avenue, as she left her home early today, snatched her purse and escaped. The purse contained $48.50 in cash and several keys, she told police at the East End station.

Parents Ask $15,000 For Boy's Injuries

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Reddington, of McKeesport, asked $15,000 damages for injuries to their son, Joseph, 12, in an automobile collision, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court against Henry L. Osterman, of McKeesport. The boy suffered several broken ribs when an automobile in which he was a passenger was struck by Osterman's car at Fourth avenue and Walnut street, McKeesport, August 5 last, the suit alleged.

Radio Dance Ushers In De Molay Season

Former members of the Order of DeMolay, comprising membership of Pittsburgh Chapter, DeMolay Alumni, will commence their social activities with a radio novelty dance in the Hotel Schenley tonight. Special entertainment, novelty programs and door prizes will feature this opening event.

Alleged Fatal Brick Thrower Still Free

No trace has been obtained by police of Samuel Lovelace, Negro, who is alleged to have fatally injured C. C. Moore, 51, by throwing a brick last Sunday. Moore, a roomer in the Lovelace home, 212 Meadow street, it is said interferred when Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace quarreled.

COUNTY HELPS DRUSIN FAMILY

The family of Joseph Drusin, who killed himself a week ago after the theft of a loaf of bread, is assured of temporary relief. At the county commissioners' meeting yesterday afternoon $250 was ordered appropriated to the County Poor Board to be used for the family.

After the reading of a letter describing the dire straits of the family, a motion, which carried unanimously, was made by Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, providing for the appropriation.

Hungry Family in Gasless, Brakeless Auto Helped Home by Police

A broken down car stuttered to a halt in Water street. Anthony Sauer wondered how he was going to get his family back home to Bethlehem. Penniless, no gas in the machine, the wheels brakeless, Sauer, his family and dog were hungry. A Water street restaurant man fed them. A night watchman let them sleep in an office.

Patrolman J. M. Sweeney, of the traffic division, found them. He notified the relief committee of the Fraternal Order of Police. The Sauer family is en route home today, happy.

A garage man relined the brakes. The Gulf Refining Company furnished the oil; gas was purchased, and a purse, enough to take care of them for several days, was presented to them by employes of the Graybar Electric Company, Water street, and the police relief committee.

Sauer, a pipefitter, Mrs. Anna Sauer, his wife, their son, Anthony, Jr., 5, and "Brownie," their pet dog, left home and landed in Cleveland three weeks ago. Mr. Sauer was unable to get a job. They came to Pittsburgh Monday night.

They were entertained by the general committee of the police relief fund; Charles C. Crummer, general chairman; John B. Fogerty, president; Harry C. Hyer, secretary; Peter J. McCullough, treasurer; Lieut. Phillip J. Kumpf, Sergt. Morgan O'Brien and Dennis F. Dwyer, in charge of the relief storeroom in the McGeagh Building.

ADMIT BLUNDER IN EAST ST. BRIDGE

Span 'Little Use Anyway,' Councilman Anderson Tells Colleagues; Surveyors Err

City Engineer C. M. Reppert, of the Public Works Department, at yesterday's session of City Council, admitted an engineering blunder had been made in the building of the East Street Bridge, North Side. The engineering mistake, which has caused a slight kink in the railing and paving on one side of the span, was admitted when an ordinance was presented authorizing the payment of $38,000 to the Independent Bridge Company on the current estimate due for the bridge job.

When councilmen were questioning Reppert concerning the blunder, Councilman Charles Anderson said he did not believe the mistake to be of any great importance. He declared:

"The bridge will not be used much, anyway."

The payment ordinance was tentatively approved.

During the discussion it developed that the bridge company is seeking $19,000 for extra work from the city. Councilman Robert J. Alderdice suggested that part of this extra cost may be due to the engineering defect.

This was denied by Reppert, who declared the extra cost was due to unavoidable delays in hauling. Quized by Alderdice as to who is to blame for the error in the bridge, Reppert reported the city surveyors were to blame for an error in elevation, and the contractor, also, for failing to make a check of the city figures. Reppert said he had the bridge inspected by outside engineers who placed their O. K. upon it, declaring it more than adequate to bear the burdens to be placed upon it.

CHARGES FALSE ARREST IN SUIT

Alleging his reputation was injured and his earning capacity impaired by his arrest in connection with a Communist demonstration, Benjamin Segal asked $25,000 damages from Michael Carney, city detective, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court.

Segal averred he was standing quietly and without making any disturbance in the lobby of the City-County Building November 1 when he was seized by Carney without any justification and taken to No. 1 Police Station, being discharged after a hearing.

The false arrest identified him as a Communist, which injured his reputation, in addition to depriving him of his liberty and affecting his nervous system, Segal alleged.

Stores are Warned To Clear Sidewalks

Merchants on Murray avenue, between Hobart street and Phillips avenue, have been warned against placing refuse cans on the sidewalks at night, according to a report received by Council from the sanitary inspectors. Council received a complaint against the practice several weeks ago. The report stated that, following the complaint, a number of inspections failed to reveal any violations of the law.

Council Acts in Zone Changing Requests

Council has delayed action on an ordinance changing the corner of Shady avenue and Forbes street from residence to commercial for one week. At the same time the body affirmed an ordinance changing property on California avenue near Perrott avenue from residence to commercial. A similar change on Wilkins avenue near Murray avenue was held over.

N. Y. Shipper to Talk Before Class Here

"Import and Export Traffic" will be the subject of an address by D. F. SECOND HALF OF QUOTA SOUGHT

$879,351 Now Subscribed; Oliver Praises Workers In New Plea for Support

With $879,351, or more than one-half of the quota of $1,520,248 already raised, workers in the Welfare Fund campaign today continued their canvass of Pittsburgh and suburbs.

A. K. Oliver, president of the Welfare Fund, in a statement today, said:

"We feel there is great encouragement in the showing made by the Employe Division, as well as the work of other divisions. We are anxious to make it clear to the public that all the volunteer workers in the Welfare Fund are properly identified by authorized cards, and that they are local citizens who serve without any pay in the interests of the community.

"These workers pay for their own lunches at the daily report meetings during the campaign.

"The employment situation this year is a serious one, and we should all do our best to support the Welfare Fund in its work of relief and service. The Welfare Fund makes only one appeal during the whole year.

"It has no benefits and carries on no other money-raising campaigns during the year. We ask your serious consideration of this honest and direct appeal, if you have not already contributed. Every dollar is needed, if suffering and distress are to be met."

BELLEVUE ACTS TO AID JOBLESS

Unemployed male citizens of Bellevue will be given work within about three weeks, Burgess W. F. Cook, indicated today following borough council's action in passing an ordinance at its meeting last night authorizing the issuance of $50,000 in bonds for the purchase and grading of recreation grounds and park.

Council also directed the borough clerk to immediately advertise the sale of the bonds.

Bellevue citizens at the November election voted favorably toward the purchase of land situated between Kendall avenue and the Ohio boulevard large enough for a baseball field, tennis courts, swimming pool, picnic grounds and parking space. The grading is to be done by the borough's unemployed.

The Bellevue Board of Trade, at another meeting last night, indorsed the Osterling site for the proposed Pittsburgh town hall. Copies of the resolutions adopted were ordered sent the county commissioners.

The board declared the purchase of the site, which is on the north bank of the Allegheny River, would keep the town hall cost within the $6,000,000 authorized in the people's bond issue of 1928.

Burgess Cooley, A. D. Smith and Urban Dice were named a special committee by President John W. Vickerman to co-operate with the North Side Chamber of Commerce in an effort to [illegible] in a satisfactory decision from the commissioners.

Model of DO-X Plane Built By Mt. Oliver Youth

Ever since he has been old enough to know what the word meant, Tommy Towers, of Warrington avenue, Mt. Oliver, has been thrilled by airplanes. When he was old enough to manipulate tools, Tommy started building tiny airplanes. Today he has all kinds.

Several weeks ago Tommy went to the movies and saw a picture of the famous DO-X, in which the world is now so interested. The next day he saw another picture of the famous plane in a newspaper, and he decided to model one. For three weeks his playmates missed their pal, for Tommy was busy constructing a model of the DO-X.

Tommy has never been in an airplane, but it is his ambition to be an aviator. Says Tommy:

"I think Lindberg and Byrd and all the rest are great, but I don't have any particular ideal. I admire any pilot who is a navigator. Some day I'm going to be an aviator, but just now I'm going to build more planes and learn all I can about them."

TROLLEY CHIEF ASSURES CITY CO-OPERATION ON SUBWAY

PICKING ROUTE BIG PROBLEM, HEAD SAYS

Company Willing to Bend All Resources for Workable System, Phillips Declares

The Pittsburgh Railways Company will co-operate with the City of Pittsburgh to the fullest extent in selecting any reasonable subway plan, President F. R. Phillips, of the railways company, and other Bylesby interests announced after reading the city transit commission's report.

George S. Davison, chairman of the commission, informed of Mr. Phillips' statement, expressed pleasure that "the railways company is ready to co-operate."

"MISLEADING"

Mr. Phillips said the published report of the transit commission submitted to Mayor Charles H. Kline and City Council, stipulating that negotiations for a contract with the railways company had not produced tangible results, is misleading.

This report, he said, also indicated that it would be "the heighth of folly" for the city to spend $6,000,000 for the subway unless the city is assured that trolley cars would be operated therein.

ROUTE IS PROBLEM

Mr. Phillips said:

"We'll join in any reasonable plan and will co-operate to the fullest. The great difficulty is the choosing of a route for the subway. We'll be glad to consult with city officials and help them. We'll release all of our resources to them; they can have anything we have.

"There are differences of opinion as to where the subway should be placed. We have not injected ourselves into the discussion of this. If the people want to build a subway and want us to operate it, we'll be glad to help them. I understand there is considerable difference of opinion as to whether Pittsburgh can afford a subway."

Mr. Davison when asked for an expression of opinion, said:

"Mr. Phillips is certainly doing the right thing by saying that they are ready to co-operate."

Council, sitting as a committee, yesterday received the commission's report without comment and ordered it printed.

TRAIN REMOVAL PROTEST HEARD

Allison Park residents protested before the Public Service Commission today against the recent removal of three Baltimore and Ohi trains between Pittsburgh and Butler. The trains are those arriving in Pittsburgh at 6:30 a. m. and departing at 1:15 and 6:15 p. m.

Counsel for the railroad asked Harry J. Lomb, the complainant:

"If you were losing 64½ cents a mile per train, would you continue to operate?"

Commissioner S. Ray Shelby interrupted:

"That is not for the witness to decide. That is for the Public Service Commission."

S. J. Huber, a resident of Allison Park for 30 years, testified the railroad service was inadequate, that trolley cars were overcrowded, and buses uncertain.

JOBLESS BUILD WINTER HOMES

Mike Beda is one of the half dozen or more recent settlers on the spot where, not so long ago, a historical monument rested, Monument Hill, North Side.

Half a dozen lean-tos snuggle between huge boulders, occupied by a portion of the army of the unemployed, called squatters.

Today, Mike is putting an adjoining room onto his residence, a room that could easily be called a conservatory. From the gaps in its walls, the view of the city's $250,000,000 Golden Triangle is marvelous. Mike commented:

"Me go to jail for the winter? No, no. This is good. I worka odd job; get enough. No rent here. No one abother me. Cop come and say how goes it. It goes all right I tell him: 'nice and warm here'."

Man Held for Theft From Altoona Firm

William H. Mort, 43, of 206 Marlow street, was being held today for Altoona authorities for the alleged embezzlement of $619.87 from the Burns Coal Company of that city. He was arrested by city detectives at his home last night on a warrant sworn to by Thomas L. Jones, a member of the firm, detectives reported.

322 More Appeal For City Relief

The Department of Public Welfare yesterday received 322 new applications for relief under the $100,000 emergency fund, bringing the total number to date to 3,424.

2ND MAN DIES IN CARD FEUD

Andrew Belluscio, 32, of Highland avenue, Stowe Township, was dead today, the second victim of a shooting affray which resulted from an argument during a card game in a shanty in Edison way, Stowe Township, Sunday, the coroner's office reported.

The first victim, Pasquale Fanuello, 35, of 88 Highland avenue died in the Ohio Valley Hospital a short time after being admitted. Belluscio, shot in the abdomen, died in the hospital last night. Nick Diglia, 17, wounded in the side, was still in a critical condition, hospital authorities said.

Woman Asks $50,000 In Street Car Suit

Carrie M. Deverts, of Oakland, asked $50,000 damages from the Pittsburgh Railways Company in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, alleging serious injuries caused by a street car starting too quickly as she was alighting from it. She was thrown to the street at Atwood and Forbes streets May 24 last when the car was suddenly started as she stepped off, she alleged.

B. & O. Brakeman Killed Under Cars

Falling between freight cars while at work early today, Charles Kelly, 29, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman, was killed by moving cars in the railroad yards near the north end of Manchester Bridge. Kelly lived at 1305 Iten street, North Side.

GULF BUILDING STRIKE ENDS

Rivet hammers were ringing again today on the new Gulf Building, Grant street and Seventh avenue, as steel workers returned to work after a two-week strike. The action followed a meeting of the local iron workers' union last night.

The strike was caused by a dispute as to who should drive the piles in the Federal Reserve Bank foundation, adjoining the Gulf Building. The work was being done by members of the Sheet Pile Drivers and Dockmen's Union, affiliated with the carpenters. It is understood that these men still are on the job.

FIRED EMPLOYE TO GET HEARING

A hearing before the Civil Service Commission has been granted Miss Mary Jane McKnight, who, after serving 15 years as assistant supervisor in the City Recreation Bureau, was dismissed November 1.

The hearing, set for 4 o'clock Friday, followed an appeal in which Miss McKnight, through her attorney, Dennis Mulvehill, alleged she did not have sufficient opportunity to answer charges against her.

Suspended for five days October 22, on a charge of being absent without leave, the suspension was continued for an additional five days. On November 1, Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang sent her a letter stating she failed to answer the charges against her, and permanently dismissed her.

In the appeal it was said the charges were for "personal motives outside of work."

Miss McKnight said today she hoped to show the charges were without justification.

Cowboy Author-Painter, On Visit Here, Longs For Open Ranges

Will James, the "Lone Cowboy," who grew up with the West of Yesteryear, and who is the only author he knows of "who never had no school larnin'," came to Pittsburgh yesterday, autographed his books—"Lone Cowboy" and "Smoky"—and talked about old times on the Purple Sage.

Illustrator as well as author, James has achieved international renown for his paintings and yarns of Western life.

IN SCHOOL ONCE

Only once was he in a school. And that, he says, was to attend a hoedown dance. Cowpunchers for miles around were attracted and spent three days or more shindigging and gulping down firewater.

James was an orphan and roamed the West on his horse, "Smoky." His first sketches were simple affairs, but he achieved perfection by and by, he says.

Later he studied technique at San Francisco and "for a few days at Yale." He is equally at home in water colors, pastels and oils.

RISE PHENOMENAL

It was but a few years ago that his first story was accepted. His rise since has been phenomenal.

James, who autographed his books at the Joseph Horne store yesterday, now divides his time between New York and the ranch he recently purchased in Montana.

He gets plenty lonesome for the ranges, he says, and regrets New York is too big for him—although he can't resist the lure of the "Main Stem" once a year.

His works are written in the cowpuncher dialect. His statement yesterday is a sample of his unique type:

"I wish I could stay on the ranch all the time and let the rest of the world go by. But it just can't be done. When I was there I ate flapjacks, black coffee and rolled my own with the makin's. The big city holds a lure for me, but it ain't a-goin' to always. I'm goin' back to the ranch soon to stay and write some more about 'Smoky.'"

The cowboy author terminated his interview by rolling a cigaret with one hand without spilling any of the makin's on the floor—a feat he considers remarkable.

TROTSKY RULES, EASTMAN SAYS

Declaring that Trotsky, though living on an island near Constantinople, and far removed from Leningrad, was still actively directing the Soviet regime through Stalin, Max Eastman, poet, writer and Communist, discussed present day Russia before an audience at the Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association last night.

He declared Russians under the Soviet system are working out as energetically as their leisurely temperaments permit, the policies and program of a great movement of radical reform. He declared the future of this experiment would depend on world market production under the people's rule to compete with production in other countries under "capitalistic control."

VET HOSPITAL TO BE USED AS JAIL

County Commissioners Will Cut Red Tape to Speed Remodeling at Parkview

Rehabilitation of the Parkview Veterans' Hospital so it will be available to take care of the overflow prisoners at the county jail, is to be started soon.

The county commissioners at their meeting yesterday, decided to go ahead with the work without trying to unravel red tape with which the State Welfare Department is bound up.

The first step is to advertise for bids for sanitary improvements. The physical work can be started in about three weeks.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern said:

"The Department of Welfare is the most obstreperous bunch of people I ever dealt with. We don't need their written consent to go ahead with this work, and we must answer Warden John McNeil's daily inquiry, 'What will we do with the prisoners at the jail?'"

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong agreed that the red tape should be cut. He said:

"We ought to go ahead. There will be a lot of poor men sleeping on the ground this winter. We must have room to take care of them."

The commissioners unanimously gave County Architect Stanley Roush authority to start the work at once. Prisoners from the jail will do the work.

RECORD SUBWAY ORDER SHIPPED

Final shipment has just been made by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company on the largest contract for subway control ever awarded. The order included 300 sets of control for the Eighth avenue subway, New York.

Electrical equipment for the contract also includes 610 motors, of 190 horsepower each, a total of 115,900 horsepower. The last of these power units will have been shipped by Westinghouse by the end of the year.

"I have personally sold the great tonic S.S.S. since 1884. My customers praise it and recommend it to their friends. . . . . This preference must be deserved."

Jno. S. Gibson

Mr. Jno. S. Gibson, Druggist, Hope, Ark.

Why this preference is deserved

There is no secret as to why S.S.S. enjoys a deserved preference as a tonic.

Unsolicited tens of thousands have written their praise and gratitude. Scientific laboratory tests of actual blood counts show conclusively that S.S.S. by its tonic effect increases the red-blood-cells from an impoverished and low state to one of health and activity.

S.S.S. is the Tonic that is daily helping thousands of weak, rundown, nervous people regain their strength and charm

MORE red-blood-cells and of the right quality! That's the answer to a rundown condition. They fight infection and disease!

Body weakness, lack of appetite, underweight, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils are symptoms of a low blood count. These may indicate that you need S.S.S.

Take S.S.S. to build up and enrich your blood. Your appetite will pick up. Your skin will clear up. Your whole body will be strengthened, invigorated! Get the large size. At all drug stores.

S.S.S. a wonderful blood Tonic

"I had pimples—felt nervous and was underweight. Thanks to a friend's suggestion, I took a course of S.S.S.! My appetite improved and my weight was restored. I think S.S.S. the most wonderful blood tonic I have ever taken and I gladly recommend it to anyone in a rundown condition." Mrs. T. J. Benning, Augusta, Ga.

Miss Lottie Bell Pulliam, Knoxville, Tennessee, writes: "My appetite was poor, I had lost weight—was nervous and could not sleep well at night. In my rundown condition even my joints ached. I took seven large size bottles of S.S.S. It greatly improved by condition. My appetite picked up. My weight was restored and I now feel fine—in fact, I feel like a new person. S.S.S. is a splendid blood tonic and I recommend it to my friends. My mother also took S.S.S. and it renewed her strength."

SCHOOLS CLAIM ELECTRICAL BOYCOTT

Allderdice, in Report, Charges Contractors With Waging War Against Education

A report charging that members of the Electrical Contractors' Association are boycotting the city school district and continuing their war on the community's school children, was received by the board of education at its meeting yesterday.

ALLEGES DEFIANCE

The report was made by the board's committee on property and supplies, and was signed by the chairman, Taylor Allderdice. Pointing out that competition has been destroyed within and without the association since the establishment of the Survey Bureau, the report declares:

"Utterly defiant of the rights of the public, refusing to cooperate in the effort to meet the deplorable unemployment situation, the members of the Electrical Contractors' Association are boycotting the school district and continuing their war on the community's children. A month ago not one member of this association bid on the Lincoln School, and now not a single bid is presented from its membership on the Arsenal School. Ten took out plans of the Lincoln School for the ostensible purpose of figuring on them, and six took out plans of the Arsenal, without a single bid resulting in either case, notwithstanding that this is the third largest electrical contract awarded by this board since 1922.

"Since the establishment of its so-called survey bureau competition has been effectually destroyed both within and without the association. Those within will not bid, those without generally dare not. The survey bureau was installed, so it was claimed by spokesmen of the association, merely to stabilize the industry, and to furnish its members with a correct and authentic bill of materials, thus preventing careless errors upon the part of prospective bidders. Whatever was its purpose, the association has gone far beyond the scope of an honest-to-goodness survey bureau. Not by its professions is this association to be judged, but by the results of its operations. What are the facts in the case?

"In 1926 the average cost of similar electric work per cubic foot was .0144. The contract price for the Lincoln Elementary School, the only contract awarded up to the present during 1930 was .0190. This was awarded to a firm outside the association.

"We are required by law to seek bids that are truly competitive.

"Whatever is permissible to the electrical contractors is certainly permissible to other branches of the building trades. We are not willing to see the cost of school buildings advanced from approximately 40c per cubic foot to 60c, 70c or 80c at a time of unemployment when costs in other lines are tending downward.

"Surely among the membership of this association there are contractors who do not hold the dollar, however obtained, above the interest of the public and the public's children.

"We appeal to such contractors within and without the association to co-operate with us by bidding independent of each other, free of association control or interference."

Injured in Trolley Accident, He Keeps Painting

KANE PAINTING DESPITE HURTS

John Kane, portrayer of the "Strip" district here on canvas, and exhibitor at the Carnegie International, is recovering in his Seventeenth street home today from injuries.

Returning from a visit to the Carnegie exhibit at the Institute last Wednesday, the house painter and artist was thrown off his feet when the trolley he was riding came to a sudden stop at Seventeenth street and Penn avenue. Although dazed, Kane managed to reach his home, where examination disclosed contusions and rib fractures.

Since he has kept to his room, under medical care, but that does not keep him from painting. He has been putting the finishing touches on his latest effort, "In a Monastery Garden." Mrs. Kane is acting as nurse.

Maj. Adams Speaker For Monarch Club

Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the state police, will be the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Monarch Club in the William Penn Hotel tomorrow at 12:15.

N.Y. MISSIONARY TO SPEAK HERE

"An Evening In the West Indies" will be the subject of an address by the Rev. Edward A. O'Dell, of New York, for many years located in the West Indies, at a dinner given in his honor by the Women's Missionary Society and the Men's Club of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, Tuesday night.

Following his graduation from Princeton in 1906, he went to Porto Rico, and for a time was in charge of the Spanish-American and English-speaking church in San Juan. Later he was located in Havana.

PLAN TO FIGHT NARCOTICS BY EDUCATION

Organizations Also Seek Curb on Overproduction Of Drugs by Europeans

Hero of the Spanish-American War when he sunk the Merrimac in Santiago Harbor and thereby bottled up Cervera's fleet, Capt. Richmond P. Hobson continues in the role of a warrior today. His fighting now is a world-wide battle against illicit narcotic trade.

The retired naval officer was in the William Penn Hotel yesterday secretly conferring with Pittsburgh leaders in the direction of three organizations, of two of which Hobson was the founder, in an educational campaign against the use of narcotics, especially heroin.

Capt. Hobson

The principal fight is being waged against the overproduction of heroin that floods this country from Central and Western Europe, according to Capt. Hobson. The campaign is aimed at governments which permit manufacture of the narcotic in excess of the needed medical supply.

Hobson's interest in the fight began while he was in Congress from 1907 to 1915, following his retirement from the Navy in 1904. With the introduction of heroin as a medicinal ingredient, Hobson noted the possibility of a habit-forming drug and prepared for such a condition through study.

FOUNDS ORGANIZATIONS

Surrounding himself with retired military leaders, Hobson founded the parent organization, International Narcotic Education Association, at Los Angeles in 1923, for education of youth in schools and colleges. The World Conference on Narcotic Education was formed in New York two years later and followed by the World Narcotic Defense Association at Geneva in 1927.

STEEL MERGER GOSSIP GROWS

Despite denials by officials of the Truscon Steel Company, of Youngstown, that negotiations were under way for a merger of the Youngstown company and the Blaw-Knox company, of Pittsburgh, rumors in financial circles gave credence to reports of the merger.

Walter C. Conger, vice president of the Truscon company, has denied the reports.

The Truscon Steel Company operates plants in Youngstown and Cleveland, and rumors linking this concern and the Blaw-Knox company have been current for more than a year. It is understood negotiations were renewed recently.

The Ohio company is now the largest interest of its kind in the country, manufacturing fabricated steel products for building construction. The Blaw-Knox company also is an important interest in its field.

SCHOOLS WATCH FOR LOTTERIES

No general investigation of gambling activities of "numbers writers" in city schools was being planned today, but individual principals were on guard against the practice, according to Supt. Ben G. Graham.

Dr. A. L. Lewin, at yesterday's meeting of the school board, said that because of the many reports that "numbers" were being sold to school children he thought Supt. Graham should be instructed to conduct a general investigation.

Graham replied that he has had the matter up before various principals, and that an educational campaign against the evil being conducted in the schools.

With relation to the latest report that "numbers writers" were active in buildings located on the Langley High School property, N. R. Criss repeated that in cases where such conditions were found the tenant's lease would be revoked.

Church Players Give 'Servant in House'

Charles Rann Kenney's "The Servant in the House" will be presented by the dramatic organization of the Mt. Rudolf Kraus, supervisor of welding inspection for the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, gave an informal talk on welding today in the Union Club rooms in the First National Bank Building, before the Pittsburgh section of the American Welding Society.

City-Owned Walks, Steps Inspected

A complete report on the condition of all steps and boardwalks owned by the city has been ordered from T. Lloyd Pillow of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers by Council. The report is designed to stop damage suits resulting from broken steps.

McKeesport Man Badly Hurt by Auto

Samuel Pradovich, 52, of 633 Jerome street, McKeesport, is in McKeesport Hospital with a fractured skull suffered last night when he was struck by an automobile while crossing Jenny Lind street. Mike Pranko, of 449 Pacific avenue, McKeesport, was the driver, police reported.

BREAK LIMITS WATER SUPPLY

Residents of Homestead today were warned to use water sparingly because of a break in the 24-inch main from the Monongahela River to the Homestead water works, late yesterday. Christ McGarry, borough superintendent of public works, put men to work repairing the break as soon as it was discovered, but indicated the task would require about five days.

The Homestead reservoir was full to capacity last night, McGarry said, but he indicated consumers should not use water too freely pending completion of the repairs. The break measured 10 feet, McGarry said.

Did your child have a Sick Spell this Winter?

A sick spell is always bad enough, but its after-effects are often worse. If your child has been sick recently, now is the dangerous time.

Resistance is at a low ebb, vitality is lowered, and your child does not have the reserve strength to resist infection.

For over 75 years Father John's Medicine has proved its worth as a body builder, as a tonic for weak, rundown children, as an aid to healthy vigor.

It supplies in easily assimilated form the food elements your child vitally needs and which are missing from so many modern diets. Pale, half-sick children pick right up. Colds become few and far between. Weight is added, strength returns.

Father John's Medicine is a combination of valuable ingredients, none of which could harm an infant. It contains no alcohol or drugs. Because of its scientific preparation it brings to your child all the benefits of cod liver oil in its finest form. It is rich in vitamins. Children thrive on it amazingly. And they love to take it, because it tastes good.

If your child has been sick recently, if it catches cold easily, if it is rundown, underweight, try Father John's Medicine. Over 184 hospitals and institutions use it regularly. Countless mothers are never without it. Just ask your druggist.

Gets up GROGGY and GROUCHY

Another bad morning. It's chronic! He struggled out of bed hating the world and hating himself. He was dizzy, heavy-headed. Sharp pains in the small of his back tormented him when he moved. A man better fitted for a sanitarium than for work. Listless, worried, nervous, devitalized.

You Can Eat the Purest Foods and still have

SYS-TEM-IC POISONING

ACCORDING to the most modern medical knowledge you can obey the rigid health commandments, watch your diet with the utmost care and still be the victim of a condition that is now recognized as the source of most kidney, liver, stomach, intestinal and nervous disorders. When you sleep fitfully and get up in the morning done-in, feeling and looking old, nervous, headachy or listless...you are probably the victim of the foods you have eaten. Infection has set in and caused SYS-TEM-IC POISONING.

Every morsel of food that enters your mouth passes right through the stomach into the small intestine where the important task of refueling the blood with energy and health is completed. If this food does not move on immediately it generates millions of dangerous germs that pollute the blood, attack the kidneys and stomach, and upset the nervous system.

HOW TO GET RELIEF

What can be done to correct this condition and regain buoyant health? Neither harsh purgatives nor strong drugs will help you one bit. Such doses cause false stimulation that gives only temporary relief and leaves you feeling worse than ever.

To get relief and recover health you must purify the system, rid it of poisonous germs just as an effective antiseptic cleanses an open wound.

The very first thing in the morning take a spoonful of Jad Salts in a glass of water and just 30 minutes later you'll feel much better.

SIFTS AWAY INFECTION

Jad Salts is totally unlike anything you've ever taken—vastly different in action and result. It is a scientific blend of ingredients that leading authorities recognize as most effective for relieving food infection. This remarkable blend gently sifts through the body and quickly sweeps away all noxious germs that cause SYS-TEM-IC POISONING. When Jad Salts is taken with plenty of water the sluggish kidneys are stimulated so that they again discharge poisonous food debris. As the system is thus purified, nerves are calmed, blue mornings vanish, glorious health and energy soon return.

WHERE FOOD INFECTION STARTS

Stomach
Duodenum—9 inches
Small Intestine—12 feet
Large Intestine—5 feet

Foods allowed to remain in the small intestine generate poisonous germs that breed infection and cause SYS-TEM-IC POISONING . . . recognized by kidney trouble, upset stomach, indolence, backache, dull mornings, sallow, blemished skin, nervousness, or restless, disturbed sleep.

Now beware of food infection. At first warning sign of SYS-TEM-IC POISONING take a spoonful of Jad Salts in a glass of water as soon as you get up and you'll sit down to breakfast feeling fine. Start each day, with this exhilarating, bubbling drink that Jad Salts makes and you'll soon look and feel better than you have in years. You'll sleep sounder and greet the morning clear-eyed and clear-headed, keenly alert, vigorous and ready for the day.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Folks Attend Preview of Exhibit In League Rooms

Quite a few folks attended the pre-view of the Junior League's exhibition of the original drawings, lithographs and sketches by Peggy Bacon yesterday in the league rooms. Today the exhibition is open to the public and is continuing through November 29. Very amusing are the sketches of cats and mice, and there are interesting lithographs of people. The rooms are decorated simply with yellow flowers and oak leaves.

I saw Mrs. Charles A. Painter looking at the exhibits, and she was wearing a tailored brown and cream travel crepe afternoon dress with a sable scarf and a brown felt hat. It may interest you to know that Mrs. Painter has studied art and does oils and sketches. She studied charcoal drawing a year at Carnegie Tech.

Mary Rhodes was there, too, wearing a suit of green crepe with a blouse of white crepe embroidered with blue and red flowers. Priscilla Hall arrived early in the afternoon, wearing a brown knitted suit, with a sweater of biege and brown, and an orange felt hat. I also saw Elizabeth Arbuthnot, who chose a frock of gray and black crepe with a gray astrakhan scarf collar and a black felt turban.

Phyllis and Louise Totten were similar two-piece frocks of purple crepe, having jackets edged with a pleated ruffle, brown coats and brown felt hats.

Several Sewickley folks will attend a wedding in Newton, N. J., on Friday, November 28. The bride-to-be is Hortense C. Dutcher, daughter of the Edward M. Dutchers, of Newton, and the bridegroom-elect is Mario Lucci, son of Telesio Lucci, of Berkeley, Cal., formerly of Sewickley. The ceremony is to take place at 6:30 o'clock in the evening in the First Presbyterian Church in Newton, with the Rev. Dr. Clarence Rouse officiating.

Eastern Wedding

Adelaide Dutcher will be her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will include another sister, Mary Dutcher; Vivian Lucci, of Sewickley, sister of the bridegroom-elect; Dorothy Miller, of Boundbrook, N. J.; Helen Curtis, of New York, and Helen Wolters, of Honolulu.

Serving as best man will be Dr. M. Serrati, of New York, and the ushers will include two brothers-in-law of Mr. Lucci, Francis H. McKnight and Gilbert S. Rafferty, of Sewickley; John Marcellus, of Passaic, N. J., and George A. Smith, of New York.

There will be a reception in the Dutcher home after the wedding, and immediately after Mr. Lucci and his bride will leave on their honeymoon. They will make their home in Newton, later.

Among the Sewickley guests who will be there are Mrs. Gilbert S. Rafferty and Mrs. Francis H. McKnight, sister of the bridegroom-to-be.

Holiday Hunting

The Pittsburgh Hunt will ride to the hounds at 10 o'clock in the morning, returning to the clubhouse for breakfast.

The Westmoreland and Rolling Rock hunts will ride together Thanksgiving Day at 10 o'clock in the morning from the Westmoreland Hunt Kennels in Greensburg. And after the hunt, Col. Henry W. Coulter will entertain with a breakfast in the log cabin on the Coulter estate.

The Sewickley Hunt members will be entertained by the George A. Bennys at Farmhill at a hunt breakfast after the holiday ride over the hills.

STATE BUILDING SHOWS DECLINE

HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A decline of 46.3 per cent in building operations during October, as compared with the same month of 1929, was shown in reports received by the Department of Labor and Industry from 44 cities and boroughs. Only five cities reported an increase in operations.

The greatest gain was reported by Pottsville, which had an increase of $130,481, or 611.6 per cent over its total for October, 1929. Erie reported an increase of $56,355, or 18.7 per cent; Sunbury, $4,525, or 15.2 per cent; Allentown, $1,728, or 0.7 per cent, and Berwick borough, $8,895, or 562.9 per cent.

Pittsburgh reported a decline of $1,241,589, or 60.6 per cent, and Philadelphia, $3,263,820, or 39.9 per cent.

$5,000,000 WILL CONTESTED

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 19.—A legal battle to determine which is the last true will and testament of the late James L. Hawley, eccentric Wheeling millionaire, who died last week, was launched here.

In a petition filed with Raymond Filland, clerk of the Ohio County Court, John P. Arbenz, Wheeling attorney, is asked to produce what is purported to be the original will dated 1906. The will filed yesterday was made in 1930, when Mr. Hawley changed the names of the executors.

He left an estate of approximately $5,000,000. Relatives are contesting the filing of the last will instead of the first.

Teacher May 'Date' Pupil, Jury Decides

ALEDO, Ill., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—It is all right for a high school teacher to "date" a pupil, a jury in Mercer County Court decided today.

Miss Ella Deweiller, 22, sued the board of education for $400 in back salary, charging she was dismissed last December because she had kept an engagement with one of her pupils.

Pittsburghers Sail On Cruise to Indies

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bell and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Bell, of Pittsburgh, sailed last evening for the West Indies, leaving in the S. S. Franconia, which is making the first of three Southern trips before departing on January 17 for its 1931 world cruise.

Other Pittsburghers making the cruise were Mrs. F. E. Taylor, Mrs. R. E. Conrader, and Mrs. W. S. Eitz. The party will visit Bermuda and Nassau, and will spend Thanksgiving in Havana.

Society Enjoys Premiere Of New Ziegfeld Show

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Fresh from an unprecedented theatrical triumph in Boston, where the amazing total of $165,000 represented the box-office intake during a three-weeks' capacity engagement, Florenz Ziegfeld launched his latest musical comedy, "Smiles," on the stage of the Ziegfeld Theater last evening, with Marilyn Miller and Fred and Adele Astaire in the stellar roles.

Admittedly Ziegfeld's most expensive cast—Miss Miller and the Astaires alone draw $10,000 weekly—"Smiles" has to recommend it, in addition, a libretto by William Anthony McGuire and music by Vincent Youmans, both of whom are considered the top-notch writers in musical comedy today. Some of the lyrics are by Ring Lardner, famous humorist and short story writer.

A brilliant audience, composed of local and international social celebrities, men prominent in the civic and national governments and stars of the theatrical and operatic worlds attended.

The interest of society in the opening was tremendous. Weeks ago members of the elect arranged dinner parties in advance of the premiere, and one of the largest of last evening was the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin L. Hutton for their debutante daughter, Barbara. In the Hutton party, at the opening, were Jane Alcott, Dorthea Onativia, Peggy Moffett, Marie Graves, Foster Blakeley, Robert Herndon, Dave H. Coddington Jr., Daniel J. Woodhull, Jr., and Jay Reeves.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Hutton also entertained guests at the opening, and with Mrs. William Randolph Hearst were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor and Wadsworth Lewis. Mr. and Mrs. John Randolph Hearst were included among those in the orchestra stalls, as were Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Norman, Jr., who had as guests Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt.

Anniversaries Observed By Bellevue Literary And Woman's Club

Two clubs celebrated anniversaries yesterday in the Congress Club house. The Woman's Literary Club of Bellevue gave an elaborate program to mark its silver milestone and the Woman's Club of Pittsburgh, third oldest in the United States, celebrated with a luncheon.

Chief on the Bellevue program was the symbolic pageant which was written around the history of the club by Mrs. Chester F. Johnston, a past president. In it were four episodes for which the members were costumed in elaborate and colorful symbolism, depicting the club in 1905, through all the years of its study and even forecasting 1945. Incidental dances by Helen Bennett, Virginia Miller and Margery Taylor added to the picturesque affair and Sara Logan's solo singing was another highlight.

The World Cruise taken through the club's study last year was written into a humorous monologue by Mrs. Johnston and given by Helen Irwin. Three children, James Hissom and William and Stephen Goodnough, had small parts and performed them adorably. Mildred Hertzler Hissom, violin; Gladys Mitchell, 'cello, and Margaret Hertzler, piano, furnished the music.

For the Woman's Club program Dr. Ralph S. Boots, of the University of Pittsburgh, was the speaker and gave a fine talk on internationalism. Mrs. Harry G. Eakins read a paper concerning the club history, and there was a delightful program by George Herwig, tenor, and Jean Wickersham Zimmerman with Mrs. Herwig accompanying.

STYLIST PRESENTS LATEST CREATION IN LACY FROCK

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Lace is making its importance felt this season. It is appearing with the smartest hats of felt as a complement to the lace restaurant frock so liked by smart women everywhere. Many women do not like the all-lace hat; they claim that it has no line, no real verve or charm. But a black felt or velvet crown with a lace brim is capable of doing all sorts of flattering things to its discriminating wearer.

The lace frock is, of course, quite at home. And women here have to thank the insistence of their American sisters for the presence of lace. Visitors here, commercial and private buyers insisted on lace frocks even when the collections did not favor them. The result is that our designers have all seized yards and yards of lace and hastened to create that lovely material into dresses for afternoon and evening wear. The semi-formal frock of fine black lace should be an important member of every wardrobe. And the woman whose dress budget is limited or curtailed should rise up and call such a lace frock blessed. It is appropriate for so many varied occasions.

THE FROCK SHOWN here is by Jean Patou and is ideal for informal wear. It is made of two kinds of black lace most effectively handled. The hat has a black felt crown and a most graceful and flattering black lace brim. With an outfit like that, it should be easy to acquire that most desirable "sitting-on-top-of-the-world" feeling.

* * *

BLACK VELVET has been forming many alliances of late, none of them entangling, fortunately. Lelong has a charming and stately evening frock of black velvet, deeply bordered with coarse black net. A glance at the sketch will reveal the lovely lines of this creation.

The GOWN

It may be ever so simple in line, depending on one's own jewels for ornament. It may be lace, with its pattern outlined by scintillating sequins. Glorious imported Lamê, soft Velvets and magnificent embroidered Taffetas, perhaps with tiny ruffles contributing to the sweep of their skirt. All-black, and all-white stand out in sharp relief on the ball-room floor, though the younger set will wear turquoise, ruby, watermellon, emerald and blues.

The WRAP

The new wraps reach the hem-line of the gown, their extreme simplicity relieved by enveloping collars of finest furs. Velvets and Lamê find first favor, and are ofttimes lined with the same fabric as one's gown, to form a perfect ensemble. For the wrap of fur there is nothing so luxurious as all-white Russian Ermine, or with their collars of White Fox, Silver Fox or Russian Sable.

HIGHBERGER GREAT TACKLE

Sport Comment

By JAMES J. LONG

OTHERS ENTER FIGHT ON JOKE HOMERS

THE PLAN OF President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh club, to start a fight against short fences, the lively ball and cheap home runs is meeting with the approval not only of fandom at large but also of some of the other major league magnates. It is evident that the Pirate owner will not lack support in his efforts to rid the game of the joke-homer evil when the moguls of the two main loops hold their annual meetings next month, as several have already expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of his proposals.

Clark Griffith

American League men, in particular, are strong for the zoning idea, and may be expected to join with the Pittsburgh magnate in advocating a rule change whereby a fair ball hit out of the playing field at a distance of less than 300 feet from the plate will count for only two bases instead of a home run as at present. President Clark Griffith, of the Washington club, is one of the most outspoken. He declares himself in favor of zoning the ballyards "so that pop flies no longer will be called homers." He says a home run in Washington, where the barriers swing far and wide, is a real four-base smash, and he wants to have conditions at other parks made as nearly equal as possible.

AS A FURTHER step toward cutting down the home-run crop, President E. S. Barnard, of the American League, is advocating the general adoption of a plan introduced by President Dreyfuss at Forbes Field last season, that of erecting wire screens in short fields at all parks where homers have been too plentiful. Seven American League clubowners are said to be lined up with Barnard in support of this movement.

The only objector, according to report, is President Jacob Ruppert, of the Yankees, who is opposesd to any change that will cripple Babe Ruth's specialty. It is predicted, however, that Ruppert will fall in line with the presidential wishes eventually, and that by the time the 1931 season opens there will be a screen in front of the right-field seats at the Yankee Stadium as well as in the short fields at all other American League parks. All around, there is a pleasing prospect of a big cut in burlesque homers.

ONE EFFECT OF Ohio State's victory over Pitt last Saturday, following a 27-to-0 triumph over the Navy, has been the silencing of reports that the Buckeyes might have a new coach next year to succeed Sam Willaman.

Sam Willaman

As is usually the case at many colleges when an unsuccessful season is threatened, rumors of a change at Ohio State were circulated when the team won only one of its first four Conference games, losing to Northwestern and Michigan and playing a tie with Wisconsin, with only two points to its credit in those three engagements.

THE STRONG FINISH being made has put a new complexion on things, however. The impressive victories over the Navy and Pitt have convinced the doubting ones that the failure to make a better showing in the preceding three games was not due to any fault of the coaching system, and it looks like a safe guess now that Willaman will be retained regardless of the outcome of the final game of the season next Saturday against Illinois at Urbana. Incidentally, it is reported that there may be a notable addition to Ohio State's coaching staff next fall in the person of Wesley Fesler, star end and fullback, whose brilliant playing career will end with the present season.

SPEAKING OF REPORTED coaching changes, rumors of a movement to depose Clarence (Nibs) Price as head mentor at the University of California, following the loss of four games this season, are resented by the players to such an extent that they threaten to strike if the reported plan is carried out. Members of the Bear squad want it understood that they are with Price to the end.

They held a big rally between 2 and 5 o'clock in the morning, visited 20 fraternity houses, and routed 200 male students from their beds to join in the parade. Then, standing in the rain, the Price supporters heard Fritz Cahn, varsity tackle, defend the coach's record and declare that "If Price does not return as coach next season many of the present squad probably will be missing from the roster." The student body also came in for a panning for its attitude and was accused of supporting the team only when it is winning.

IN ORDER TO get a personal line on the Notre Dame team, Coach Howard Jones, of the University of Southern California, may fly to Evanston to watch the Irish in action against Northwestern next Saturday. Rockne's stars are to meet Southern California in Los Angeles on December 6.

Howard Jones

The Trojans will be idle Saturday, and Jones finds that he could leave Los Angeles tomorrow, fly to Kansas City, and take an overnight train to Chicago, arriving there Saturday morning. By leaving immediately after the game he could be home Monday morning, thereby losing only two practice days with his team. Aubrey Divine scouted the Irish for Southern California against Penn and Drake, but reported that the South Benders had not uncovered anything.

THE FOLLOWING WAS received from "A Reader":—"An interesting news item about the sons of famous former football stars figuring in the game this season overlooked the son of one old star, a boy who has been playing real football—young Hare, left guard of Yale, a son of Truxton Hare, formerly of Penn. You remember the father, of course—four years on the all-America (They had no freshman rule in those days), a star of stars from the day when, as a boy of 18, he came down from St. Paul's School to Penn. He was fast and durable and football smart from the first day on the varsity. He and big Joe McCracken made that wonderful guards-back combination for Penn and Coach Woodruff. Pitt has a couple of real tackles this year, I think, in Tully and Quatse. Some jobs they have, too, with crippled ends to work with most of the time. Tully played a real game against Notre Dame and against Carnegie as well, making a number of splendid tackles, recovering the ball, etc. Baker, Quatse and Tully are durable boys, playing through most of the games in which I have seen them this year."

THE SAME CORRESPONDENT, in view of the general movement for the staging of special football games in aid of the unemployed, suggests something new in that line as a charity offering in Pittsburgh. He proposes a game between a team of former Notre Dame stars and an eleven made up of one-time luminaries of this district.

"Note that Knute Rockne is willing to pick Notre Dame old-timers for a charity game with a New York team," he adds. "He might, too, bring his team here for a similar purpose, playing a game with the pick of Pitt, Carnegie Tech, Duquesne and Wash-Jeff veterans. Would

Cochran Breaks Three World Records

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Winning his fourth block in succession, Welker Cochran, of Hollywood, today led Willie Hoppe, 1,200 to 570, in their world championship match at 18.1 balkline billiards.

Cochran established three new world records in the afternoon as he completed a high run of 196, made a high average of 150 and ran out in two innings.

Cochran's high run last night was 116, while Hoppe's best cluster was 55.

SUPPORT GOES TO TECH, W.-J. CONTEST

There will be no post-season football game for the University of Pittsburgh eleven this fall.

This statement was made by W. Don Harrison, athletic director of the University of Pittsburgh, this morning, in answer to a published report that the University was considering such a contest for the benefit of the needy unemployed.

According to Harrison, the schedule committee of the university, at a meeting yesterday, considered efforts from the outside to force Pitt into the position of having to play Duquesne University, Wash-Jeff or some other team early in December, and decided, after mature deliberation, that the arranging of such a contest at this time would be unfair to the Carnegie Tech-Wash-Jeff game, already arranged for the Stadium, Saturday of next week, for the worthy cause, in that it would divide the interest in the two games and probably cause the failure of both.

Pitt is a party to the Tech-W. & J. arrangement. It is donating the use of its stadium for the contest and has enlisted the fullest co-operation of its alumni and student bodies and other facilities to help put the project over in a big way.

CITY BEHIND GAME

City Council and Mayor Charles H. Kline also are behind the Tech-W. & J. venture, Council having passed a resolution indorsing it and calling upon the Mayor to issue a proclamation asking the people to give the game their fullest support.

Aside from this condition, the Pitt team is just finishing one of its toughest schedules and will welcome the end of the campaign against Penn State on Thanksgiving Day. Coach Sutherland has gone through the season with a small squad, including many sophomore players, and its run-down condition was manifest in its 16-7 defeat by Ohio State last Saturday.

"The University of Pittsburgh is anxious to do all in its power to aid the good cause," Harrison said this morning, "but it feels it is working for the best interests of all by standing aside so far as seeking glory for itself is concerned and working for the success of one big charity game. The schedule committee's decision is final."

ONLY ONE GAME

Recently, when the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph started the ball rolling for a benefit football game, a Pitt-Duquesne game was suggested as a possibility. At that time sponsors of the present agitation threw cold water on the idea of benefits of any sort, only to come back now and propose the same contest. Meanwhile, both Pitt and Duquesne have been beaten, robbing such a contest of whatever glamour it may have held originally.

There will be one and only one college benefit game in Pittsburgh, and it can be made a success if all attention is concentrated on it, as Pitt so unselfishly suggests.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: KERN, FAMOUS GERMAN ARCHITECT—The Cathedral of St. Basil, outside of the Kremlin in Moscow, is one of the strangest specimens of architecture in existence. It is a veritable "nightmare of stone," having 20 multi-colored and gilded domes and towers of grotesque shapes and sizes. It was erected at the order of Czar Ivan the Terrible in 1554, to commemorate the capture of Kazan. After its completion the Czar ordered the architect's eyes put out to prevent the construction of a similar church in any part of the world. (Reference: "F Grance Encyclopedie" volume 24, page 399.) COUNT DE SADE—Count de Sade (1740-1814) spent almost 30 years of his life behind the bars in prisons and insane asylums. When he was confined in the Bastille he was able to procure writing materials for the first time. During five of his prison years he wrote the incredible number of 450 volumes. These books made his name a byword for criminal immortality. Between 1784 and 1789 he wrote at the rate of about 90 volumes a year. He is described by a contemporary as "one of the handsomest men" of the Eighteenth Century. (Reference: Bellicoli's "Comte de Sade.")

CARNEGIE WON'T BE EASY FOE FOR TEMPLE

By JESS CARVER.

Tank Highberger

The present football season has been a drab one for all concerned here in Pittsburgh. The bright spots have been few and far between; the outstanding performers are scarce and the disappointments many, but Carnegie's left tackle, the large Mr. Jonathan (Tank) Highberger, has definitely established himself as one of the best tackles in the East and one who is likely to wreck the to-the-right running attack of any ball club.

Tank will be playing the final game of his varsity career in the East as he bulwarks Tech's forward wall against Temple Saturday. He likes to play in the East, and has turned in two or three fine performances there. Tank never looks very hot in practice, in fact, watching him fool around in the Tartan Bowl, you'd never think he was the ball player he has shown himself to be when the going waxes tough.

SCORED TOUCHDOWN

Highberger played a whale of a game against Georgia Tech, was outstanding against Notre Dame; went well against New York University and surprised the boys when stacked up against Pitt. He's one of the few tackles who have scored touchdowns this year. Tank blocked a kick against Georgia Tech and tumbled on the ball over the goal line for a score.

Carnegie put in another afternoon of hectic drill yesterday, the Skibos taking advantage of the fine weather to hold a nice, long sweaty workout. The offensive was given a careful going over, especially the forward passing attack. Both Stewart Dueger and Harry McCurdy were used at the quarterback position.

It begins to look as though the same lineup that squared off against Pitt would get the call in Philadelphia. The line makeup is not definitely settled yet, although there cannot be many changes, for some of the Skibos still are more or less crippled.

TO WIND UP DRILLS

Another heavy workout today and a light one tomorrow afternoon will conclude Tech's physical preparation for the game. The squad will depart at 2:30 Friday afternoon for Philly, arriving there about 10:30 that night.

Up on the Bluff, where Elmer Layden and Joe Bach (pronounced Bach) teach the Dukes how they play football at Notre Dame, the boys are being drilled daily on a defense for Cliff Battles, West Virginia Wesleyan's great running back. Battles has been the big, big shot of the Bobcat play this year. When Battles has been able to tear, Wesleyan has been a ball

OLYMPIC GAMES CHIEFS MEET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Close on the heels of the National Amateur Athletic Union convention, the American Olympic Association met today with prospects of a more harmonious session than that of four years ago.

Members looked for no repetition of the bitter battle for control, which ended in the National Collegiate Athletic Association delegates walking out of the council room at the last quadrennial meeting here.

Leaders of the A. A. U. and the N. C. A. A. were firmly resolved to keep the hatchet buried, while at the same time determined to give their respective organizations as strong a voice as possible in Olympic affairs.

BRUNDAGE RE-ELECTED

Meeting every four years, the association, headed by Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, faced the task of doing in a single day all the organizing groundwork for America's participation in the Olympic games at Los Angeles a year from next summer.

Among the delegates were many of the individuals prominent in the A. A. U. convention, which ended yesterday with the re-election of President Avery Brundage, of Chicago, and the selection of Miami Beach for the 1931 convention. Ben H. Giffen, of Pittsburgh, was elected third vice president.

At the concluding session of the A. A. U. convention, 10 athletes were announced as adjudged the outstanding figures in American amateur sport today.

Bobby Jones' name led them all, although the committee which announced the selections stated the belief Bobby had "eliminated himself" by having withdrawn from amateur competition.

The others are: Clarence de

BIG SANDLOT TILTS ON TAP

By TOM BIRKS.

While a big list of independent football games is scheduled for Sunday, fans in the district will only see one conference game and that will bring the Burns A. A., of New Kensington, into action at West View Park, opposing the Muzzio machine.

While this game in the conference will be worth while, other big attractions are booked. At McKeesport, Fred Iverson will try to take revenge for three defeats by bringing the Akron Awnings to Rainbow Gardens.

Fans who know the caliber of the Buckeye squad will see the Black and White a little crippled trying to even up matters. At the Bridgeville Speedway, Art Rooney will throw his Majestics against the Chicago All-Stars. This Negro aggregation, coached and handled by the famous Fritz Pollard, of Brown University fame, is said to be a great aggregation.

The team is headed for Columbus for Thanksgiving Day, and Art Rooney, together with Cum Posey, arranged to have the team here for one day. Inky Williams, of Brown, and Butler, former Dubuque star, are the featured nationally-known players on the team. Milton, of Wilberforce; Eddie Bradley, of Iowa; George Booker, of Northwestern; Elmer Brown, of Illinois, and George Clintborne, of Case, also are on the squad.

A conference game, with Ambridge and the Majestics opposing each other, will be played on Thanksgiving Day, probably at West View Park or the Salt Works Grounds on Chateau street.

Sport Vignettes

Don't be taken in on the latest trick bet of the sure-thing gamblers . . . They'll bring up the subject, for no reason at all, of how many games the Pitt football team has lost this year . . . Right off you recall that Jock Sutherland, the Pitt mentor, predicted he would lose two games this fall and he did, to Notre Dame and Ohio State, while Nebraska was tied . . . The con man will tell you that you are wrong and Pitt has lost three games this year . . . An argument ensues and bets are made and you're hooked . . . Pitt lost to Southern California in the Tournament of Roses game last New Year's Day, and, if that wasn't this year (not season), when was it?

Hand it to Harry Lenny, veteran manager of Paul Swiderski and other ring stars, for coining a new way to make money without working for it. . . . He offered to bet a Hartford (Conn.) promoter he could name six leading fighters who would refuse to box Swiderski for a $7,500 guarantee. . . . Mr. Promoter took him up and Lenny wrote down the names of Tuffy Griffiths, King Levinsky, Tommy Loughran, Mickey Walker, Jim Maloney and Max Baer... Nuf ced.

Announcement by the St. Louis Cardinals that they have bought First Baseman Rip Collins from their Rochester farm in the International League causes William (Fuzzy for short) Pfarr, who writes the Sidewalks of Pittsburgh column when he can't get anyone else to write it for him, to remark that Rip is the fourth member of the Johnstown Mid-Atlantic League champions of 1925 to make good in a big way . . . The others are Joe Cronin, shortstop, formerly of the Pirates, now the star of the Washington Senators; Eddie Montague, with Cleveland, and Joe Olivares. Collins played in the outfield for the Johnnies, but was switched to first base by Rochester.

Fuzzy tells a good one about Olivares, a mite of a Cuban, whose idol was Luque, then the Reds' Cuban pitcher . . . Olivares could not speak English when he first joined the Johnstown club, and for some four months he had to subsist on fried ham sandwiches, because that was all he knew how to order in restaurants. . . . Later he "wised up," and, after eating his sandwiches, would tell the waiter to bring him some of the same fodder his teammates had ordered. . . . Joe now is playing shortstop for Louisville, in the American Association, and, according to Frank (Bull) Brown, the umpire in that circuit and local boxing judge, is a pip of a player.

Haus Girls to Roll Tinplate Team Stars

The Haus Recreation Alleys girls' bowling team, which on Monday night defeated the Barker Majestic Girls at New Kensington, 2,106 to 1,576, will roll the girls' team of the American Sheet and Tinplate Company on the Haus alleys, Federal street, next Saturday evening. The Haus team will engage in special matches every Saturday evening at 7:30 at home and is open to meet all comers. Matches may be arranged by calling Fairfax 5800.

CARDS TO AID NEEDY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Stanford University officials have agreed to turn over a percentage of the receipts of the Stanford-Dartmouth football game at Palo Alto, November 29, to a fund for relief of unemployment in the Bay district. The proposition was made by the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce.

ROYALS OPEN SEASON

By JULIUS LEVIN.

The Trinity Cathedral Royals will open their home season in the newly organized Pittsburgh Church League tonight when they oppose First Presbyterian. This league is composed of evenly matched teams and its sponsors are confident it will develope into a neck-and-neck race. The Royals have been working hard for the inaugural and will take the floor in the best of shape. The Royals' first-half schedule follows:

November 19, First Presbyterian at Trinity; November 27, Trinity at Faith Chapel; December 3, Mt. Troy at Trinity; December 10, First Presbyterian at Trinity; December 17, Faith Chapel at Trinity; January 7, Mt. Troy at Trinity; January 12, First Presbyterian at Trinity; January 20, Trinity at Faith Chapel; January 28, Mt. Troy at Trinity.

Floor Notes

All members of the Tri-County Industrial League must have their eligible lists filed by November 20, according to Honus Wagner, sponsor of the league.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association varsity and reserve teams will play their second home games tomorrow night when the East Liberty Y passers appear on the Y. M. H. A. floor.

The Red McMahan Club, of the South Side, will play preliminary to the South Side Falcons, of the West Penn League, this season. Several new players have been signed by the McMahans, including Andy Sydor and Pete Marvosh.

Buzz Leisenring, all-County League guard with the Goidensons last winter, has been working out with the Fintex team of the same loop.

Lou Skeegan, captain of last year's Fifth Avenue High School quintet, champion of the City League, is playing a fine game for the Y. M. H. A. Reserves.

The Sewickley Y. M. C. A. passers will open their season on Thanksgiving night against the Wetton Temeles. The Ramblers of Sewickley meet the West Virginia Reserves in the preliminary. The Temeles also are carded to meet the I. K. S. during their visit here.

Bill Irwin, of the Allegheny Chapter DeMolays, is making an effort to organize a DeMolay basketball league. Teams interested in joining this loop are asked to call Fairfax 6902.

The reorganized Allegheny County League will open its season on December 1. Eight clubs are enrolled.

SOUTH HILLS, WESTINGHOUSE MEET FRIDAY

CITY SCHOOL GRID TITLE TO BE AT STAKE

For the second time in many years, South Hills High School's football team is preparing to battle for the City League championship as the under dog.

A year ago South Hills, triumphant in its section, met the powerful Schenley High eleven in the Pitt Stadium. Schenley won with ease. This year South Hills must tackle a different opponent, but one that is considered to be just as tough as Schenley a year ago.

Westinghouse, Section I champion, and South Hills' opponent in the Stadium battle Friday, crushed all opposition in the first division. The Silver Lakers, with a hard charging and weighty line and a crackerjack backfield combination of Durberry, Dye, Ware and Fields, is going to be a heavy favorite over the Hillsmen, who, while they won the title, never were impressive.

MAZESKI BUILDS DEFENSE

Coach Mazeski, of South Hills, has been drilling his charges hard this week. He is paying special attention to the defense to developing a halfback to replace Jimmy Firrel, who was injured in the Oliver game two weeks ago.

South Hills was fortunate to gain a tie with Carrick in the final game of the campaign last week. The play of the entire eleven was ragged. Firrell's absence, of course, weakened the team considerable, and unless a halfback capable of turning in a creditable performance is uncovered by Friday, South Hills will not have even an outside chance against Coach Burton's Westinghouse machine.

Regan, Fields, Augustino, an end, and Bryant are scrapping it out at present for Firrell's job. Fields was used last week, but his defensive play was not up to snuff. Regan appears to be the logical choice for the position.

KISKI PLAYS ARMY

Kiski and the West Point Plebes tangle today at West Point. The Plebes are hoping to crash through and record a win over Jim Marks' charges. Last year, the teams battled to a tie, ending a long string of Kiski triumphs, unmarred by defeat.

One of the leading scholastic battles of the week-end will bring together Scott High, of North Braddock, and Braddock. Intense rivalry always has marked meetings between school teams of the two towns. Scott High has compiled a fine record this fall, and has tied Clairton, one of the leading contenders for the W. P. I. A. L. Class: A title.

Friday afternoon, Homestead and Munhall will clash at Homestead in a charity game, the proceeds to go to Homestead's welfare fund.

Coast Schools Move To Avert Big Break

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Conciliatory telegrams exchanged between faculty athletic representatives of the Universities of California and Southern California yesterday appeared to have averted a "break" in the athletic relations of the state's "Big Three."

Dean Thomas M. Putnam, of California, telegraphed Prof. H. C. Willett, of Southern California, expressing "regret" over the "newspaper controversy now being carried on over alleged professionalism." Dean Putnam said statements by individuals at California had no official authorization.

Prof. Willett's reply said the message "will go a long way toward re-establishing our friendly feeling for California, which has been sadly shaken by the events of the past week."

Long's Sport Comment

like to see old Fats Henry, of Wash-Jeff; Bill Kern, of Pitt; Bill Donohoe, of Carnegie, and a number of others perform again, if only for a few minutes each.

IN TURNING DOWN a reported offer of $5,000 to play professional football for the remainder of the season, Joe Savoldi is said to have told South Bend friends that he intended to play in the three charity games in which former Notre Dame gridders are to participate this fall, and that he hoped, some time, to ask for reinstatement at Notre Dame, in order to complete his studies.

To fill Savoldi's place in the hard game with Northwestern next Saturday, in which the Irish will be striving for their seventeenth consecutive victory in two seasons, Coach Rockne is expected to start with Larry Mullins at fullback and follow with Dan Hanley, a sophomore of considerable promise.

Joe Gans

WHEN HE TOOK the world lightweight championship from Al Singer in one minute and six seconds, Tony Canzoneri beat the fast time of one minute and 46 seconds in which Singer had won the title from Sammy Mandell on July 17. However, he did not break the record for a quick championship change in that class. That record was established by the late Joe Gans. Frank Erne, who had taken the lightweight crown from Kid Lavigne on July 3, 1899, defeated Gans in 12 rounds at New York on May 23, 1900, but in a second match for the title at Fort Erie on May 12, 1902, Gans knocked out Erne in exactly 54 seconds. Singer's defeat did set one record in that it made his reign as champion the shortest in the history of the lightweight division. He occupied the throne three days less than four months.*

Mar, marathon runner; Helene Madison, swimmer; Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, tennis queen; Barney Berlinger, track and field; Stella Walsh, sprinter; Ray Ruddy, swimmer; Tommy Hitchcock, polo ace; Marlow Rothert, Stanford shot putter and all-around athlete, and George Simpson, Ohio State's sprinter, who has covered 100 yards in 9 2-5 seconds with starting blocks.

By a vote of a nation-wide tribunal, the outstanding athlete of the 10 will be selected in the next few weeks and to him will be awarded the James E. Sullivan Memorial Trophy of the A. A. U., a gold cup bestowed this year for the first time.

As the A. A. U. delegates prepared to depart, they found their organization prospectively richer by $2,000,000. An anonymous gift of that sum to be used in establishing an endowment fund for the union was announced by President Brundage and nobody has proposed turning it down.

STILL U. S. G. A. OFFICER

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Bobby Jones' retirement has brought up the question of his eligibility to continue to sit in the councils of the United States Golf Association as a member of the executive committee.

Informally, at least, Herbert H. Ramsay, president-elect of the association, has taken the position that there is no reason why Jones' withdrawal from competition should persuade him to resign from the committee.

Jones, who with Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, of St. Paul, has been the only player in recent times to be selected for the executive committee, may solve the whole problem by resigning.

Three-Cornered Pro Court Loop Deal

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A three-cornered deal, involving Pat Herlihy, of Brooklyn; Al Kellett, of Paterson, and Honey Russell, of Chicago, was announced last night by President J. J. O'Brien, of the American Professional Basketball League.

By the deal, Paterson traded Kellett to Brooklyn for Herlihy in an exchange of centers, the New Jersey club also giving a large cash payment to the Visitations. Paterson then traded Herlihy to Chicago for Russell, one of the greatest guards in the league.

GREENFIELD WINS TITLE

Greenfield defeated Beltzhoover, 2 to 1, and annexed the soccer championship of Pittsburgh grade schools in a game at the Schenley High field yesterday afternoon. Greenfield won on a penalty shot, after Thompson, Beltzhoover goalie, had taken too many steps in clearing the ball.

By CARL W. SHATTO.

Duke McCurry, who played left wing for Roy D. Schooley's Yellow Jackets when they were winning national amateur championships for Pittsburgh a few years ago, arrived here today from Toronto. At a conference with Schooley this morning, McCurry was promised a trial with the Yellow Jackets of today, and he may appear in the local International League's lineup when they meet the Buffalo Bisons at Duquesne Garden tomorrow night.

Duke McCurry

Duke has been working out with the Toronto Maple Leafs for the last few weeks, and appears to be in fine condition. He rejected a Toronto contract offer because of unsatisfactory terms. He will be tendered a Jacket contract in the event that he "makes good."

Duke gets a "break" in that there is a weakness at left wing on the spare front line. He also was used at defense by the Pirates two seasons ago, and he may be inserted into the Jacket backfield.

The local puckmen play the Syracuse Stars in Syracuse tonight and Buffalo here tomorrow. Both of these frays should prove to be real battles, for Schooley has ordered his stalwarts to either turn in a victory in one of these jousts or make way for new talent capable of producing Pittsburgh triumphs. Last night Buffalo turned in its third successive shutout victory, and the Bisons, who have played together longer than any other team in the circuit, probably will attract a big crowd here. The Pittsburgh-Syracuse game probable lineup:

Pittsburgh.		Syracuse.
Fisher	G	Farrell
Yankoski	D	Fournier
Green	C	Hoffinger
Fields	C	Holmes
Proudlock	W	Markle
Gregg	W	Ladure

Referee—Squares—Pittsburgh; Berlet, McBride. Red Moore, McLeod, Halliday, Larocne, Ouellette, Smith, Buck Moore, McIntyre.

BUFFALO, LONDON WIN

FORT ERIE, Ont., Nov. 19.—Buffalo defeated Syracuse, 2 to 0; Windsor nosed out Detroit, 3 to 2, and London shaded Cleveland, 1 to 0, in an overtime battle in International Hockey League games played last night.

The Buffalo win was the Bisons' third shutout victory in as many starts this season. Goldsworthy scored the victory goal for London against Cleveland. The Detroit game attracted 12,000 fans.

QUAKERS IN TIE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—The Philadelphia Quakers, formerly the Pittsburgh Pirates, held the Ottawa Senators to a 2-2 tie in a National Hockey League game here last night. Jarvis and Barton scored for the Quakers. The New York Americans and Rangers battled to a scoreless tie, Toronto blanked Montreal, 3-0, and Boston downed Les Canadiens, 5-2, in other games.

Savoldi to Play As Pro in 1931

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Joe Savoldi, fullback and scoring ace of the Notre Dame eleven who withdrew Monday to avoid expulsion, will play professional football in 1931 with the Green Bay Packers, it was reported today.

Savoldi, who left school after he filed a divorce suit against his wife and the affair was publicized, will be paid about $5,000 for his season's work, it was said.

The former Irish fullback will appear in New York on December 14 with a team of former Notre Dame stars against the New York Giants. He will likewise appear in a charity game in California.

Carnera, Paulino May Meet in Milan

BARCELONA, Spain, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The bout between Paulino Uzcudun and Primo Carnera may be held in Milan if strike conditions do not show rapid improvement, Jeff Dickson, American promoter of the match, said today.

GIZZY BOUT OFF

Due to the inability of Scotty Monteith, matchmaker, to line up a suitable opponent for him, Battling Gizzy, of Donora, will not appear on the Bucky Lawless-Billy Townsend card in the Detroit Olympia arena Friday night, as planned, but likely will appear in the following show there. Meanwhile, Motor Square Garden is trying to close a Gizzy-Tony Herrera bout for December 8.

ANOTHER HANNUM

It was difficult in the extreme to get any information from the office of Carnegie Tech's director of sports publicity today. Why? Well, simply because Max Hannum, the genial director, was very busy receiving congratulations on the birth of a second son. The youngster arrived at 6 o'clock last night at Mercy Hospital, and gives Der Maxie a total of exactly two male heirs. Both mother and son are doing very nicely.

MORRISON DEFEATED

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 19.—Robert G. Morrison, of Pittsburgh, co-medalist in the fifteenth annual Carolina tournament, was beaten in the first round when David N. Tallman, of Minneapolis, scored a 74 against him yesterday, 2 and 1. In the third division A. P. Dysart, of Pittsburgh, defeated A. T. Treadway, of Stockbridge, Mass., on the nineteenth hole.

Cy Letzelter Dropped From Army Eleven

WEST POINT, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Cyril Letzelter, of Pittsburgh, former Carnegie Tech football star, was dropped from the varsity squad of the United States Military Academy yesterday.

Authorities said an investigation had disclosed Letzelter was over the age limit of 22 years when he entered the academy and that it would be "against the best interests of the Military Academy to allow him to participate in any further varsity athletic activities." He will be permitted to remain at the academy as a student, the official statement added.

Letzelter, a football ace at Carnegie Tech for three years, entered the Military Academy in July, 1929, giving the date of his birth as August 8, 1907. Investigation has established the date of his birth as December 8, 1906.

Letzelter said he had been raised by an aunt and uncle, after the death of his mother, and always had been given to understand the date of his birth was that he had given.

club. When they've stopped Battles, Wesleyan has been just another team.

Duquesne exhibited enough power against Geneva, a tougher team than Wesleyan, to indicate that the Dukes have the power to punch over a score or two on the 'Cats, but whether they will be able to check Battles is something else. They had their hands full with Johnny Knapic, who is not the powerhouse Big Cliff is, and when you stop to consider that Navy, Georgetown and New York University were unable to hold the Bobcat husky in check, you will have some idea of the job ahead of the Dukes here this week.

The Tipoff

Allegheny has been beaten only by Dartmouth. The Gaitors are big and fast, possessed of a crackerjack backfield, consisting of Garbark, as good a line plunger as there is in the section, Berger, Vezzo and Anderson. The line is tough and well drilled, and has been a tough one to puncture.

Waynesburg, laced by West Virginia Wesleyan last week, has another big afternoon ahead for Saturday in Davis-Elkins. The Scarlet Hurricane has taken more than its usual quota of setbacks this fall, but still is tough enough to be a high and mighty favorite over the Yellow Jackets.

Fighting for nothing at all, Westminster and Bethany will tie up at Bethany. The contest is the only Conference clash of the day. Westminster is working on its aerial attack and Bethany is working on a defense calculated to hold the score under 30. The Bisons are thinking of puncturing the ball after the third touchdown.

The deaf and dumb boys from Gallaudet will meet up with Gene Stringer's St. Francis Red Flashes at Johnstown Saturday. St. Francis has been another so-so ball club this year, its chief claim to fame being a victory scored over Rider College. Rider College, by the way, is not a school for equestrians. Ooops!!

The fine showing made by Wash-Jeff in beating powerful Bucknell here last week has served to toss no slight scare into the ranks of West Virginia. Ira Rodgers, so scouts report, has been working his Mountaineers overtime this week. A loss to Wash-Jeff will hardly be cheered in Morgantown, where they regard a moral victory with the same sort of a look you give a guy who inhales his coffee out of the saucer.

DAN GALLAGHER BACK ON CARD AT MOOSE

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

Every day we learn something. Today it is that Walter Gallagher, the heavyweight "phenom," who defeated Frank Novak at the Moose Temple last Friday night and is back again on next Friday's bill with Jack Similer, Negro, isn't Walter Gallagher at all, but Dan Gallagher. That's important. Many a fellow can be a whale of a fighter under the name of Dan and not be able to fight a lick as Walter, and vice versa. Gallagher looked very good as Walter against Novak, and now we'll see whether or not there's anything in a name. Incidentally, he's from the West End, too, and not from Dormont, as originally announced.

Having cleared up the status of Gallagher's moniker, let's pass on to the news that the Moose card is almost completed. Joe Trippe, of Rochester, N. Y., and Jimmy Kelly, southpaw belter, of the North Side, box the windup, and Johnny Smackey and Benny McArthur tangle again in the semi-final. Larry Kaufman, of Louisville, will be one of the principals in the opening bout, likely against Chink George, of Ohio. They are welterweights.

Between Rounds

Matchmaker Jules Bock, of Motor Square Garden, is completing his preliminary card for his Buck McTiernan-Sergt. Sammy Baker show next Monday night. He already has paired Jack Wilson and George Chambers, local middleweights, for the semi-final and Jack Tracy and Bib McCaffrey for a return go of the second bout.

Last Monday's Herrera-Glick show at the Garden drew almost $5,500, the best gate of the season so far.

Tommy Phillips and Patsy Brannigan will stage amateur boxing shows throughout the fall and winter beginning next Tuesday night, in Washington Hall, Columbus and Beaver avenues, North Side. Frank Hogan will be matchmaker. Six bouts, a battle royal and other entertainment will make up the opening bill. Phillips has rigged out Washington Hall as a gym and it is available for use by all boxers.

Semi-finals in all eight weight classes will be put on tomorrow night in the third of the series of shows to decide the winners of the Western Pennsylvania amateur championship belts in the Palisades ring, McKeesport. The finals are slated for Thursday night of next week.

Three eight-round bouts and a six-rounder will make up a card to be held in the Washington (Pa.) Coliseum next Monday night. Pete Herman, formerly of Connellsville, now of Detroit, will box Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the main event. Marty Kaufman, of Uniontown, and Mickey Conroy, of Wheeling, are in the second bout and Ross Fields, of Weirton, W. Va., and Jackie Powers, of Canonsburg, are in the first eight-rounder.

Add Warren, North Carolina heavyweight managed by Jimmy Bronson, wants to break in here against George Franks, Emmett Rocco, Tom Heeney or any of the other big fellows, according to a challenge sent in care of his former stablemate, Phil Goldstein, of the Hill. Warren recently knocked out Jeff Carroll in 40 seconds, and has boxed Georgie Hoffman and other good ones.

Another corking 10-round bout has been added to the already classy Cleveland News Christmas fund boxing card to be held in Public Hall, Cleveland, December 10. It brings together Harry Miller and Johnny Farr. In the windup, Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, boxes Paul Pirrone, while the semi-final is between Fidel LaBarba, former flyweight champion and recent conqueror of Kid Chocolate, and Eddie Shea.

Ray Eberle's boxing show next Monday night will be staged in the Rialto Theater, Allegheny, and not Rochester, Pa., as previously reported.

Eddie Cassidy, of the North Side, bantamweight champion of the Panama Canal Zone, has returned home after seven years of fighting there and is ready to meet the best in the local bantam and flyweight classes. Cassidy has in his possession the championship belt he won in 1928 when he defeated Walter Clevenger, of the Canal Zone. Among the boys he has fought in the two divisions are Davy Abad, Santiago Zorilla, Kid Campbell, Timothy O'Rourke and Martin Burke. He is under the management of Joe Rigby.

MOOSEHEART, W. VA. PLEBES TO CLASH

Members of the Moose lodges of the Pittsburgh district and their friends are interested in the football contest scheduled at the University of West Virginia Stadium Thanksgiving Day. The game will bring to Morgantown the celebrated Mooseheart High School football team, of Mooseheart, Ill., which will be pitted against the classy freshman eleven of the University of West Virginia.

The Mooseheart grid squad has been a feature of Middle Western scholastic football for the past 12 years. In that time they have played 88 games, winning no less than 75, losing only nine and tying four.

Many of the boys on the Mooseheart squad are from the Pittsburgh district. They have been trained and schooled in an educational way in the remarkable institution which the Moose members have founded at Mooseheart. Athletics at the school are on a high plane, the team being more than a match for the best scholastic elevens of the Chicago district.

MY FIFTY YEARS IN BASEBALL

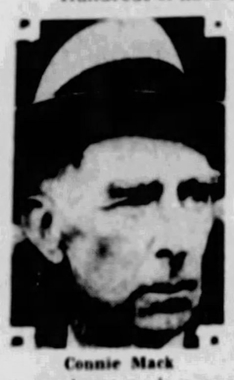
By CONNIE MACK,

Manager, World Champion Philadelphia Athletics

INSTALLMENT NO. 63.

When Bing Miller made his whopping hit and Simmons raced across the plate with the run that made us kings of the diamond, the scene was one that bankrupted adjectives.

Hundreds of hats were sailed on the field, spectators rushed out and grasped Athletics' heroes. Mayor Mackey forgot his dignity again and leaped out of his seat next to President Hoover to congratulate Miller and lead him in triumph to the bench.



Connie Mack

Cops rushed out to beat back the crowd and save Athletics' players from being harmed by over-enthusiastic spectators.

A radio was rigged up on our bench and I had promised to speak at the end of the game, but I forgot all about it and rushed into our clubhouse.

Here, for the first time in the season, I lost myself completely, hugging each player and jigging around the floor in joy. For a man of my years, I must have made a pretty spectacle, but I couldn't help it.

I felt as I did when I hit my first homer in East Brookfield when I was in my teens.

CONNIE'S POISE UPSET

I left the clubhouse in a quarter of an hour and had to fight my way to my office, where a large number of friends had assembled and I was congratulated on all sides.

It was a long time before I recovered poise, I can tell you.

This had been my sixth time in world series competition and I believe those Saturday and Monday games were the most pulsing and dramatic ever seen in the great October classic.

While the Athletics won four games out of five, these cold figures might suggest that it was a walkover for us and the Cubs had been outclassed, but nothing could be further from the truth.

We often hear of the breaks of the game and I want to say here that if there is such a thing, we had our share in that world series.

The Cubs were handled by Joe McCarthy, manager to his finger tips, who knows baseball from the grass tops and moreover possesses rare qualities of leadership.

McCarthy is a native of Philadelphia and was born and reared not far from my home. When he was appointed manager of the Cubs, in 1926, friends in Philadelphia gave him a quiet little dinner and invited me to attend and say a few words.

I had followed McCarthy's career in the minors and heard the most flattering reports about him. I did not hesitate at this dinner to express the opinion that he would be a success in the majors and was up to stay.

My prediction turned out correct, and just four seasons after this little function that didn't get a line in the papers at the time, because it was kept quiet, McCarthy and I were to meet in a struggle for the highest honors in baseball.

After being out of the running since 1914, when we won our previous championship, it was a source of great personal pride to me to be back in the championship race again.

In my years in the American league, since its inception as a major circuit in 1901, I have mixed the bitter with the sweet.

In 1902, 1905, 1910, 1911, 1913, 1914 and 1929, I won pennants, and, in 1910, 1911, 1913 and 1929 followed with world series triumphs.

FEELS COMPENSATED

After 1914, many lean years followed, but I finally was rewarded with the Athletics fighting to the top again. Discouragements in these dark days of reconstruction were many, but success finally came anew.

There was many a time when I was tempted to step down, but it was only a swiftly passing thought that came to me at a particularly bleak moment and then vanished.

I loved baseball too much and was too willing to accept the fortunes of the future to do anything but carry on.

Then I looked back in my career and saw that every setback I had experienced always was followed by a full measure of success. It was not time to quit.

While I had many friends who were loyal to me and believed in me, there were some who thought advancing years made the task too difficult for me and the job should be placed in younger hands.

TO QUIT AT 70

I am the senior manager of the major leagues, but the point that always has kept me young is the consciousness that all my players still believe in me.

It is my life ambition to remain as the active leader of my team with the same responsibilities and duties that I have borne since the club was established in 1901 until I reach the age of 70.

After that I may decide to do more golfing.

P. G. A. ELECTS CHARLEY HALL

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The Professional Golfers' Association of America last night elected Charles Hall, of Birmingham, Ala., president, picked June 26 and 27 as the dates for the 1931 Ryder Cup matches at the Scioto Country Club, at Columbus, O., and voted to increase the qualifying bracket for its annual P. G. A. championship from 64 to 100 players.

The P. G. A. also voted to limit the personnel of the American Ryder Cup team to those born in America.

The suggestion that a "business golfer" class be admitted to membership in the association was rejected.

"Von Elm and others belonging to the so-called 'businessmen-golfer class' will be welcomed to compete in professional tournaments," the association officials said, "but they cannot be admitted to membership until they have served three years' apprenticeship."

Alex Pirie, of Chicago, who retired as active president after two terms, was unanimously elected honorary president of the association, the second man in the organization's history to be so honored.

Other officers elected were:

Marietta Gridder Breaks Neck, Dies

Hurricane May Play Bobcats For Charity

GRAFTON, W. Va., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A committee, headed by Mayor Charles O. King, is seeking to arrange a post-season football game between Davis and Elkins College and West Virginia Wesleyan for the benefit of the Salvation Army. Invitations were extended the two schools yesterday. The contest would be set for December 6 here.

Davis and Elkins athletic officials are said to look with favor on the proposal, while Wesleyan officials have expressed doubt that the encounter may be arranged, due to an athletic board ruling last week against post-season contests.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Commenting on a suggestion emanating from Davis and Elkins, H. A. Stansbury, Mountaineer athletic director, last night said several proposals for charity football contests were under consideration.

Forbes

Swope Reports More Inquiries by Big Buyers

—By B. C. FORBES—

GERARD SWOPE, energetic, go-getting president of General Electric, gives me this encouraging news:

Business under negotiation between large power companies and G. E. dwindled to a low level in September, but has picked up notably since then.

Did you ever imagine that one machine built by General Electric may cost from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000? Each monster generating plant is built according to specifications, which never are alike in any two cases. There is no such thing as mass production of apparatus costing hundreds of thousands or millions of dollars. Naturally, therefore, it takes time, after negotiations open, to close a monster deal.

B. C. Forbes

The prospect now, is that General Electric's bookings will make a more favorable showing in the near future.

"CHEVROLET will build and sell a million cars next year."

H. J. Klinger, vice president and general sales manager, made that bracing statement to a large gathering of Chevrolet dealers in New York yesterday. The dealers were treated to a novel talkie exhibition of the production of the brand new series of Chevrolets, "the biggest and best and lowest-priced ever offered the public." If, as it has been aptly said: enthusiasm means sales, Chevrolet should exceed expectations.

Klinger, who is one of the master sales managers trained by the incomparable Dick Grant, whose amazing achievements in Chevrolet won him the vice presidency of General Motors Corporation, said:

"Business already is improving. Despite general conditions this year, we have 600 more direct dealers than we had on January 1. We have had the best clean-up of old stocks in our history. Used car stocks are lower than a year ago.

"In the first 10 months this year, despite all the talk of depression, OUR DEALERS SOLD 1,100,000 USED CARS IN ADDITION TO ALMOST AS MANY NEW CARS.

"This highly satisfactory performance is the result of our having built up a permanent, substantial dealer organization, since the dealer is the key to the success of any manufacturer. While the Chevrolet dealer is strictly an independent merchant, we are co-operating with him in installing a uniform accounting and finance system and instructing him in its operation. We co-operate with him in advertising, service work, and in every other way possible.

"With our dealer organization in the best shape it has ever been, we are entering the new year with every confidence of bettering 1929 and touching one of the highest marks we have ever attained."

Picture for yourself how much the making and selling of a million cars will mean in filling pay envelopes, putting money into circulation, creating business activity.

ONE OF THE MOST interesting plants I have ever visited is that of the Surface Combustion Company of Toledo, one of the many enterprises originated by that mechanical and scientific genius, Henry L. Doherty, who, by the way, is in active harness after his long spell of indisposition.

Under the direction of Frank H. Adams, this company spends large sums on research into devising and constructing gas-heating furnaces, ranges from a modest appliance for installing in an ordinary domestic coal-burning furnace to mammoth furnaces for steel and other industrial plants, some of them as big as a sizeable building. Much research is done for the American Gas Association.

The use of gas, especially natural gas, is expending extraordinarily. Hundreds of millions of dollars are being spent on building pipe lines of unprecedented dimensions and in installing distributing facilities in communities in most parts of the country. New York, it is understood, will by and by be abundantly supplied with natural gas.

Adams told me the company's business is 20 per cent above 1928 and that the sale of domestic equipment (house heating conversion burners) is ahead of last year. In Washington, D. C., 1,200 homes were converted into gas users in two months.

By and by, it is said, the usual thing will be to heat our homes by natural gas. It is, however, in the industrial field that natural gas has been making the most amazing strides.

Industrial Bonds Show High Yield

By GEORGE B. SNYDER.

LACK OF CONFIDENCE in the business situation and in the securities market has been reflected in the prices of second grade bonds along with quotations on stocks. While the decline in money rates has been accompanied by strength in the highest quality railroad and public utility bonds, many industrial bond issues are now close to their lows for the year.

This condition may be attributed to the fact that large institutions such as banks and insurance companies have provided a good market for the high grade issues. On the other hand, caution on the part of individual investors has resulted in neglect of the securities which do not enjoy the highest rating but which still may be classed as good investments for businessmen, particularly in view of the high yields now available.

Good Margin Shown

OF COURSE YIELD should not be the only consideration in selecting investments. In some cases the extremely low prices of bonds reflect the possibility of the underlying companies finding themselves in a dangerous condition. There are still many issues, however, which represent the properties of strongly intrenched organizations. These companies may be having a bad year from the standpoint of earnings but they are earning their interest by a good margin and will undoubtedly find profits restored to normal as soon as the business situation turns toward improvement.

An example of an exceptionally high yield bond which appears to be adequately protected is found in the Dodge Brothers 6s. Priced at about 85 they are approximately 13 points below their high for the year. They afford a yield of 8.30 per cent for an obligation maturing in 10 years. These bonds were assumed by Chrysler Corporation in the merger with Dodge in 1928.

Less Than Current Assets

AT PRESENT THIS issue of Dodge 6s represents the only funded debt of the Chrysler Corporation. At the time of the merger Chrysler assumed $57,276,000 of the issue. Chrysler's funded debt on September 30, 1930, had been reduced to $49,211,500. All but $559,500 consisted of the Dodge 6s. The minor portion was represented by Maxwell Corporation 5½s which recently were called for payment.

Chrysler is having a bad year as are nearly all the automobile companies, but there is no doubt that the future will see the restoration of earnings to a satisfactory basis. Interest charges on the Dodge 6s were covered seven times last year. Chrysler's September 30, 1930, balance sheet showed net current assets of $69,139,286 or $19,927,786 in excess of the funded debt.

Other High Yields

A STUDY OF BONDS listed on the New York Stock Exchange and on the New York Curb brings to light similar instances. Republic Iron and Steel 5s yield about 4.93 per cent. Inland Steel 4½s are priced to yield 4.75 per cent. Armour of Illinois real estate first 4½s show 6.10 per cent. Childs debenture 5s yield 6.75 per cent.

STEEL TRADE ENCOURAGED

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

Prospects of heavier railroad buying, a slight gain in demand from the automotive industry, further moves toward stabilization of steel prices and indications that the scrap market may finally be scraping bottom are sources of encouragement in the iron and steel industry.

Inquiries for close to 50,000 freight cars, requiring 700,000 tons of steel, are expected following the completion of financial arrangements under which a leading banking house will sponser the underwriting of equipment trusts at a low rate of interest for 80 per cent of the purchase price of the rolling stock and car builders will carry the remaining 20 per cent on their books for repayment in small instalments. Meanwhile railroads are adding to their repair shop forces and are coming into the market for their shop requirements in steel.

In the automobile industry the launching of production on new models has resulted in a moderate gain in steel orders, particularly in the Cleveland district, where steel ingot output has been raised in two weeks from 20 per cent to 44 per cent of capacity. The trend in the motor car trade is not uniform, with some manufacturers further reducing production and others, notably the Chevrolet company, expanding output. The Chevrolet program for November-December calls for a production of 90,000 to 100,000 cars.

With seasonal forces at work which ordinarily cause a tapering of steel output as the year-end approaches, the gain in prospective demand is interpreted as a promise of improvement in January rather than in the immediate future. Whether significant of an impending change in trend or not, the production of the Steel Corporation has advanced slightly, partly offsetting additional losses by other companies. Raw steel output for the country at large, at 43 per cent, compares with a rate of 44 per cent a week ago. The Iron Age composite price for pig iron has declined from $16.29 to $16.13 a gross ton. The finished steel composite is unchanged at 2.135 cents a pound.

Pennsy Loadings Continue Lower

Total cars handled by the Pennsylvania Railroad system during the week ended November 15 were 131,301 as compared with 136,288 in the preceding week and 162,222 in the corresponding 1929 week.

Loadings from January 1 to November 15 totaled 6,546,078 cars, against 7,705,515 last year.

Restaurant Chain Reports Profit Up

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The third quarter report of the John R. Thompson Company, chain restaurant operators, revealed today a gain for 1930 over the same period last year. Net income for the three months ended September 30, 1930, was $265,696 after all charges and federal taxes, equal to 88 cents a share, as compared with a 1929 net for the period of $260,988, equal to 87 cents a share. The company has 300,000 shares outstanding.

Net income for the first nine months of 1930, however, was under that of the same period last year. The figures were: 1930, $803,733, equal to $2.74 a share; 1929, $936,816, equal to $3.12 a share.

Penn. Mother Solves Problem

"MY little daughter, Marie, caused me many anxious moments," says Mrs. Michael Mobile, 339 N. Edgewood St., Philadelphia. "She was listless, didn't want to play and had very little appetite.

"She suffered a lot from constipation until I heard about California Fig Syrup and decided to give her some. Fig Syrup helped Marie remarkably. She is now strong; has no trouble with her bowels; has a good appetite and digestion; is quite the picture of health as you can see."

For over 50 years, California Fig Syrup has been helping bilious, headachy, weak, constipated babies and children. Doctors by thousands recommend this pure vegetable product. Children love its flavor. It acts gently to open the bowels in colds or children's diseases. It cleanses a child's system harmlessly and in a hurry. Bowels become regular with its use and remain so, because they are toned and strengthened by this wonderful combination of pure fig syrup and elixir of senna.

Orders Being Placed For 1931 Chemicals

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Main interest in the present market for heavy chemicals centers in the quotations for, and placing of, contracts covering delivery over 1931, Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering reports. Producers have been eager to place orders for future delivery because the volume of bookings would furnish some indication of the rate at which productive activity might be established for the coming year.

STOCKS PUSH UP IN QUIET TRADING

Improvement in Accessory And Motor Shares Notable; Long List Gains 2 to 4

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.) — Having passed the tests of a secondary selling wave in a manner gratifying to Wall street, the stock market pushed higher in quiet trading today.

Business news was too confused to enspire any brisk upturn, but the fact the market was able to withstand announcement of insolvency of one of the smaller stock exchange members was regarded as evidence that the recent nervous tension had been effectively eased.

FAIR GAINS MADE

A long list of shares gained 2 to 3 points or more.

Improvement in the motor and motor accessory manufacturing issues was conspicuous. While motor manufacturing has made uneven progress of late, there has been a definite pickup in the aggregate. Studebaker reported October sales actually above that month of 1929. Distribution of about $4,400,000 of the cash surplus of Queen and Crescent as an extra dividend helped the rail issues. The bulk of this distribution will go to Southern Railway, which controls Queen and Crescent, and Baltimore and Ohio which owns about a one-third interest.

The weekly steel trade reviews reported but a slight decrease in ingot output from the preceding week. Iron Age estimated operations at 43 per cent of capacity, against 44 in the preceding week, and 48 two weeks ago.

LOADINGS DECREASE

The freight car loadings figures as announced for the week ended November 8 showed a drop of 53,239 cars from the previous week, but this was largely attributable to the election day holiday. The weekly petroleum figures were disappointing, showing another gain in gasoline stocks amounting to 251,000 barrels. Crude production also picked up a little. The copper situation remained somewhat confused. Leading producers still held their prices at 12 cents a pound, but speculators offered the metal substantially lower.

Passing of the selling crisis in the Winnipeg grain market had a favorable influence on speculative sentiment.

WHEAT RALLIES AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, Nov. 19.—Favored by strength at Liverpool and Buenos Aires and good buying by local traders the wheat market opened strong today after yesterday's heavy break and continued to maintain strength as the session progressed.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—The interpretation placed here on the refusal of the federal government to take a emergency action immediately to guarantee a minimum price for wheat is that government officials feel that if there is any bottom at all to the wheat market, the bottom has now been reached and that there must be a steady, if slow improvement in wheat prices.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. — Wheat prices today closed about a cent above the levels at which the United States government sponsored agencies entered the market last week.

Midland United Plan Favored by Holders

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Midland United Company stockholders today approved the agreement to merge the American Public Utilities Company into Midland United Company.

The agreement will be voted upon tomorrow by stockholders of American Public Utilities Company.

K. C. Southern Net For October Down

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Kansas City Southern Railway makes following report for October and the 10 months:

	1930	1929
October gross	$1,571,896	$2,117,528
Net after taxes	438,189	742,202
Ten months gross	16,670,904	18,641,153
Net after taxes	4,379,264	5,377,530

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—All around upturns in grain values took place early today, owing largely to persistent buying of wheat future deliveries for United States government sponsored bodies. Besides, Liverpool and Buenos Aires wheat quotations showed advances, and the corn market here was stimulated by forecasts of wintry weather over the corn belt. Starting at ⅛ off to 1¼c up, Chicago wheat futures scored moderate general gains. Corn opened ⅜-⅞c higher, and subsequently rose further.

Less Fall Wheat Sown in Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—The area sown to fall wheat in Canada on October 31 for the season 1931 was estimated at 894,000 acres by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This is a decrease of 148,000 acres from the 1,042,000 sown last year.

The condition of fall wheat on October 31 was 96 per cent of the 10-year average, against 88 per cent on the same date last year, the report said.

Studebaker Sales Gain in October

DETROIT, Nov. 19.—Studebaker Corporation sold 4,700 cars in October, compared with 4,600 in October, 1929, the first month in 1930 when sales have shown a gain over the corresponding period of 1929, A. R. Erskine, president, stated.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Curb market settled back into a rut today, unable to maintain the pace of the rally on the Stock Exchange, and yet sufficiently resistant to discourage much activity on the short side.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Raw sugar was unsettled early today owing to the setback in futures, which allowed operator owned sugars to be offered at concessions. Buyers, however, showed no very keen interest and the only sale reported was of 7,000 bags of Cuban from store worked yesterday at 3.42, duty paid, while offerings today were 3.38. Refined was unchanged at 4.75 for fine granulated, with some second hands available at 4.65. The withdrawal demand was again of liberal proportions, but there was no new business reported.

Steel Prices.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Trading was dull in bond market today. Small fractional fluctuations either way wrought virtually no change in the price level and reflected a firm undertone.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, the omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

U. S. GOVERNMENT BONDS.

DAILY TRUE STORY

'Moanin' Blue'

"It's a shame and I wouldn't stand for it," Fern Weycroft said.

Her voice was soft—it couldn't help being soft, but Fern stamped a pretty foot and her eyes flashed. She was quite serious about it.

"Oh, I'll get to play it before long. Marty is running his orchestra, after all, and I can't be unreasonable, dear," Hal Davison answered.

Fern Weycroft was an inspiration. Hal had known her in his home town. Her father had been snare-drummer in the local band and orchestra for years, and, since Fern was old enough to hold drumsticks, he had taught her to drum.

When Hal Davison came home from college he had agreed to become a member of the famous Marty Martin Orchestra. Hal had been a member of the college orchestra. Marty had heard him making the old saxophone do everything—weep, talk, growl and moan.

Hal was surprised at Fern's efficiency. He had taken her down to the Halloween dance in his home town. Of course, he knew almost everyone there and in the orchestra. For a lark he took the saxophone and showed them something about pushing music and other sounds through it. It made a big hit with his friends. When he agreed to an encore, he saw Fern take the place of the trap drummer.

Fern Gets Job

Hal almost forgot to play, so amazed he was over Fern's skill.

And so when Hal went to the city to start out with the famous Marty Martin Orchestra, he had a brilliant idea.

"I know a mighty pretty girl, Mr. Martin," he said, "who is a wizard at traps. How would it be to put her in the orchestra? Judkins is going to leave us, you know."

Judkins was the "traps" with Martin's outfit.

Hal wrote to Fern to come on to the city with her mother. He explained the Marty Martin outfit was rehearsing before starting out, as two new members had been taken in and they were looking for a new "traps."

Fern was hired.

Marty Martin's Orchestra did amazingly well. Fern was quite an attraction, not only because she was a lone and pretty girl in a big orchestra, but because she could smash out the percussion stuff with the best of them.

Hal Davidson had composed a number of things. He felt that his biggest hit was "Moanin' Blue." Naturally, he wanted Martin to use it. But Martin wouldn't.

Martin had every right to turn it down, of course. He said, in his quiet way, that he didn't think it was quite the thing to get over.

Receives Telegram

Marty Martin's outfit had circled back to the city for an engagement.

A new and decidedly swank hotel had been opened. Martin's orchestra was to play there three months.

"Oh, dear," Fern wailed to Hal as he had dropped in at the hotel where she and her mother were living. Fern's mother traveled with her.

"What's the trouble?" Hal asked, anxiously.

"All of those big Broadway men come to the grill night after night, and if you could only play your 'Moanin' Blue' some of them might want to use it in a show or something. Just the other night there were two producers and three music publishers there. I wanted to hammer Marty with the bassdrum stick. I was so mad at him. I knew it wouldn't do any good to ask him to play your music—"

"Now don't tell a soul," Martin said. He had great confidence in Hal. "I don't want any rivals horning in with lower bids."

"Can you come on and discuss contract for using you and your orchestra in our new production, 'World Revue.'?"

"Can I? Watch me," Marty declared. "Man, it's the biggest thing yet, sound and colors—and big money for all of us. I'm going to fly part of the way out, and won't be gone more than a week or 10 days. You can handle the outfit all O. K."

"Do my best," Hal promised.

And so Marty Martin started for the coast. He hadn't been there long—it seemed to Hal that he could no more than have reached there—when Hal got a telegram from him, which was:

Martin Returns

After a while, when there was a special event at the hotel grill and a score of celebrities from a first night lay and a first night picture were among the guests, the orchestra played Hal's "Moanin' Blue."

It got great applause.

Then Marty Martin came back.

He confronted Hal and he cursed violently. He finished with, "You are through! That was a dumb trick, sending me a fake telegram and getting me out to the coast, and then ringing in that lousy composition of yours—"

He got no further. Hal showed him his own telegram, only it wasn't Martin's at all. "Cheap trick," Martin growled, "this fake was even put on a sending blank—"

"I did it—I did both of them," Fern exclaimed, calmly.

"Then you're fired," Martin yelled at her.

"Too late, Hal and I have resigned. I wrote out our resignations yesterday. If only you'd have given Hal a chance with his own music—and so—so I had to make a chance, and we don't care anyway because it's going to be put in a big revue and Hal has sold it outright for an awful big sum, and we couldn't play with your outfit any more because we're going to be married tomorrow and go on a honeymoon and—"

But Marty Martin tossed up his hands and hurried away.

I RAN INTO HARTFORD OAKDALE TODAY AND HE SPENT ALL THE TIME WE WERE AT LUNCH TELLING ME THAT SAME BLOOD-CURDLING STORY HE TOLD DAD ABOUT GETTING $100,000 TO GO TO SOUTH AMERICA SACRED COW, I NEVER BEFORE REALIZED THAT HARTFORD WAS SUCH A—FAKE! PEGGY, I'VE ALWAYS KNOWN THAT. ALWAYS. I TOLD YOU SO TOO, OFTEN.
SUCH A SILLY STORY. AT FIRST I JUST SMILED, BUT WHEN HE ACCUSED MONTGOMERY EL DORADO OF BEING IN A SORT OF PLOT I STOOD UP AND SAID, HARTFORD OAKDALE, YOU ARE INSULTING THE MAN I INTEND TO MARRY. YOU HAVE GONE ONE STEP TOO FAR.
GOOD FOR YOU! ISN'T HE THE NERVY THING! SUCH GALL!
AND, I SAID, YOU HAVE CERTAINLY NOT RAISED YOURSELF IN MY ESTIMATION BY TELLING SUCH AN ABSURD STORY ABOUT MONTGOMERY BEHIND HIS BACK.
FINE, PEGGY, FINE! I'LL BET HE WAS AS MEEK AS A LAMB THEN, EH?
OH NO. THEN HE, TOO, LOST HIS TEMPER. HIS EYES FLASHED AND HE LOOKED SIMPLY TERRIBLE AS HE SAID, I WAS ON MY WAY TO SEE EL DORADO WHEN I MET YOU. AND, HE SAID, THAT'S WHERE I'M GOING NOW. AND MAY THE BEST MAN WIN
SUCH SLUSH! MAY THE BEST MAN WIN. ISN'T AN EXPRESSION LIKE THAT SICKENING? I'M GLAD YOU FINALLY REALIZE IT TOO, HONEY.

An amazing situation has come to light in Germany. A government official confessed that he was bribed by kisses and cakes of chocolate. He has been sentenced to a year in prison.

Such practices may ultimately corrupt government in America, in which case be prepared for the shock of new items like this—

NEW YORK — Magistrate Alex Weisenheimerwitz today refused to tell a grand jury where he got the lolly-pop he was seen licking immediately after he released Limbo Diamond, racketeer, for the twenty-seventh time in one week.

WASHINGTON—Secret service agents swooped down upon a suspicious character seen waiting in the ante-room of the Secretary of the Interior, and siezed a little bag containing jelly beans.

CHICAGO—Al Capone is reported to have made a deal for the entire output of the National Nutty Five-Cent Bar Company.

The Assessment Protests

Taxpayers' Complaint Is Warning to City Administration That Economy Is Demanded.

The meetings held by taxpayers in various parts of the city to protest against the valuations placed on their property for taxation purposes by the Board of Assessors indicate that the citizens' patience is about exhausted. The tax rate is one of the highest in the country, and to have the taxes further increased by a raise in the assessment is apparently more than some of the people can stand, to judge from the talk of "confiscation."

If the administration is wise, it will heed the warning and make an earnest effort to cut down expenses and reduce the taxpayers' burden.

The County Commissioners have sensed public sentiment in this respect. The budget has been pared down, and notwithstanding that bond interest will be exceptionally heavy next year it is announced the tax rate will not be raised. In the interest of economy, it is intimated that all proposals for salary increases will be disapproved.

It is to be hoped that the city administration will take a leaf from the County Commissioners' book and adopt a similar policy of retrenchment.

Let money be spent for useful things, but let care be taken to see that the city gets a dollar's worth of service for every dollar of the taxpayers' money that is spent.

Signs of Confidence

The Downhearted Can Take Comfort from Pittsburgh Industrial Leaders' Encouraging Statements.

Statements made by executive officers of several of Pittsburgh's largest manufacturing and public utility companies during the last few days, to the effect that they have no intention of laying off employes, should prove encouraging to those who are downhearted about the industrial situation.

The statements breathe confidence that the end of the depression is not far away.

The Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, though operating at only 48 per cent of capacity, has almost as many men on its payroll as a year ago. Working time has been reduced, but the employes have an income. That is an example that may well be commended to the attention of all large employers who find business slack. Let what work there is be parceled out among all the employes in preference to keeping some on full time and furloughing others.

Jones and Laughlin, the Philadelphia Company and other corporations are using some of their men who otherwise might be idle in making plant extensions and improvements.

That certainly shows confidence that the business situation is about to take a turn for the better.

The Jewel's Setting

Samuel Eckels, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways and president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, showed commendable pride of craftsmanship in his address before the latter body at its convention here.

He showed it in his appeal for beauty along the highways when he likened a modern improved road to a "precious stone of the finest water, cut to perfection by a master hand." The point he made was that just as a gem requires a beautiful setting, so a fine road needs trees and vines and shrubbery and the other things that enter into landscape gardening to set it off.

It may or may not be a fact that it is commercially profitable for a community to beautify its roads. The theory is that it stimulates travel for pleasure; the travelers, of course, spend money in the communities through which beautiful roads pass.

Aside from the possibility that it may bring financial gain the beautifying of roads is well worth while for the pleasure and satisfaction that attractive environment imparts.

Marines in Nicaragua

If They Are Not Ordered Home Soon the Committee on Foreign Relations Should Learn Why.

To insure a free and fair election in Nicaragua in 1928, President Coolidge consented to the request of Nicaragua that American representatives selected by him should supervise the national elections in that year.

President Coolidge also consented to assign American officers to train and command a non-partisan national constabulary for Nicaragua, to become the permanent national police force of Nicaragua.

President Coolidge consented also to leave in Nicaragua UNTIL AFTER THE ELECTION OF 1928 a sufficient force of Marines to support the work of the constabulary and insure peace and freedom at the election.

On November third last another American electoral mission, commanded by Capt. Alfred W. Johnson, U. S. N., supervised the congressional elections in Nicaragua.

Nearly 200 American Marines are completing their second year in training and commanding the Nicaraguan National Guard.

Apart from this training mission, however, there are still in Nicaragua more than 1,000 enlisted men and commissioned officers of the Second Marine Brigade and Aircraft Squadron.

This additional force was left there by President Coolidge with the distinct understanding that ITS STAY SHOULD BE TEMPORARY.

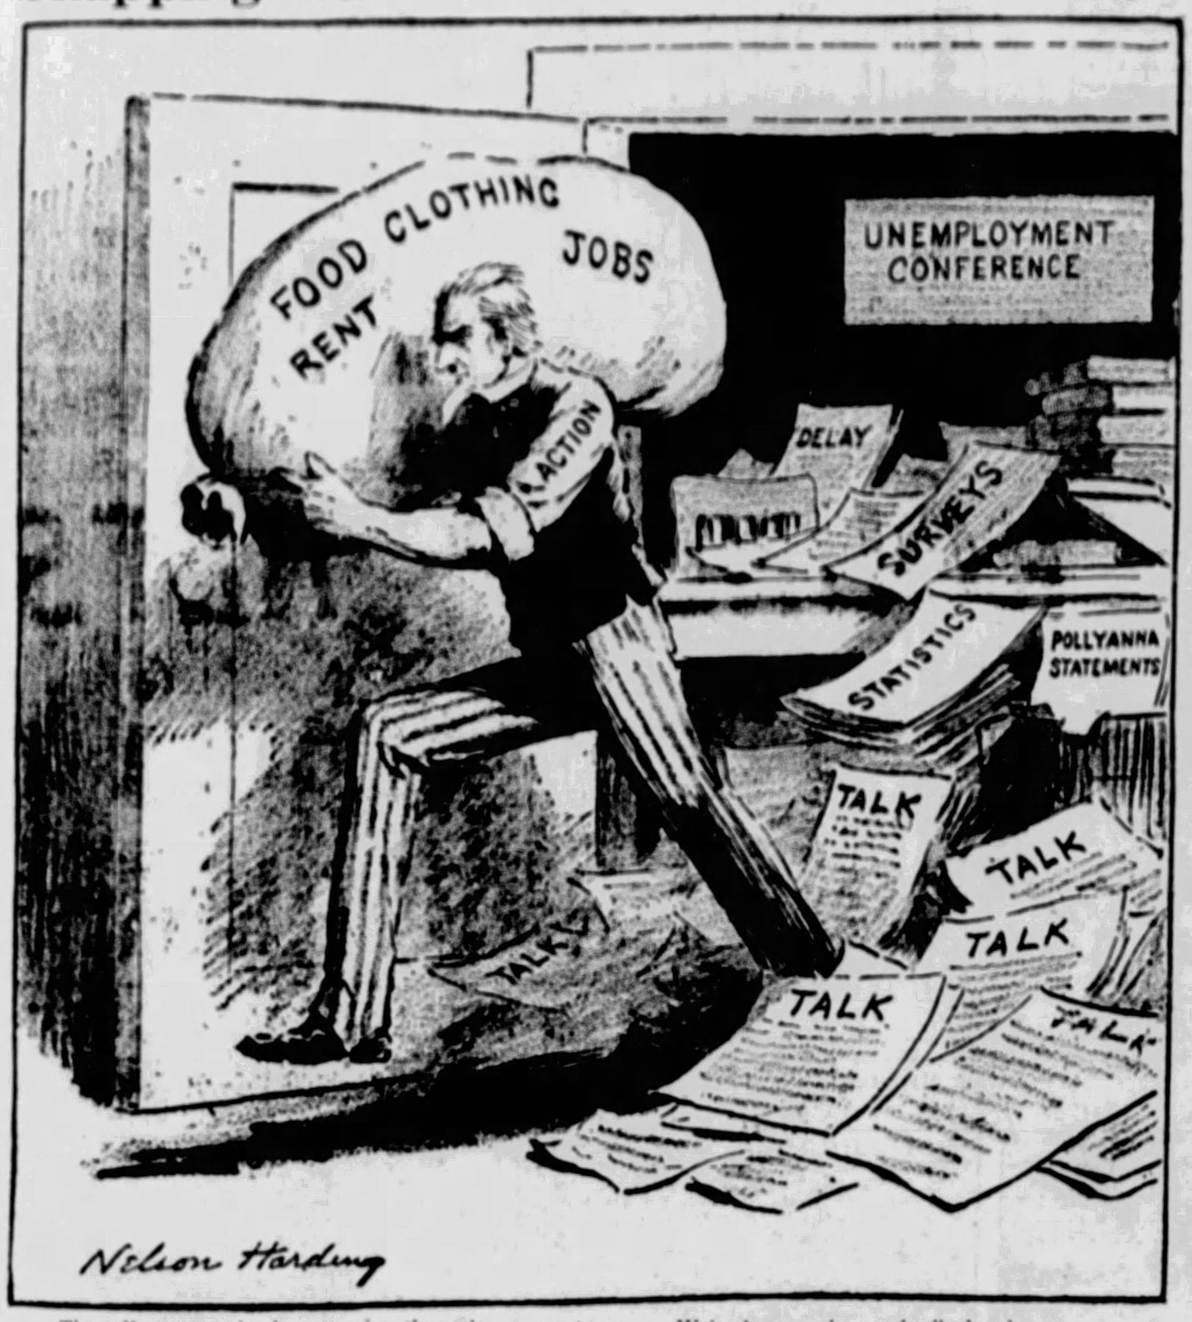
And as long as President Hoover permits the Moncada government to use these more than 1,000 American Marines, to chase Nicaraguan bandits, President Moncada will apparently not keep the promise of his government to finance the organization and training and maintenance of a Nicaraguan National Guard of sufficient size to maintain order in Nicaragua.

If all the American Marines in Nicaragua, except those actually engaged in training the Nicaraguan National Guard, are not ordered home before Congress convenes, the Committee on Foreign Relations owes it to the American people TO FIND OUT THE REASON WHY.

Snapping Out of It

By Nelson Harding



The talk stage we've been passing through
At last produces action
In measures of emergency
Relief and benefaction,

We've been so slow and talked so long
About the threat of winter,
That now to meet its menace we Must hustle like a sprinter.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Helping Each Other

The most amazing thing about this political semester is that the Republicans have been screaming for help and the Democrats answered them.

We know that the lion shall lie down with the lamb. But the mouse had better not share twin beds with the cat.

"Boys, let us have reform within the party if we have got to turn Democrat to get it."

One word led to another until finally they almost had a new amendment.

That's how those things start. The boys get together, talk it over, kick it around, push it aside, heat it up and then set it on the window sill to cool off.

If we remember Aesop and his foibles correctly, there ain't much nourishment in being right. The satyr, who is a person who has to get his shoes made in a blacksmith shop, got plenty angry when a tourist blew hot and cold with the same breath.

All the tourist blew on was soup. What do you think will happen when you try to blow hot and cold on an administration?

Do you think the Democrats and Republicans will ever pull together? They will if the Democrats promise to be the candy and let the Republicans do the pulling.

You can start hoping now and all you will do is fracture your wishbone.

Taking it all in all, which saves a lot of arithmetic, we consider it very nice of the Republicans to help them do some of the work and take some of the raps.

If you hold a nutmeg too long all you are going to grate is your thumb.

But we know the Democrats will help the Republicans.

But a Democrat will do anything to get to Washington.

Well, politics makes strange Pullman passengers.

Isn't It So?

An executive is an important person who hasn't much to do.

Too many of us use blank cartridges when we go out gunning for success.

If the truth be known, no woman wants a perfect husband. She wants a companion, not a code of ethics.

METEOROLOGY

By Archibald Henderson

One of the most extraordinary of the recent sciences developed by the ingenuity of man is meteorology. It is concerned with a subject of universal incidence.

Mark Twain said that everybody talked a great deal of the weather, but nobody did anything about it. The meteorologist does something about it. He not only advises us when to carry an umbrella, but also tells us what kind of weather to expect, and when and where to expect it. This type of science, though by no means exact, effects remarkable achievements in foreshadowing what will take place.

Meteorology is a science of comparatively recent origin. Little more than 60 years ago, Abbe at Cincinnati was issuing what he called "weather probabilities." Shortly afterwards, official weather foreshadowings or reasonable prophecies were issued. It was doubtless the uncertain state of this science, which made "probabilities" seem too pronounced a term; and caused the substitution of the term "indications" in 1876. Only 41 years ago, the term "forecast," now universally accepted and employed, was first adopted.

Today the weather is no sphinx, giving only mute answers to our question. There is no longer any oracle at Delphi; but we consult another oracle: the laws of air currents, of wind velocity, of temperature changes, of barometric pressures.

Bowman points with pride to the celebrated tide machine of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey which permits an operator to pull levers and scan indices and, at length, by what to the layman seems mystery as deep as an oracle, derive the future time of occurrene of the tide at a given point on the earth with all but mathematical accuracy!

During the past few years, the weather forecasts for areas over the North Atlantic have proven of incalculable value to aviators contemplating trans-Atlantic flight. If heavy storms were indicated by the forecasts, the flights were postponed, however fair and enticing the weather was, locally. Many lives, undoubtedly, have thus been saved, many airplane wrecks or losses prevented.

It is quite true, from the scientific standpoint, that, as the Bible hath it, "the wind bloweth where it listeth." In meteorology, however far it develops as a science, there will always be an element of the haphazard, of the unpredictable. But no meteorologist doubts that there are great laws of the physical universe, of wind and weather, of temperature and tide, which remain to be discovered.

As yet we have learned how to forecast only a few of the natural forces which are governed by law.

The approximate course of the Gulf Stream was first charted by Benjamin Franklin, it appears, shortly before the Revolutionary War. Following Franklin, who was able to trace the progress of cyclones, Ferrell first formulated, considerably less than a century ago, the law of behavior of the air in a cyclone.

We are accustomed to deal with colossal figures in the domain of the geologist and the astronomer. The geologists vary greatly in their estimates of the age of the earth, or of the duration of life on the earth.

The astronomers, during recent years, have greatly extended our reach into the interstellar spaces and compelled the use of much longer yardsticks. The meteorologist, who deals with the winds, their velocity and force, deals also with the higher magnitudes. For it has been estimated that the total energy of the motion of the winds of the earth is something near twenty billion horse-power hours!

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

I saw an amazing contraption the other day. It was a piece of furniture, occupying a space hardly three feet square. Yet in that small space there were combined a dresser, wardrobe, writing desk, shoe box, book niche and a rack for afternoon tea service. Everything but a bathtub and doubtless that will have been added by the time this goes to press.

"It's the latest thing," they said. "You'll see pieces like this everywhere. It's taking the place of the old-fashioned stuff. No more room for that any more. Rents are so high and, besides, people don't like to be bothered with a lot of elaborate housekeeping."

All true—and I knew it, as you do. But it set me wondering. There stood something more than a bundle of wood, paint and steel. There stood the symbol of a new order of things and of a home that fitted that new order of things. WHAT SORT OF A HOME WAS IT GOING TO BE? Was it going to be any sort of a home at all, judged by our old standards? Or just a parking place, with the family needs served elsewhere?

Remember what home life used to be, 20 years ago? Sitting around the living room lamp at night—dad reading his newspaper, mother sewing, you kids working picture puzzles. You tell your children, now, that you did that because you "loved your home." But that isn't exactly true. You sat around home, partly because there was room to sit—partly because there wasn't any other place to go. Now there are scores of other places to go—movies, skating rinks, lectures, dances, shows, wrestling matches, pee-wee golf. Would YOU have stayed at home at 18 if there had been such outside diversions? Or if home had been a cramped, modern apartment? I wonder.

But it's no use wondering. We can't turn the clock back. Pee-wee golf and pee-wee apartments are with us. And the living room is no longer back of the front door—IT IS OUT ON THE STREET. Well—is that altogether a catastrophe? There was plenty of beauty in the old home life but there was plenty of sluggishness and smugness and stupidity, too. "Home Sweet Home" made a pretty song but an ugly reality, often.

Nor is this change happening only in America. It's the same in England, in Germany—all over Europe. Some nations view it with alarm—fight against it. Others accept it as inevitable. Russia welcomes it—says that the old home life blocked progress—allows so many square feet of living space for each individual and penalizes persons who use more. That shocks us. We wouldn't pass such laws. Yet actually we are doing just what the Russians are doing—shrinking our homes—going elsewhere for the companionship, amusement and education the home once provided. No use denying it—hiding our heads in the sands of sentimentality and saying it isn't so. The old-fashioned family life is disappearing—we're leaving our homes as once we left caves for tents, and tents for houses . . . For we're always leaving somewhere, we humans, and going somewhere else. And now we're on the trek again. WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

Life of a Tree

Existence to a spreading tree!
Here clearest robin carols ring,
Here freshest rise the scents of Spring!
Consider gifts a tree can give,
What splendid virtues it can live.
Its arch of softly rustling leaves
Is gracious, as cathedral eaves,
And such blest aims it can disperse
As put to shame a Dives' purse.
Beneath its kindly beckoning boughs
The gentle cattle love to browse;
Shelter alike from storm or sun
Its branches would refuse to none,
And never ring love's vows so sweet
As when breathed forth in such retreat.
How rare, how rich a thing must be
The life of every sturdy tree!

"Dope" Grips the Schools

Even Children No Longer Are Safe from the Clutch of the Narcotic Ring.

POWERFUL AND A TRUE PICTURE OF THE DRUG EVIL IN ITS VILEST ASPECT—DRAWN BY THE NATIONALLY NOTED CARTOONIST, NELSON HARDING.

Sale of narcotics to children of school age is a fact. There have been rumors of it for years. A specific case of it now appears to have been uncovered in Newark, N. J., where parents have told the chief of police that a dope peddler has been supplying drugs to their sons, who are high school students.

Another alleged agent, a young American man, was held by the police for questioning.

The search has begun, and nobody can say where it will lead.

Frank Brex, deputy chief of police of Newark, expresses public sentiment on this case when he says:

"I have only utter loathing for the man or woman who, having descended to the depths of narcotic addiction, reaches out to drag down young boys and perhaps girls with them.

"Such a person is a menace to every American home—a worse menace than any mad dog, and should be hunted down as ruthlessly."

Hunting down a few peddlers here and there, however, will not protect the American home or the American school or American children while Europe and Asia pour drugs into this country that are sold for their weight in gold.

The American government and the American people will have to block this steady flow of narcotics or take the consequence in a vast increase of drug addiction among our future citizens.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The yelp of "Author!" after a stirring first night no longer brings a confused and blinking playwright to the footlights. Even Belasco who stood expectantly in wings for hired hands to drag him out for a bow grows reluctant. Authors have become shy Barries.

Today they hide out at premieres. Some occupy back seats in the balcony. Others pace back and forth at stage doors for relayed information from inside. Still others do not go near the theater. A few wait to read reviews at breakfast. George S. Kaufman, however, takes bows with the cast as an actor in his own play.

In the Clyde Fitch era the playwright in immaculate evening dress was usually in the most conspicuous chair in the right hand stage box. As the final curtain fell, the spotlight was turned on him and the star graciously assisted him over the footlights to the stage.

There in feigned abashment he delivered an apparently impromptu speech which had been as carefully rehearsed as the play itself. It generally bristled with cleverly turned phrases, epigrams and mots and often at the finish he was lifted on shoulders for a rafter shaking cheer.

Modesty plays a part in the present diffidence but a bigger reason is the sensible playwright is out of tune with facing crowds. He has come frequently from a calling remote from the theater and its stagey poise. He does not care to make a fool of himself.

Gifted actors often cannot spark to the spontaniety of an impromptu speech when the curtain falls. They have addled lines and left the stage in utter bewilderment. Best remembered curtain speeches were those by Richard Mansfield, Kyrle Bellew and Otis Skinner.

But one widely discussed and oft-repeated was that of young George Kelly. He was suddenly whisked to the stage after a first night and stood baffled and mumbling. A voice shouted "Louder!" Kelly, flippantly below his usual Olympian heights, shrieked: "It isn't important!"—and rushed off

ONCE OVERS

If you have a stiff backbone, as big and strong in character as you would have others believe, ask some good friend to enumerate your faults, frankly.

Also be prepared for a shock.

About the only time you hear the truth of yourself is when someone is angry with you.

Then, of course, your faults are magnified and, humanly, you don't give credence to the allegations made against you.

Text For Today

What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?—Micah vi: 8.
